Big 3 In Accord On Asia Defense

France Will Help Build Pacific Wall

PARIS, April 14 (AP)—Secretary of State Dulles concluded today a Big Three agreement to work for a Western Pacific defense wall against the spread of communism.

The final step was taken with joint issuance of a communique by Dulles and French Foreign Minister Georges Bidault spotlighting the war in Indochina as a danger to peace in all Southeast Asia.

Dulles' goal was a 10-nation military alliance like NATO.

After the agreement was announced, Dulles left for home by plane. He will report to President Eisenhower on the success of his mission in London and Paris.

The joint statement by Dulles and Bidault guaranteed that France, Britain and the United States would furnish a common front at Geneva when the Far Eastern conference opens April 26.

Laniel Approved Statement

The statement, similar to the announcement in London yesterday by Dulles and British Foreign Secretary Anthony Eden, was approved by France's Premier Joseph Laniel before it was made public.

The statement said that the war in Indochina threatened peace in the whole Pacific area, adding: "In close association with other interested nations, we will examine the possibility of establishing, within the framework of the United Nations Charter, a collective defense to assure the peace, security and freedom of this area.

"We recognize that our basic objective at the Geneva conference will be to seek the re-establishment of a peace in Indochina which will safeguard the freedom of its people and the independence of The Associated States. We are convinced that the possibility of obtaining this objective depends upon our solidarity."

Korean Question Is No. 1

A high American source told reporters after the announcement that the Korean question would come up first at Geneva. This would leave a margin of time to get going on the military alliance before the Indochina question came up.

If the Geneva conference failed to get a solution in Indochina, the new organization would be ready to function.

To some French suggestions that a negotiated peace in Indochina might result in a coalition government, with some parts of Indochina falling into Communist hands, an American source answered he was certain that Dulles felt a surrender of any part of the area would bring a repetition of past Communist movements into other areas, then into still others.

GIVES UP—Stephen M. White, 60, self-described Army deserter, is shown at San Francisco yesterday after he surrendered to Army officials. White said he saw action in World War I as a member of the Minnesota National Guard and reenlisted in the Army twice but on Feb. 5, 1925 "just got tired of the Army" and went AWOL. He said he wants to clear his record so he can keep his job in the naval shipyard. Army personnel officials sent White home after obtaining the facts which are being forwarded to the Pentagon for action. (AP Wirephoto)

Byrd's Group Will Continue Housing Probe

Senator Says Huge Profits Were Reaped By Some Promoters

WASHINGTON, April 14 (AP)—Sen. Byrd (D-Va) declared today that some housing promoters, operating on shoestrings or with no capital at all, got excessive government-insured loans running into millions and reaped fat profits.

He told the Senate the housing program had been marred by extravagance and irresponsibility "if not actual fraud and graft," and said "criminal prosecution may result" if evidence shows government officials acted deliberately in such cases.

Byrd is chairman of the Joint Committee on Reduction of Non-Essential Federal Expenditures. The committee began a study of alleged housing irregularities last July, but Byrd complained today that his committee had been "denied the facts" by the government agencies concerned.

He said he would insist that Director Albert M. Cole of the Housing and Home Finance Agency testify "under oath" to furnish the information Byrd said has been withheld so far. "Merely dismissals" of some officials of the Federal Housing Administration will not meet the situation, he added.

Both Byrd's committee and the Senate Banking Committee headed by Chairman Capehart (R-Ind) have announced plans for formal hearings into housing irregularities disclosed by the White House Monday.

They involve charges that excessive loans were approved both for apartments and for home repair projects promoted by unscrupulous salesmen.

Capehart said today he will ask $250,000 to finance his committee's probe, which will include a check of 7,000 rental housing projects built with FHA-insured mortgages.

He said he will ask President Eisenhower to make available from income tax records the names of 251 builders who allegedly made 75 million dollars profit with the help of excessive FHA loans and said "there may be as much as 500 million dollars involved in this whole business."

The incipient scandal came to light Monday night as the White House announced resignation of Guy T. O. Hollyday as head of the FHA, "so that an investigation may be conducted, obviously by another man." Hollyday, an Eisenhower appointee, was not implicated, but Cole said he may be partially responsible for failing to act.

"Nice Going, Dad"

Judy Meek, 18, reads congratulatory messages to her dad, Joseph T. Meek, who won the Republican nomination for U. S. senator in the Illinois primary. Meek, 50-year-old president of the Illinois Federation of Retail Associations, bested eight rivals in his first bid for public office. He will oppose Sen. Paul Douglas, Democrat, in November.

Accusations Given Senate Investigators

Statements Termed Tougher Than Those In Earlier Version

WASHINGTON, April 14 (AP)—The Army today formally handed investigating senators a bill of particulars of its charges that Sen. McCarthy (R-Wis) and some of his aides used improper pressure to get favors for Pvt. G. David Schine.

The documents outlines the allegations Army officials will try to prove in televised public hearings starting April 22.

Informed sources who saw the seven page document termed it even tougher in its statements about McCarthy than a version which had been released earlier.

The Senate Investigations subcommittee, which will conduct the inquiry, refused to make public the document. However, persons in the know said "it presents in more specific language" a list of allegations Army officials are willing to back under oath. The charges are that McCarthy and aides used pressure tactics in efforts to win favored treatment for Pvt. G. David Schine, a drafted associate.

Original Version Denied

McCarthy, the Investigations subcommittee chairman, and Roy M. Cohn, its chief counsel, have voiced angry denials of the original version of the accusations. In turn, they have flung bitter countercharges at top Army officials which the subcommittee also has voted to explore in the scheduled public hearings.

Among other things, they alleged that Secretary of the Army Robert T. Stevens and John G. Adams, Army general counsel, tried "blackmail" tactics against them in efforts to choke off the subcommittee's investigations of Reds in the Army.

McCarthy's office disclosed today that he has made a new move in the case—he has asked the Pentagon how many members of Congress and government officials have requested "special assignment" of service men and women since the beginning of World War II.

Statements Were Requested

The Senate subcommittee is asking principals in the dispute to submit as a starting point for the public inquiry formal statements of the charges and counter charges they are prepared to support with sworn testimony, by themselves or others.

As acting Chairman Mundt (R-SD) put it, he wants both sides to "produce data which they are willing to swear to and on which they are willing to stand."

The document submitted by the Army today in behalf of Secretary Stevens covers about six and three quarter typed pages, it was reported, compared with the 34 pages used in its original blast.

The new version was described by one source as "stronger against McCarthy" in that it seeks to link him, more closely than did the previous charges, to the alleged pressure tactics in behalf of Schine. Schine, a wealthy New Yorker, was a non-salaried subcommittee staff consultant until he was drafted last November.

Russia Rebuffed In Bid To Expand A-Weapon Talks

UNITED NATIONS, N. Y., April 14 (AP)—Russia's Andrei Y. Vishinsky called on the West today to count Red China, India and Czechoslovakia in on a U. N. disarmament subcommittee to discuss curbs on hydrogen and atomic bombs.

The West immediately replied "No."

Vishinsky championed Communist China in the twelve-nation U. N. Disarmament Commission as the United States, Britain and France in notes to Moscow pointedly told the Russians that Red China will not be regarded as a great power at the Geneva conference opening April 26.

Vote Is Deferred

The West, conscious of the urgency of the hydrogen bomb problem, wants to include only the United States, Britain, France, the Soviet Union and Canada—all atomic powers—in the disarmament subcommittee, and wants this group to start work by next Tuesday.

The commission deferred a vote because several delegates wanted to answer Vishinsky.

It adjourned until 11:00 a.m. (EST) Monday with the British and French expressing hope a final vote could be taken then.

Vishinsky accepted the five countries proposed for subcommittee membership in a resolution offered by Sir Pierson Dixon, Britain's chief delegate, but added his own three because, he said, the British resolution was one sided and did not include all the powers principally concerned in the arms reduction problem.

Russian Argument

The Soviet delegate said:

"The prohibition of the hydrogen and atomic weapon is at stake."

He said the Peiping regime cannot be by-passed if progress is to be expected.

He added that India, whose Prime Minister Nehru has called for a stand-still on hydrogen bomb tests, could make a significant contribution and that Czechoslovakia, which has uranium mines, has as much right to sit as Canada. Canada was included by the West because of its contribution to the development of atomic energy.

Britain Pledges To Keep Armed Forces In Europe

LONDON, April 14 (AP)—Britain today spurred France toward ratification of the European Defense Community Treaty with a historic commitment to keep troops on the continent. The British offered also to integrate ground and air forces in the six-nation European army.

The pledge by this island nation was announced in the House of Commons by Foreign Secretary Anthony Eden. It was aimed at quieting French fears about West German rearmament within EDC and inducing the French Parliament to ratify the treaty.

Eden Reveals Pact Terms

Both the United States and Britain have declared EDC is indispensable to the defense of Western Europe against the threat of Communist aggression. The British promised to keep their armed forces in Europe as long as that threat exists.

Disclosing the terms of an agreement signed in Paris yesterday between Britain and the six EDC countries, Eden told the House of Commons:

"Her Majesty's government have undertaken to continue to maintain on the mainland of Europe, including Germany, such armed forces as may be necessary and appropriate to contribute a fair share of the forces needed for the joint defense of the North Atlantic area.

Britain Not In EDC

"We have also stated that we have no intention of withdrawing from the continent of Europe so long as the threat exists to the security of Western Europe and of the European Defense Community."

The six nations in EDC are France, Italy, West Germany, Belgium, the Netherlands and Luxembourg. Italy and France have yet to ratify the treaty.

Bevan Forsakes Shadow Cabinet

LONDON, April 14 (AP)—Aneurin Bevan, a left wing Laborite leader and bitter critic of American foreign policy, resigned tonight from the Labor party's policy-making shadow cabinet.

Bevan let it be known to parliamentary lobby correspondents that he was resigning from the shadow cabinet — whose members normally would become ministers in any Laborite government — to fight policies followed by the party leader, ex-Prime Minister Clement Attlee.

Bevan listed these issues at stake:

1. He is opposed to German rearmament although the Labor party, by a small majority, voted in favor of limited German rearmament within the proposed European Defense Community.

2. He opposes the new proposed Southeast Asia defense plan agreed to by U. S. Secretary of State Dulles and British Foreign Secretary Anthony Eden and regards it as a "surrender to American pressure."

3. He does not go along with the Labor party's majority view on the EDC.

Dean To Testify At Oppenheimer Security Probe

WASHINGTON, April 14 (AP)—Gordon Dean, former chairman of the Atomic Energy Commission, will testify in security hearings for atom scientist J. Robert Oppenheimer—presumably in the noted scientist's defense.

This became known today as Secretary of Defense Wilson indicated Oppenheimer, the scientific chief of the World War II project which developed the atomic bomb, was eased out as an adviser to the armed forces last July.

AEC announced yesterday that—by order of President Eisenhower—it has barred Oppenheimer from access to secret data and has suspended him as one of the nation's foremost atomic consultants pending a new security check.

Allegedly Delayed H-Bomb

One allegation cited by the commission, on the basis of information gathered by the FBI from undisclosed sources, is that Oppenheimer obstructed American development of the hydrogen bomb. Oppenheimer has said this is a distortion of his real position.

Dean, who headed AEC from 1950 to mid-1953, told a reporter by telephone from New York he has been asked to testify at a hearing in the Oppenheimer case next Monday and has agreed to do so.

Asked if he would be "for or against" the scientist, Dean replied:

"Let's put it this way—I've been asked to testify by Dr. Oppenheimer's attorney. I can't tell you the nature of my testimony."

Wilson Asked About Scientist

Dean was AEC chairman when previous questions about Oppenheimer's admitted past connections with Communists and other left-wingers were raised, and he took no action reflecting on Oppenheimer. A new security check for the physicist was ordered, however immediately after Lewis L. Strauss succeeded Dean in the post last July.

Wilson was asked about Oppenheimer at a news conference today. After declining at first to discuss the case, he said:

"I am not trying to hurt or smear anybody who has been trying to do a good job for the country.

"Frankly, I have sympathy for anyone who made a mistake and then reformed. But I think they should be reformed somewhere else than in the armed services."

McKeldin Files For Re-Election

ANNAPOLIS, April 14 (AP)—Gov. McKeldin officially became a candidate for re-election today and declared he was highly pleased with "progress and improvements" during his administration.

McKeldin's formal entry into the Republican primary, a step long anticipated but never flatly announced until he filed, was timed to form at the same stroke two-thirds of a GOP organization ticket.

The other third, involving a candidate for comptroller, may not be filled.

As the governor signed in for renomination, a messenger delivered certificates of candidacy for Atty. Gen. Edward D. E. Rollins. The Cecil County lawyer seeks re-election as the state's chief legal officer.

Rollins Replaced Hammond

McKeldin appointed Rollins Nov. 14, 1952, after elevating Democrat Hall Hammond to a judgeship of the Court of Appeals. The two will be running mates.

So far no Republican has filed for comptroller, and a spokesman said McKeldin "has no candidate" for the post. The party took his advice four years ago and gave Democrat J. Millard Tawes free sailing to another term as comptroller.

GOP sources have reported McKeldin would just as soon leave the spot vacant again, but some other leaders have been arguing a full slate would be more impressive.

Deadline Next Monday

The Statehouse spokesman added today that he knew of no specific plan from any quarter to put up a third man on the McKeldin ticket. The deadline is next Monday.

Rollins has no Republican opposition to date, but three have filed for governor. Temus R. (Tim) Bright, a Baltimore auto dealer, announced last year. Lt. Gen. Pedro Del Valle, retired Marine Corps officer living in Howard County, filed two days ago. And James W. Gum, 47-year-old Montgomery County attorney and dairy farmer, entered the race yesterday.

Wrecker Wrecks Wrong Building

CHICAGO, April 14 (AP)—The dentist who pulled the wrong tooth has something in common with Louis Ruscitti, a wrecking contractor. He's accused of pulling down the wrong building.

The trouble started March 6 when fire swept through buildings at 335, 331 and 329 W. 31st St. The flames skipped the building right in the middle at 333— a dry goods store owned by Mrs. Fannie Weinberg.

Ruscitti, 58, was given the subcontract for wreckage and salvage.

Mrs. Weinberg said he started on the rear of her building, tearing out walls and hauling out bolts of valuable cloth, women's underthings and other apparel. She rushed out screaming and called police.

Anastasia Is Stripped Of His U. S. Citizenship

NEWARK, N. J., April 14 (AP)—Federal Judge William F. Smith today stripped Albert Anastasia, reputed head of the old Murder, Inc., of his citizenship.

Smith filed the opinion in denaturalizing Anastasia on the ground that he had obtained his citizenship fraudulently. The court action opens the way for the Department of Justice to deport Anastasia to his native Italy.

The denaturalization proceedings were brought by U. S. Atty. William Tompkins on instructions from the Justice Department, which had listed Anastasia as an alleged racketeer and undesirable character.

Pressure Rises On Dien Bien Phu

HANOI, Indochina, April 14 (AP)—The Communist-led besiegers of Dien Bien Phu heightened pressure today at the northwest corner of the French Union fortress but there was no other indication of an expected massive assault.

A French army spokesman said that after night and day barrages, in which thousands of artillery and mortar shells were lobbed in on the fortress, the Vietminh rebels dug trenches close to the barbed wire defenses at the northwest edge.

During the night the Vietminh also exploded dozens of torpedo shells under the steel matting of the airstrip.

Ike Helps GIs Who Sought Loan Of Presidential Plane

AUGUSTA, Ga., April 14 (AP)—President Eisenhower played good Samaritan today to a group of Army privates who wanted to borrow his private plane to fly home for Easter from nearby Camp Gordon.

They didn't get the Presidential plane, the Columbine, but Eisenhower took steps to make sure a commercial plane would be available for a weekend trip to the New York and New England areas. Air line officials said there were seats available on regular flights but there seemed to be few takers among these soldiers.

The President intervened in behalf of the GI's as he started a 10-day Easter holiday at the Augusta National Golf Club. He and Mrs. Eisenhower arrived from Washington last night.

They were accompanied by the first lady's mother, Mrs. John S. Doud, and will be joined here Friday or Saturday by their son John, an Army major stationed at Ft. Benning, Ga., his wife Barbara and their three children.

Rain kept the President indoors for work on official papers this morning, but he got out for a round of golf in the afternoon when the weather cleared.

Eisenhower hoped to sharpen his game for a match Saturday with 31-year-old Billy Joe Patton of Morganton, N. C., the amateur whiz who gave the pros a real scare in the Masters tournament at the Augusta National.

Patton finished just a stroke behind Sam Snead and Ben Hogan in the regular 72-hole tournament. Snead then defeated Hogan in the Monday playoff.

Club officials have invited Patton back to the national to meet Eisenhower. And aides said the President and Patton will play 18 holes Saturday.

Willys Workers Vote Themselves Pay Cut

TOLEDO, Ohio, April 14 (AP)—Toledo production workers at Willys Motors, Inc. today voted a pay cut for themselves to bring the company's labor costs in better competitive position with other automobile manufacturers.

The almost-unanimous vote may cost the workers as much as 10 per cent of their weekly earnings.

But they may recover part of this later, if a new bonus pay plan can be worked out.

Richard T. Gosser, UAW-CIO vice president, told Willys workers at today's meeting the pay cut is necessary to stabilize the firm's economic position.

Willys currently employs about 7,000 men and women on its production line, at an average weekly wage of $80. A 10 per cent reduction, therefore, could save the company about $56,000 per week.

U. S. Mediators Strive To Avert Atom Strike

OAK RIDGE, Tenn., April 14 (AP)—Two top government labor mediators arrived today to try to head off a possible walkout by 9,000 atomic energy production workers at midnight tomorrow.

The mediators arrived as several hundred AFL construction workers reported for night shift work on two atomic projects after withdrawal of pickets posted by striking plumbers and steamfitters.

The hourly paid production workers are seeking what the mediation service termed a "substantial wage increase" at four strike-threatened plants—three here and one at Paducah, Ky.

Compromise Highway Aid Bill Sent To Ike

WASHINGTON, April 14 (AP)—The Senate today passed and sent to President Eisenhower a bill providing for a federal highway aid program of 966 million dollars a year. It would cover a two-year period starting July 1, 1955.

The House had adopted the final compromise earlier in the day, on a standing vote of 134-9.

Wife Says Soviet Diplomat Kidnaped, Didn't Quit Reds

CANBERRA, Australia, April 14 (AP)—The 35-year-old honey blonde wife of Soviet diplomat Vladmir Petrov, red-eyed from weeping, charged tonight he had been kidnaped. She assailed as a lie a government statement that Petrov had abandoned communism and brought with him secrets exposing a Soviet-directed spy ring in Australia.

Mrs. Petrov told her story to reporters at the Soviet Embassy, where until last week her husband had been third secretary. She is an embassy stenographer.

Soviet Ambassador Nikolai Ivanovich Generalov was present at the interview. He described as "nonsense" the announcement by Prime Minister Robert G. Menzies yesterday that Petrov, about 45, had voluntarily surrendered to Australian security officers with a request he be granted political asylum in this country.

The request was granted and a Royal Commission named to investigate the documents Petrov had brought with him. Menzies said they contained the names of Australians who were listed as contacts or cooperators with the Russians in espionage. Approximately 30 Australians were said to have been named.

Petrov has been described as the agent here of the Soviet MVD, or security police.

Menzies quoted Petrov as saying he no longer believed in communism since he had seen the Australian way of life.

But Mrs. Petrov said she refused to believe he would leave her for that or any other reason. The diplomat's wife, reputedly the best-dressed woman in the Soviet Embassy, said:

"I think he will try to get in touch with me. He wouldn't leave me because we are married to each other."

Man Acquitted In Record Theft

BOSTON, April 14 (AP)—An all-male federal jury today acquitted George D. O'Brien, 44, of Quincy, of larceny in the record $681,700 looting of an armored truck at Danvers March 25, 1952.

The verdict was returned after less than two hours deliberation.

The theft, carried out while the armored truck's three-man crew was having coffee in a nearby drugstore, was the largest such haul in U. S. crime records.

After the verdict was announced, Judge George C. Sweeney said he did not personally agree with the decision and asked the jury if any member had been intimidated in any way.

He then explained the reason the jury had been locked up was that the original foreman's wife had been threatened by telephone.

O'Brien's wife, Margaret, 43, and his son, George, Jr., 20, Massachusetts Institute of Technology student, were among the spectators. Mother and son both are under indictment, charged with receiving loot.

O'Brien has been the only person brought to trial for the huge cash theft.

Byrd's Group Will Continue Housing Probe

Senator Says Huge Profits Were Reaped By Some Promoters

WASHINGTON, April 14 (AP)—Sen. Byrd (D-Va) declared today that some housing promoters, operating on shoestrings or with no capital at all, got excessive government-insured loans running into millions and reaped fat profits.

He told the Senate the housing program had been marred by extravagance and irresponsibility "if not actual fraud and graft," and said "criminal prosecution may result" if evidence shows government officials acted deliberately in such cases.

Byrd is chairman of the Joint Committee on Reduction of Non-Essential Federal Expenditures. The committee began a study of alleged housing irregularities last July, but Byrd complained today that his committee had been "denied the facts" by the government agencies concerned.

He said he would insist that Director Albert M. Cole of the Housing and Home Finance Agency testify "under oath" to furnish the information Byrd said has been withheld so far. "Merely dismissals" of some officials of the Federal Housing Administration will not meet the situation, he added.

Both Byrd's committee and the Senate Banking Committee headed by Chairman Capehart (R-Ind) have announced plans for formal hearings into housing irregularities disclosed by the White House Monday.

They involve charges that excessive loans were approved both for apartments and for home repair projects promoted by unscrupulous salesmen.

Capehart said today he will ask $250,000 to finance his committee's probe, which will include a check of 7,000 rental housing projects built with FHA-insured mortgages.

He said he will ask President Eisenhower to make available from income tax records the names of 251 builders who allegedly made 75 million dollars profit with the help of excessive FHA loans and said "there may be as much as 500 million dollars involved in this whole business."

The incipient scandal came to light Monday night as the White House announced resignation of Guy T. O. Hollyday as head of the FHA, "so that an investigation may be conducted, obviously by another man." Hollyday, an Eisenhower appointee, was not implicated, but Cole said he may be partially responsible for failing to act.

Bevan Forsakes Shadow Cabinet

LONDON, April 14 (AP)—Aneurin Bevan, a left wing Laborite leader and bitter critic of American foreign policy, resigned tonight from the Labor party's policy-making shadow cabinet.

Bevan let it be known to parliamentary lobby correspondents that he was resigning from the shadow cabinet — whose members normally would become ministers in any Laborite government — to fight policies followed by the party leader, ex-Prime Minister Clement Attlee.

Bevan listed these issues at stake:

1. He is opposed to German rearmament although the Labor party, by a small majority, voted in favor of limited German rearmament within the proposed European Defense Community.

2. He opposes the new proposed Southeast Asia defense plan agreed to by U. S. Secretary of State Dulles and British Foreign Secretary Anthony Eden and regards it as a "surrender to American pressure."

3. He does not go along with the Labor party's majority view on the EDC.

U. S. Mediators Strive To Avert Atom Strike

OAK RIDGE, Tenn., April 14 (AP)—Two top government labor mediators arrived today to try to head off a possible walkout by 9,000 atomic energy production workers at midnight tomorrow.

The mediators arrived as several hundred AFL construction workers reported for night shift work on two atomic projects after withdrawal of pickets posted by striking plumbers and steamfitters.

The hourly paid production workers are seeking what the mediation service termed a "substantial wage increase" at four strike-threatened plants—three here and one at Paducah, Ky.

"Nice Going, Dad"

Judy Meek, 18, reads congratulatory messages to her dad, Joseph T. Meek, who won the Republican nomination for U. S. senator in the Illinois primary. Meek, 50-year-old president of the Illinois Federation of Retail Associations, bested eight rivals in his first bid for public office. He will oppose Sen. Paul Douglas, Democrat, in November.

Dean To Testify At Oppenheimer Security Probe

WASHINGTON, April 14 (AP)—Gordon Dean, former chairman of the Atomic Energy Commission, will testify in security hearings for atom scientist J. Robert Oppenheimer—presumably in the noted scientist's defense.

This became known today as Secretary of Defense Wilson indicated Oppenheimer, the scientific chief of the World War II project which developed the atomic bomb, was eased out as an adviser to the armed forces last July.

AEC announced yesterday that—by order of President Eisenhower—it has barred Oppenheimer from access to secret data and has suspended him as one of the nation's foremost atomic consultants pending a new security check.

Allegedly Delayed H-Bomb

One allegation cited by the commission, on the basis of information gathered by the FBI from undisclosed sources, is that Oppenheimer obstructed American development of the hydrogen bomb. Oppenheimer has said this is a distortion of his real position.

Dean, who headed AEC from 1950 to mid-1953, told a reporter by telephone from New York he has been asked to testify at a hearing in the Oppenheimer case next Monday and has agreed to do so.

Asked if he would be "for or against" the scientist, Dean replied:

"Let's put it this way—I've been asked to testify by Dr. Oppenheimer's attorney. I can't tell you the nature of my testimony."

Wilson Asked About Scientist

Dean was AEC chairman when previous questions about Oppenheimer's admitted past connections with Communists and other left-wingers were raised, and he took no action reflecting on Oppenheimer. A new security check for the physicist was ordered, however immediately after Lewis L. Strauss succeeded Dean in the post last July.

Wilson was asked about Oppenheimer at a news conference today. After declining at first to discuss the case, he said:

"I am not trying to hurt or smear anybody who has been trying to do a good job for the country.

"Frankly, I have sympathy for anyone who made a mistake and then reformed. But I think they should be reformed somewhere else than in the armed services."

Compromise Highway Aid Bill Sent To Ike

WASHINGTON, April 14 (AP)—The Senate today passed and sent to President Eisenhower a bill providing for a federal highway aid program of 966 million dollars a year. It would cover a two-year period starting July 1, 1955.

The House had adopted the final compromise earlier in the day, on a standing vote of 134-9.

McKeldin Files For Re-Election

ANNAPOLIS, April 14 (AP)—Gov. McKeldin officially became a candidate for re-election today and declared he was highly pleased with "progress and improvements" during his administration.

McKeldin's formal entry into the Republican primary, a step long anticipated but never flatly announced until he filed, was timed to form at the same stroke two-thirds of a GOP organization ticket.

The other third, involving a candidate for comptroller, may not be filled.

As the governor signed in for renomination, a messenger delivered certificates of candidacy for Atty. Gen. Edward D. E. Rollins. The Cecil County lawyer seeks re-election as the state's chief legal officer.

Rollins Replaced Hammond

McKeldin appointed Rollins Nov. 14, 1952, after elevating Democrat Hall Hammond to a judgeship of the Court of Appeals. The two will be running mates.

So far no Republican has filed for comptroller, and a spokesman said McKeldin "has no candidate" for the post. The party took his advice four years ago and gave Democrat J. Millard Tawes free sailing to another term as comptroller.

GOP sources have reported McKeldin would just as soon leave the spot vacant again, but some other leaders have been arguing a full slate would be more impressive.

Deadline Next Monday

The Statehouse spokesman added today that he knew of no specific plan from any quarter to put up a third man on the McKeldin ticket. The deadline is next Monday.

Rollins has no Republican opposition to date, but three have filed for governor. Temus R. (Tim) Bright, a Baltimore auto dealer, announced last year. Lt. Gen. Pedro Del Valle, retired Marine Corps officer living in Howard County, filed two days ago. And James W. Gum, 47-year-old Montgomery County attorney and dairy farmer, entered the race yesterday.

Wrecker Wrecks Wrong Building

CHICAGO, April 14 (AP)—The dentist who pulled the wrong tooth has something in common with Louis Ruscitti, a wrecking contractor. He's accused of pulling down the wrong building.

The trouble started March 6 when fire swept through buildings at 335, 331 and 329 W. 31st St. The flames skipped the building right in the middle at 333— a dry goods store owned by Mrs. Fannie Weinberg.

Ruscitti, 58, was given the subcontract for wreckage and salvage.

Mrs. Weinberg said he started on the rear of her building, tearing out walls and hauling out bolts of valuable cloth, women's underthings and other apparel. She rushed out screaming and called police.

Anastasia Is Stripped Of His U. S. Citizenship

NEWARK, N. J., April 14 (AP)—Federal Judge William F. Smith today stripped Albert Anastasia, reputed head of the old Murder, Inc., of his citizenship.

Smith filed the opinion in denaturalizing Anastasia on the ground that he had obtained his citizenship fraudulently. The court action opens the way for the Department of Justice to deport Anastasia to his native Italy.

The denaturalization proceedings were brought by U. S. Atty. William Tompkins on instructions from the Justice Department, which had listed Anastasia as an alleged racketeer and undesirable character.

Wife Says Soviet Diplomat Kidnaped, Didn't Quit Reds

CANBERRA, Australia, April 14 (AP)—The 35-year-old honey blonde wife of Soviet diplomat Vladmir Petrov, red-eyed from weeping, charged tonight he had been kidnaped. She assailed as a lie a government statement that Petrov had abandoned communism and brought with him secrets exposing a Soviet-directed spy ring in Australia.

Mrs. Petrov told her story to reporters at the Soviet Embassy, where until last week her husband had been third secretary. She is an embassy stenographer.

Soviet Ambassador Nikolai Ivanovich Generalov was present at the interview. He described as "nonsense" the announcement by Prime Minister Robert G. Menzies yesterday that Petrov, about 45, had voluntarily surrendered to Australian security officers with a request he be granted political asylum in this country.

The request was granted and a Royal Commission named to investigate the documents Petrov had brought with him. Menzies said they contained the names of Australians who were listed as contacts or cooperators with the Russians in espionage. Approximately 30 Australians were said to have been named.

Petrov has been described as the agent here of the Soviet MVD, or security police.

Menzies quoted Petrov as saying he no longer believed in communism since he had seen the Australian way of life.

But Mrs. Petrov said she refused to believe he would leave her for that or any other reason. The diplomat's wife, reputedly the best-dressed woman in the Soviet Embassy, said:

"I think he will try to get in touch with me. He wouldn't leave me because we are married to each other."

Accusations Given Senate Investigators

Statements Termed Tougher Than Those In Earlier Version

WASHINGTON, April 14 (AP)—The Army today formally handed investigating senators a bill of particulars of its charges that Sen. McCarthy (R-Wis) and some of his aides used improper pressure to get favors for Pvt. G. David Schine.

The documents outlines the allegations Army officials will try to prove in televised public hearings starting April 22.

Informed sources who saw the seven page document termed it even tougher in its statements about McCarthy than a version which had been released earlier.

The Senate Investigations subcommittee, which will conduct the inquiry, refused to make public the document. However, persons in the know said "it presents in more specific language" a list of allegations Army officials are willing to back under oath. The charges are that McCarthy and aides used pressure tactics in efforts to win favored treatment for Pvt. G. David Schine, a drafted associate.

Original Version Denied

McCarthy, the Investigations subcommittee chairman, and Roy M. Cohn, its chief counsel, have voiced angry denials of the original version of the accusations. In turn, they have flung bitter countercharges at top Army officials which the subcommittee also has voted to explore in the scheduled public hearings.

Among other things, they alleged that Secretary of the Army Robert T. Stevens and John G. Adams, Army general counsel, tried "blackmail" tactics against them in efforts to choke off the subcommittee's investigations of Reds in the Army.

McCarthy's office disclosed today that he has made a new move in the case—he has asked the Pentagon how many members of Congress and government officials have requested "special assignment" of service men and women since the beginning of World War II.

Statements Were Requested

The Senate subcommittee is asking principals in the dispute to submit as a starting point for the public inquiry formal statements of the charges and counter charges they are prepared to support with sworn testimony, by themselves or others.

As acting Chairman Mundt (R-SD) put it, he wants both sides to "produce data which they are willing to swear to and on which they are willing to stand."

The document submitted by the Army today in behalf of Secretary Stevens covers about six and three quarter typed pages, it was reported, compared with the 34 pages used in its original blast.

The new version was described by one source as "stronger against McCarthy" in that it seeks to link him, more closely than did the previous charges, to the alleged pressure tactics in behalf of Schine. Schine, a wealthy New Yorker, was a non-salaried subcommittee staff consultant until he was drafted last November.

Man Acquitted In Record Theft

BOSTON, April 14 (AP)—An all-male federal jury today acquitted George D. O'Brien, 44, of Quincy, of larceny in the record $681,700 looting of an armored truck at Danvers March 25, 1952.

The verdict was returned after less than two hours deliberation.

The theft, carried out while the armored truck's three-man crew was having coffee in a nearby drugstore, was the largest such haul in U. S. crime records.

After the verdict was announced, Judge George C. Sweeney said he did not personally agree with the decision and asked the jury if any member had been intimidated in any way.

He then explained the reason the jury had been locked up was that the original foreman's wife had been threatened by telephone.

O'Brien's wife, Margaret, 43, and his son, George, Jr., 20, Massachusetts Institute of Technology student, were among the spectators. Mother and son both are under indictment, charged with receiving loot.

O'Brien has been the only person brought to trial for the huge cash theft.

No Big Power Status For China, West Says

WASHINGTON, April 14 (AP)—The United States, Britain and France today put the chill on persistent Russian moves to get Communist China accepted as a big power at the Geneva conference.

All three Western nations sent notes to the Soviet Foreign Office in Moscow stating that under the Berlin agreement Red China goes to the conference as a participant but not as a sponsoring nation.

The Geneva conference, dealing with Korean and Indochinese peace problems, is scheduled to open April 26.

State Department Press Officer Henry Suydam said that in a series of exchanges between Moscow and the West, and in the Russian press, the Soviet government has been attempting to deal with the Geneva meeting as if it were primarily a meeting of five powers, including the Red Chinese.

In view of the Soviet efforts, Suydam said, "We thought it was time to get this matter clear."

At the Berlin Big Four conference in February, the Western Powers and Russia agreed to sponsor a Geneva conference to deal with the Asiatic questions, including negotiations toward—ending the war in Indochina, the agreement was the outgrowth of a long series of negotiations in which the Russians repeatedly called for a Big Five conference on world or at least Asian problems.

Following the Berlin meeting, Russia and the Western Powers have been exchanging oral and written messages about housekeeping arrangements — the languages to be used at Geneva, employment of interpreters and the like.

Suydam said in these exchanges the Soviets made it clear they have been consulting on arrangements with the Red Chinese and generally treating Red China as a great power on matters which really are the concern only of the four sponsors.

In spite of today's three-power throwdown, Western diplomats expect the Soviets will continue their campaign to win great power status for Red China. The collision of viewpoints which today's disclosures makes clear thus can be expected to continue into the meeting at Geneva.

Pope To Impart His Blessings On Easter

VATICAN CITY, April 14 (AP) — The Vatican announced today Pope Pius XII will appear on the loggia of St. Peter's Basilica to impart his apostolic "urbi et orbi" benediction—to the city and the world—on Easter Sunday.

No mention was made of an address by the pontiff. In other years he has chosen Easter Sunday for some of his most important addresses. But this year, since his serious illness, he has limited himself to imparting blessings to audiences gathered in St. Peter's Square.

Carpenter Arrested, Admits Killing Wife

NIAGARA FALLS, N.Y., April 14 (AP)—Charles Spencer, 37-year-old New Haven, Conn., carpenter sought in the hammer slaying of his wife, was captured today by an FBI agent who spotted him on the street.

John A. Roche, special agent in charge of the Buffalo office of the Federal Bureau of Investigation, said Spencer admitted slaying his estranged wife, Margaret, 38, at their home last Wednesday.

Spencer was held in $75,000 bail for removal to Connecticut on a federal warrant charging flight from prosecution. He waived examination before U. S. Commissioner William L. Salacuse.

Rep. Bramblett's Conviction Void Until Court Acts

WASHINGTON, April 14 (AP)—The conviction of Rep. Ernest K. Bramblett (R-Calif), who was found guilty of falsifying his payroll in a salary kickback scheme, was nullified today until the Supreme Court acts upon it.

U.S. District Judge Walter M. Bastian, who presided at the trial, said he had reasonable doubt as to whether the law under which Bramblett was convicted applies to the legislative branch of government, or only to the executive branch.

Asst. U.S. Atty. William Hitz, the chief prosecutor in Bramblett's trial in March, said an appeal will be filed in the Supreme Court as soon as the Justice Department approves this action formally.

"If the Supreme Court affirms the decision of this court, the case will be finally determined favorable to the defendant," Judge Bastian said. "Should the Supreme Court reverse the decision of this court, the case will be finally determined against the defendant, and the only matter remaining will be the return of the case to this court for sentence."

Bramblett, 52, and a House fourth-termer, beamed happily as Judge Bastian read his opinion.

"That's all right," he told reporters outside the courtroom.

Bramblett was convicted by a jury Feb. 9 of falsely representing to the House Disbursing Office that Mrs. Margaret M. Swanson, of Arlington, Va., was a clerk to him in order to collect her salary in kickbacks.

Mrs. Swanson testified she never did any work for Bramblett in connection with his official duties and never even met him until months after she went on his payroll Sept. 1, 1949, at a base salary of $4,700 a year.

House Breaks Tradition On Agriculture Funds

WASHINGTON, April 14 (AP)—The House broke with long-standing tradition today and voted the Agriculture Department $66,360,841 more than it requested for the coming fiscal year.

It was the first time within memory that a big agency was voted more actual spending money than it had asked. There was a heated charge in the debate that the administration had altered its requirements and bypassed usual procedure to get the additional funds.

Time after time, in an obviously well organized revolt, the House overrode the recommendations of its Appropriations Committee, and finally passed by voice vote a bill giving the department $720,102,654 in cash and $320,500,000 in loan authority.

Russian Refugee Leader Kidnaped

BERLIN, April 14 (AP)—The Russian refugee head of an anti-Soviet refugee group was betrayed last night, beaten into unconsciousness and carried off by East German Communists, West Berlin police said today.

The victim was identified as Alexander Truchnovich, 61, chairman of an organization of hundreds of Russians who have fled to the West. They support openly plans to overthrow the Soviet regime in Russia.

The abduction victim's organization first announced his disappearance last night.

The Communist East German regime quickly broadcast that Truchnovich and a companion came into the Soviet sector last night and surrendered to the authorities, asking political asylum and turning over espionage material.

Viscose Plant Will Be Closed

PHILADELPHIA, April 14 (AP)—The American Viscose Corp. today announced it is furloughing all employes at its Marcus Hook, Pa., rayon plant except those working in the research and development departments or other corporation services.

The company said its other plants would not be affected by the shutdown. Avisco has plants at Front Royal and Fredericksburg, Va.,, Nitro, W. Va., and Meadville, Pa.

A company spokesman said these plants make types of products different from the work at Marcus Hook. The working force at Marcus Hook, once at a peak of 2,500 employes, has been reduced in recent months. Avisco said the production-ending furlough will affect approximately 1,000 employes.

The action was taken, the company said, due to "the general business conditions and reduced demand for rayon textile yarns."

It continued: "American Viscose has adequate production capacity at its plants at Lewistown, Pa., Roanoke, Va., and Parkersburg, W. Va., to satisfy customer needs for textile yarns in the foreseeable future. All of these plants have been operating on a curtailed basis for the past two years."

Meek Will Face Douglas In Ill.

CHICAGO, April 14 (AP)—With the nation's first primary over, partisans on both sides sounded advance victory claims today in what promises to be a blazing Illinois Senate battle in November.

For the Republicans, it will be Joseph T. Meek—political newcomer who represents the point of view of conservative businessmen—against Sen. Paul H. Douglas, often aligned with the "New Deal-Fair Deal" element of the Democratic party.

Each man proclaimed himself confident of winning, ahead of time.

The GOP is drawing a bead not only on Douglas but also on at least four Democratic House members from Illinois in hopes of strengthening its thin margin of control in Senate and House.

Meek is head of an organization of some 60,000 Illinois retailers. He calls himself a "no-label" Republican, an "unhyphenated" Republican, neither a Taft-Republican nor Eisenhower-Republican.

Never before a candidate for public office, he downed eight opponents in yesterday's primary. He piled up a margin of more than 100,000 votes over his closest rival, Edward A. Hayes, former national commander of the American Legion.

New Maryland Legislative Council Has First Meeting

BALTIMORE, April 14 (AP)-Maryland's new Legislative Council had its first meeting today, with the members getting their committee assignments and deciding to meet on the first Wednesday of each month.

The council is an arm of the General Assembly which operates between the annual sessions at Annapolis. Its job is to make continuing studies of legislative needs, hear the arguments for and against proposed laws, and pass along recommendations to the Legislature.

Sen. Louis L. Goldstein (D-Calvert) was reappointed chairman of the finance committee and Del. Thomas F. Dempsey (D-Balto-3rd) was renamed chairman of the judiciary committee.

Both scheduled meetings of their committees on the evening of May 4, the night before the next Council session.

Today's organizational session provided plenty of work for the committees.

Assigned to them were specific questions passed along by the General Assembly when it met in Annapolis earlier this year, plus others carried over from 1953 when the council decided immediate action should be deferred.

One of the latter, for example, is a proposed overhaul of the state's election laws. A special committee headed by Sen. Edward Turner (D-Queen Annes) has been working on it for more than a year. The committee decided such a sweeping revision of the law should be considered at a 90-day session of the General Assembly, rather than during this year's short session. Their draft of the proposed revision may be ready when the council meets in May.

"That's all right," he told reporters outside the courtroom.

Bramblett was convicted by a jury Feb. 9 of falsely representing to the House Disbursing Office that Mrs. Margaret M. Swanson, of Arlington, Va., was a clerk to him in order to collect her salary in kickbacks.

Mrs. Swanson testified she never did any work for Bramblett in connection with his official duties and never even met him until months after she went on his payroll Sept. 1, 1949, at a base salary of $4,700 a year.

House Breaks Tradition On Agriculture Funds

WASHINGTON, April 14 (AP)—The House broke with long-standing tradition today and voted the Agriculture Department $66,360,841 more than it requested for the coming fiscal year.

It was the first time within memory that a big agency was voted more actual spending money than it had asked. There was a heated charge in the debate that the administration had altered its requirements and bypassed usual procedure to get the additional funds.

Time after time, in an obviously well organized revolt, the House overrode the recommendations of its Appropriations Committee, and finally passed by voice vote a bill giving the department $720,102,654 in cash and $320,500,000 in loan authority.

Russian Refugee Leader Kidnaped

BERLIN, April 14 (AP)—The Russian refugee head of an anti-Soviet refugee group was betrayed last night, beaten into unconsciousness and carried off by East German Communists, West Berlin police said today.

The victim was identified as Alexander Truchnovich, 61, chairman of an organization of hundreds of Russians who have fled to the West. They support openly plans to overthrow the Soviet regime in Russia.

The abduction victim's organization first announced his disappearance last night.

The Communist East German regime quickly broadcast that Truchnovich and a companion came into the Soviet sector last night and surrendered to the authorities, asking political asylum and turning over espionage material.

Viscose Plant Will Be Closed

PHILADELPHIA, April 14 (AP)—The American Viscose Corp. today announced it is furloughing all employes at its Marcus Hook, Pa., rayon plant except those working in the research and development departments or other corporation services.

The company said its other plants would not be affected by the shutdown. Avisco has plants at Front Royal and Fredericksburg, Va.,, Nitro, W. Va., and Meadville, Pa.

A company spokesman said these plants make types of products different from the work at Marcus Hook. The working force at Marcus Hook, once at a peak of 2,500 employes, has been reduced in recent months. Avisco said the production-ending furlough will affect approximately 1,000 employes.

The action was taken, the company said, due to "the general business conditions and reduced demand for rayon textile yarns."

It continued: "American Viscose has adequate production capacity at its plants at Lewistown, Pa., Roanoke, Va., and Parkersburg, W. Va., to satisfy customer needs for textile yarns in the foreseeable future. All of these plants have been operating on a curtailed basis for the past two years."

Monument To Patton

ARLON, Belgium, April 14 (AP)—A monument to the late Gen. George S. Patton Jr., will be erected in Arlon with funds from private subscriptions.

The monument will be in the center of the city only a few miles from Luxembourg City, the Grand Duchy capital where Gen. Patton is buried. Patton died in a traffic accident in Germany.

Meek Will Face Douglas In Ill.

CHICAGO, April 14 (AP)—With the nation's first primary over, partisans on both sides sounded advance victory claims today in what promises to be a blazing Illinois Senate battle in November.

For the Republicans, it will be Joseph T. Meek—political newcomer who represents the point of view of conservative businessmen—against Sen. Paul H. Douglas, often aligned with the "New Deal-Fair Deal" element of the Democratic party.

Each man proclaimed himself confident of winning, ahead of time.

The GOP is drawing a bead not only on Douglas but also on at least four Democratic House members from Illinois in hopes of strengthening its thin margin of control in Senate and House.

Meek is head of an organization of some 60,000 Illinois retailers. He calls himself a "no-label" Republican, an "unhyphenated" Republican, neither a Taft-Republican nor Eisenhower-Republican.

Never before a candidate for public office, he downed eight opponents in yesterday's primary. He piled up a margin of more than 100,000 votes over his closest rival, Edward A. Hayes, former national commander of the American Legion.

Albania Dooms Seven

VIENNA, Austria, April 14 (AP)—Seven persons were sentenced to death by an Albanian court today on charges of spying for the United States, Tirana radio reported.

New Maryland Legislative Council Has First Meeting

BALTIMORE, April 14 (AP)-Maryland's new Legislative Council had its first meeting today, with the members getting their committee assignments and deciding to meet on the first Wednesday of each month.

The council is an arm of the General Assembly which operates between the annual sessions at Annapolis. Its job is to make continuing studies of legislative needs, hear the arguments for and against proposed laws, and pass along recommendations to the Legislature.

Sen. Louis L. Goldstein (D-Calvert) was reappointed chairman of the finance committee and Del. Thomas F. Dempsey (D-Balto-3rd) was renamed chairman of the judiciary committee.

Both scheduled meetings of their committees on the evening of May 4, the night before the next Council session.

Today's organizational session provided plenty of work for the committees.

Assigned to them were specific questions passed along by the General Assembly when it met in Annapolis earlier this year, plus others carried over from 1953 when the council decided immediate action should be deferred.

One of the latter, for example, is a proposed overhaul of the state's election laws. A special committee headed by Sen. Edward Turner (D-Queen Annes) has been working on it for more than a year. The committee decided such a sweeping revision of the law should be considered at a 90-day session of the General Assembly, rather than during this year's short session. Their draft of the proposed revision may be ready when the council meets in May.

Land Exchange Bill

WASHINGTON, April 14 (AP) — A bill introduced today by Sen. Beall (R-Md) would authorize the exchange of federal and private lands in the Catoctin recreational demonstration area in Frederick County, Md.

Sweden Cuts Draft Age

STOCKHOLM, Sweden, April 14 (AP)—Sweden today lowered its military conscription age from 19 to 18 years. Defense staff sources said this would not increase the number of men under arms, but would facilitate a more even spread of the call-ups.

RECEIVES GAVEL — Mrs. George H. Barncord, right, vice chairman of Women GOP of Sixth District, presents a gavel which was inherited from her father, a Republican leader years ago, to Mrs. Elaine Palmer, president of Young Republican Club of Allegany County. The presentation took place Tuesday evening at the YMCA.

Young GOP Club Begins Campaign Plans, Discusses 'Meet Your Candidate' Night

The Young Republican Club of Allegany County met Tuesday evening at the YMCA, Mrs. Elaine Palmer presiding.

James S. Getty, assistant state's attorney and program chairman, introduced Mrs. George H. Barncord, vice chairman of Women's GOP of the Sixth Congressional District.

Mrs. Barncord presented a gavel to Mrs. Palmer, president of the club, relating the history of the gavel which was inherited from her father, who was a Republican leader in Allegany County years ago.

Mrs. Palmer is a granddaughter of Mrs. Barncord's father, who originally owned the gavel. Mrs. Barncord then reported on the events of the spring conference of Republican Women which was held in Washington last week.

She stressed the importance of continued support and cooperation with the Republican administration and urged the group to work to elect Republicans to office.

Plans for holding a "Meet Your Candidate Night" early in June were discussed. This program will be held jointly with Women's Republican Clubs of Cumberland, Frostburg and the Republican Club of Lonaconing.

A committee of representatives from all of the clubs participating will meet in the near future to map plans and set the date and place for the program. Members of the liaison committee to meet with the other clubs are Mrs. Palmer, Miss Patricia Golden, John G. Beall and Donald Mason.

New members introduced to the club were Mr. and Mrs. Harold Brooks, Mr. and Mrs. Woodrow Gurley, Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Inskeep, John Robb and William D. Smith.

J. Glenn Beall Jr., chairman of Maryland Federation of Young GOP Clubs, reported on the meeting of federations held last weekend at Natural Bridge, Va., and stressed the importance of active participation of young people in politics.

Miss Wanda Frobes and Donald Mason presented the secretary's and treasurer's reports respectively.

George Hughes was appointed chairman of committee to solicit registration of new voters. He is to be assisted by Mrs. Alma Conners.

A membership drive is to be started under the direction of Howard Buchanan, chairman.

Donald Mason presented two proposed amendments to the constitution which were read and approved.

Miss Betty Wolfe, ways and means chairman, and Mrs. Patricia Hughes, social committee chairman, presented plans for social affairs in the near future and a bake sale to be held May 8 from 11 a.m. until 4 p.m. at 218 North Centre Street, next to the Acme Market.

Mrs. Palmer and Miss Dorothy Ebert are in charge of tickets for the annual spring dinner of the Women's Republican Club of Cumberland to be held May 4 at Ali Ghan Country Club.

Refreshments were served following the meeting by J. Glenn Beall Jr. and Miss Ebert.

Capuchins List Assignments For Preaching In District

Members of the Capuchin community at SS. Peter and Paul Monastery will preach at services in various sections of the tri-state area during the last three days of Holy Week and on Easter Sunday.

Rev. Jude Senieur, OFM, Cap., guardian of the monastery, will preach at the evening services today at St. Mary's Church, Lonaconing; on Friday afternoon at St. Ambrose Church, Cresaptown, and on Sunday morning at St. Peter's Church, Hancock.

Father John Lipinski, OFM, Cap., assistant director of the Capuchin Brothers Training School at the monastery, will preach this evening at St. Peter's, Hancock, and on Sunday morning at both St. Ann's, Bean's Cove, and St. Charles, Paw Paw, W. Va.

Rev. Kenan Crowley, OFM, Cap., assistant pastor of SS. Peter and Paul's, will preach at the Tre Ore devotions Friday afternoon at the church. Rev. Diego Jose Pedraha, OFM, Cap., will assist at the solemn high mass Easter morning at St. Mary's Church here.

A former pastor of SS. Peter and Paul's, Rev. Louis Glantz, OFM, Cap., who is director of "Boystown" at McKeesport, Pa., will preach at the services this evening at the church and will also officiate at the Easter Vigil services Saturday night.

Rev. Melvin Averman, OFM, Cap., of the Capuchin College, Washington, has been assigned to assist at the services Sunday morning at St. Peter's Church, Westernport. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. H. B. Averman, 945 Braddock Road.

Rev. Benedict Pope, OFM, Cap., also of Washington, will assist at the services at the Cresaptown church for the remainder of the week and at SS. Peter and Paul on Easter morning.

Youth Receives Prison Term On Larceny, Motor Charges

A 20-year-old Mt. Savage youth was sentenced to nine months in the Maryland House of Correction yesterday in Trial Magistrates Court after he pleaded guilty to larceny and motor charges.

The prisoner, Howard Frederick Witt, of Calla Hill, drew a six-month term for stealing gasoline and auto batteries. He was given an additional three months for operating a motor vehicle after being refused a license.

A companion, Donald Francis Klosterman, 18, also of Mt. Savage, received a suspended six-month sentence on similar theft charges. Placed on probation for two years, he was ordered to make restitution, be of good behavior, obey his parents, refrain from intoxicants and be home by 10 o'clock nightly.

State Police said Witt's previous record showed convictions for carrying a concealed weapon, larceny, unauthorized use of a motor vehicle and other counts.

Cpl. William F. Baker, criminal investigator, testified the pair took a battery from the car of Rev. Michael S. Smyth, pastor of St. Patrick's Catholic Church, Mt. Savage, while the machine was parked near the rectory. Also taken April 8 was 10 gallons of gasoline from the auto of Raymond Himmelwright, president of the First National Bank there.

Baker said a plug was removed from the fuel tank to get the gasoline. Himmelwrights' vehicle was parked in front of his home.

About March 28 the youths drained 15 gallons of gas from a power shovel of the Mt. Savage Refractories Company. The theft was reported by Joseph Liller, a plant official. A battery also was stolen.

Police recovered the batteries and restitution was made for the gasoline. Total amount of the loot was $57.

Magistrate Donald W. Mason presided at the trial. Both defendants had signed statements in the State's Attorney's office.

Masses Are Scheduled

Rev. Robert Kilgannon, pastor of St. Anthony's Catholic Church, Ridgeley, said mass will be celebrated there at 8 a. m. Easter Sunday, and at 11:30 a. m. at Kessel, W. Va.

Motor vehicles in the United States traveled more than half a trillion miles in 1953.

Celanese Reports New Yarn Output

Initial production of a new heavy denier acetate yarn which has been "voluminized" under exclusive patent methods was announced yesterday by Celanese Corporation of America. The new product is being sampled by leading mills, and the textile division of the company is assisting customers on technical problems and end-use applications.

The patented processing method for the new yarn provides individual crimp to each filament, thus creating a yarn with pronounced fullness and bloom. The character of the yarn makes possible drapery and upholstery fabrics with a novelty hand-loomed appearance. When used in combination with other yarns many different variations may be achieved.

The fullness and resiliency of the voluminous yarn provides covering qualities which recommend its use in pile fabrics of both the cut and loop varieties.

Celanese voluminous yarn, produced at the Amcelle plant of the company, is being offered in a number of packages and twists in the 4,000, 3,200 and 2,400 denier sizes (all 20 denier per filament).

The new yarn is being made in a selected range of Celaperm colors in addition to natural. This color line will be expanded as production facilities are increased.

Sample rugs loomed from "voluminized" yarn were featured at the recent Cumberland Home Builders Show on the floor of Amcelle's exhibit.

Hausman Is Given Watch At Amcelle

Gilbert H. Hausman, 478 Goethe Street, was presented a wrist watch by R. Finley Thompson, manager, of the Amcelle plant of the Celanese Corporation, as a remembrance of a quarter century of employment.

Leslie Brode, in charge of purchasing and stores, joined in honoring Hausman who has been in the stores department since April 12, 1929. He has been on the clerical staff since 1930.

Hausman is married and the father of two sons. His favorite sport is fishing.

R. C. Diehl, Veteran Phone Company Employe, Honored

Russell C. "Mike" Diehl, manager of the Frostburg District of the Chesapeake and Potomac Telephone Company, was guest of honor at a luncheon yesterday at Ali Ghan Shrine Country Club, marking the completion of 35 years of service with the company.

Originally employed in 1913 as an installer's helper at the local office, Diehl was promoted to loop foreman and later combination man before being furloughed in 1920.

Recalled four years later, he was transferred to the Frostburg District, which included all of Mt. Savage and Lonaconing. At that time there were eight employes in the Frostburg office and only 550 telephones to be maintained. Diehl recalled. Since then, the office force has been expanded to 17 employes and there are 2,455 phones to be serviced. Diehl was promoted to the district managership in the middle 30's.

An avid baseball fan, Diehl managed the Frostburg Demons from 1927 to 1934 and has been manager of the Red Sox team in the Little Baseball League since that group was organized in Frostburg. He was also manager of the 1952 Little League All-Star team which participated in the state championship playoffs.

Besides baseball, his major hobby is taking care of an iris garden which was begun by his late wife.

Diehl said he hopes to continue working until his retirement becomes effective two years from now. After that, he plans to do some traveling, especially to California, where a brother and sister reside.

H-Bomb Movies Will Be Shown

Color films of the H-Bomb test "Operation Ivy" will be shown in Allegany County next week, William G. Barger, county director of Civil Defense, has announced.

The color print is the only one in the state.

A public showing will be held in the council chamber at City Hall Monday at 6:30, 7:30, 8:30 and 9:30 p. m., Barger said.

In addition, the film "One Plane —One Bomb," depicting potential threat that one H-Bomb carrying plane can be, will also be on the schedule. Total time for both is 55 minutes.

Tuesday, "Operation Ivy" will be shown County Civil Defense Staff Section heads in the conference room of Kelly-Springfield Tire Company. A discussion of the role of the county in the International Civil Defense exercise "Operation Alert" scheduled for the eastern U. S. and Canada June 14-15, will also be held.

Wednesday, the film will be shown the Men's Club of First Presbyterian Church at 7:30 p. m. The public is also invited to this showing, Barger said.

Thursday, U. S. Army Reserve units will see the film at the Army Reserve Armory, Footer Building, South Mechanic Street.

Potomac River Normal In Paw Paw Area

The Potomac River flow at Paw Paw was above normal and out of the deficient category for the first time since June 1, 1953 as a result of the March 1 storm which was heaviest in Western Maryland.

Maximum daily flow was recorded high last month, according to March issue of the Water Resources Review, U. S. Department of Interior.

Runoff in the eastern part of Maryland continued deficient, and the level in the key well near Colesville rose seasonally but remained well below average.

Resident Enters Guilty Pleas

Two local men who had burglary indictments returned against them by the April Grand Jury were arraigned yesterday morning before Associate Judge George Henderson, with one of the two pleading guilty to two charges.

Frank L. Casteel, 32, of 328 Cecelia Street, pleaded guilty to the burglaries of William F. Leake's poolroom and tavern on Pine Avenue and the restaurant owned by Henry Young at Nave's Crossroads.

Everett L. Hines, 30, of 707 Baker Street, who was charged with assisting in the same breaking and enterings, as well as the burglary of the cafe operated by Mary Betz at 143 North Centre Street and the Braddock Farms home of Earl Diehl, entered no plea at yesterday's arraignment. Hines was represented by Attorney Clarence Shutter.

Charles A. VanDyne, 44, of Knoxville, Tenn., was also arraigned before Judge Henderson yesterday and entered guilty pleas to three charges of false pretenses in cashing worthless checks. He has been held in the county jail since January 26.

No disposition was made by Judge Henderson in any of the cases.

Legislative Council Committee Will Study Film Censorship

BALTIMORE, April 14 (AP)-Maryland's Legislative Council today set up a special committee to handle the hot question of movie censorship.

State Sen. Layman J. Redden, Carolina County Democrat who practices law at Denton, was named to head it.

Named with him on the special panel were Sens. D. Kenneth McLaughlin (R-Washington) and W. Mason Shehan (D-Talbot) and Delegates Melvin H. Derr (R-Frederick) and Richard E. Lankford (D-Anne Arundel).

To them goes the job of hearing the arguments and recommending what if any changes should be made in Maryland's movie censorship law.

Redden said his group would not start planning its procedure until after the Legislative Council has its next meeting early in May.

Sen. George Della, president of the State Senate and presiding officer of the Legislative Council, set up the special committee on his own motion today as the new council met for the first time and started planning for a year of work leading up to the 1955 session of the General Assembly next January.

The movie censorship question was put before it today by way of a communication from J. D. Murray, president of the Holy Name Society of St. Patrick's Catholic parish at Cumberland.

Actually, it was a copy of a letter Murray had written to Sidney R. Traub, the State's chief motion picture censor, praising him for his "magnificent work and efforts to strengthen the movie censorship code."

Murray said there was a serious handicap in the law because it provides for no appeal to higher courts if a movie or scene banned by the censors is restored by a decision in Baltimore City Court.

State Gets Millions Under Road Aid Bill

WASHINGTON, April 14 (AP) — Here is a state-by-state breakdown on expanded federal aid for highways proposed in a bill passed by the Senate and House today and sent to the White House for President Eisenhower's signature.

The bill would authorize spending of 966 million dollars in each of the fiscal years beginning July 1, 1955. Actual appropriations would have to be made later.

The state-road funds listed below would be supplied on a 50-50 federal-state matching basis and would be allocated within a state according to this formula: 45 per cent for primary, 30 per cent for secondary and 25 per cent for urban roads.

Here is what the following states would get annually under the bill passed today, with state-road money listed first and interstate-road funds second:

Maryland $7,391,000, $2,036,000; West Virginia $7,548,000, $2,040,000.

Auto Title Rule Effective May 1

BALTIMORE, April 14 (AP)—The Department of Motor Vehicles today ordered Maryland automobile dealers to transfer titles to customers within 15 days after cars are purchased.

The new regulation, combined with tighter automobile financing laws passed by the 1954 Legislature, is designed to help protect buyers from having their cars repossessed by unscrupulous dealers.

Commissioner Thomas B. R. Mudd said letters containing the new regulation will go out tomorrow to the state's 1,300 dealers and will become effective May 1.

At present there is no time requirement on when a dealer has to transfer a title to a buyer. Mudd assigned the limit under authority granted him in the motor vehicles code and said it has approval of the Attorney General.

Under the old system, a customer buys a car on terms but the dealer holds on to the title. If the customer falls behind in his payments, the dealer can repossess the car immediately. If the customer shows he can keep up payments, the dealer belatedly turns over the title to him.

Before today's order, the State had virtually no case against dealers accused of illegally holding on to titles.

The new regulation provides a 10-day jail sentence, $100 fine and "possible suspension or revocation of driving licenses and registration plates."

Md. Constitution "Streamlining" Idea Suggested

BALTIMORE, April 14 (AP) — A novel idea for clearing the deadwood out of Maryland's old constitution was put up to the Legislative Council today.

Dr. Carl Everstine, director of the Bureau of Legislative Reference, suggested what he called an "omnibus amendment."

As far as he knows, this is a completely new thought on the problem to eliminate obsolete, ambiguous, and even contradictory provisions.

Up to now it has always been assumed the only practical way to do it was to have a constitutional convention and do a complete rewrite job. But Maryland has never gotten around to having a constitutional convention since the present constitution was adopted in 1867.

The only alternative seemed to be amendment by the voters piecemeal, a procedure which would require balloting on literally hundreds of separate questions.

Everstine told the Legislative Council:

"It seems to me that as many of the obsolete provisions as was deemed desirable could be included in one 'omnibus amendment.'

"It would mean that the change could be accomplished with a minimum of confusion to the voters, since only one question would then be on the ballot for this particular set of changes. The result, it seems to me, would be most helpful in bringing the language of the constitution into conformity with actual conditions today."

Everstine pointed out since 1922 there have been contradictory provisions in the constitution on the length of terms which members of the Legislature, clerks of the courts, registers of wills, states attorneys and others are to serve. There is no question that the later provisions govern, but the old language still is in the constitution.

Only about 10 per cent of the population of the Hawaiian Islands are actually Hawaiian.

State Forest Fire Situation 'Critical'

[By The Associated Press]

State Forester H. C. Buckingham terms the forest fire situation in Maryland "critical", and asked Marylanders to wait until it rains again before burning trash or setting fire to weed growths in fields.

Dry woods and brisk winds are endangering tree stands on the Eastern Shore and in Western Maryland, Buckingham said.

A total of 35 fires burned over 310 acres of Maryland land Tuesday. Buckingham said some of the fires probably were started by children, but added no doubt the carelessness of adults was responsible for others.

The world-famed Blarney stone is being changed to give visitors a better chance to salute it conviently and gain the famous magic of its touch.

New Floor Care Ends Waxing

One of the most difficult jobs of housekeeping is to keep linoleum and asphalt tile floors waxed and gleaming. Now, thanks to Glaxo, it is no longer necessary to wax and scrub. All you do is apply Glaxo with a brush about twice a year. It maintains a high lustre, non slip coating that seals out dirt. Glaxo dries in one hour and is water clear. It's cheaper than wax in the long run, besides saving a terrific amount of work, plus truly a beautiful floor. Glaxo is available at Rosenbaum's—Fourth Floor.

Keeping Up With Hollywood

by Louella Parsons

HOLLYWOOD, April 14 (INS) — There's never been another Shirley Temple. But now Mike Curtiz is perfectly sure he has a child with all of Shirley's intelligence and appeal.

She's Mimi Gibson, age 5, who has been on stage and radio since she was 16-months-old. She plays the youngest princess, Michael Wilding's daughter, in "The Egyptian." "And," says Mike, "she takes direction better than any grown up."

So enchanted is 20th Century-Fox with the little girl that she's also been signed to play Mitzi Gaynor as a child in "There's No Business Like Show Business."

And just listen to this! Darryl Zanuck is getting out all the old Shirley Temple pictures and may make them with Mimi, who is dainty, dark-haired and dimpled.

Jeanne Crain hopes to be able to go to Italy to star in "The Story of Esther." It was very much on a few months ago, and then it was off again. Now it's on again with a definite offer.

"The Galilean" has been indefinitely postponed but Universal-International can pre-empt Jeanne for another picture. However, if she can get permission, she will go to Italy in early summer, not later than June, to report to Ponti-De Laurentiis for "The Story of Esther," the biblical pic.

Hugo Fregonese has thrown up his hands, his financing, and studio space and has completely abandoned production of "The Black Sword" in Madrid. When I asked him why, after things had gone so far that Faith Domergue even had her costumes completed, he said:

"The price American actors are asking to make movies in Europe is prohibitive. Even some who are slipping in this country are asking fantastic sums."

Until this condition corrects itself, Fregonese will remain in Hollywood and has cabled Madrid financiers that the deal is off.

This is a town where you hear many strange things. One of the strangest is Tony Curtis' theory that the late Douglas Fairbanks, Sr., was born 400 years too late, and had to be a swashbuckler whether he wanted to or not.

Tony, who under his new contract has a chance to make independent pictures, would like to obtain the rights to the Fairbanks story. He believes that he could do the jumps that Fairbanks did and picture the colorful Doug, who, in my opinion, still stands alone.

Snapshots of Hollywood collected at random:

The political unrest is so grave in Cairo that Howard Hawks and his writer, Harry Kurnitz, receive an occasional warning from police to remain in their quarters.

Jack Webb himself, and not a ghost writer, wrote the inside story about Jack in the May issue of Cosmopolitan magazine.

Monty Clift will not be in "Not as a Stranger." Clift has so informed Stanley Kramer, saying he wants to do a stage play.

Dick Powell says he has not yet signed the contract to head RKO. There are several things to be ironed out first. But I believe he'll do it eventually after he finishes "The Conquerer."

Put this down to coincidence. At a Hollywood theatre Gene Tierney is the star of one picture, while Rita Hayworth is the star of the other — a double bill so to speak.

Singer Joni James, one of the tops in her style, found that having her tonsils removed was very expensive. She lost $22,000 in cancelled bookings while recuperating.

On Sunday screen writer Sid Boehm and his wife celebrate their 19th wedding anniversary. Sid was formerly a Hearst reporter.

Mervyn Le Roy had luncheon with Dana Andrews to talk to him about playing opposite Greer Garson in "Strange Lady in Town."

Elizabeth Taylor's father and mother are back from Miami after a long visit there. Mrs. Taylor, who has been very ill, is much improved.

Oops! The Alan Ladds have bought four new cars in one fell swoop. Alan bought one for Sue, another for himself, and one for each of his two grown children.

That's all today. See you tomorrow!

Secrets Of Charm

by John Robert Powers

With Easter fast approaching, there is good reason to think of roses and lilies and forget-me-nots. For Easter is a time when flowers burst forth everywhere.

There are the posies that bloom on Easter bonnets, the corsage worn on your spring suit, the boutonniere adorning your escort's lapel. And most lovely of all, the delicate lilies framing the chancel as the choir rings out Alleluiahs.

I think every woman alive must be fond of flowers, and appreciate the sentiment that accompanies their giving. Perhaps, just now, a few hints would be welcomed to the man in your life as to the corsage most appropriate for your Easter finery.

Color Accents

Flowers should be keyed to the color scheme of your costume. Baby yellow orchids are charming accent to a suit in the brown-beige family and a camellia, white or pink-tinged, is lovely with navy blue.

Flowers that match the flowers or a hat are fun. If your hat is trimmed with yellow daisies, wear a corsage of yellow daisies at your waist or clipped to your handbag.

If the hat is plain, but a different color from the rest of the costume, match it elegantly with a shoulder corsage. Red hat, red carnations! If the entire costume is carried out in the same color, any contrast goes — so long as the contrast doesn't clash.

When in doubt, select white flowers. Carnations are lovely; so is a white orchid, lilies of the valley, or a corsage of white violets.

Other Ideas

For something a little different, I suggest a nosegay of purple violets or spring posies in bright, variegated colors. Japanese iris, too, are striking ornament for the spring coat or suit.

Beware of what I term the "overpowering" corsage, one so large it appears to weight the shoulder. The elegance of the flower is not in its size, but in the thought behind it and the pride with which you wear it. That goes for the posy you present your escort, as much as for the corsage he gives you!

Man Is Fined $160 On Traffic Charges

Harry Llewellyn, RD 3, Bedford, Pa., was fined $160 and costs and received a suspended six-months sentence to the Maryland House of Correction for reckless driving and driving under the influence of intoxicants Tuesday in Trial Magistrates Court.

Magistrate Donald W. Mason said Llewellyn had a previous conviction on a similar charge resulting in the stiff penalty imposed by the court. The Bedford man was arrested Monday on Route 36 in Homewood Addition by Trooper R. D Wolford of the Maryland State Police.

Llewellyn paid his fine to escape a 60-day jail sentence in default, Mason said. He was placed on a year's probation from the House of Correction.

Capuchins List Assignments For Preaching In District

Members of the Capuchin community at SS. Peter and Paul Monastery will preach at services in various sections of the tri-state area during the last three days of Holy Week and on Easter Sunday.

Rev. Jude Senieur, OFM, Cap., guardian of the monastery, will preach at the evening services today at St. Mary's Church, Lonaconing; on Friday afternoon at St. Ambrose Church, Cresaptown, and on Sunday morning at St. Peter's Church, Hancock.

Father John Lipinski, OFM, Cap., assistant director of the Capuchin Brothers Training School at the monastery, will preach this evening at St. Peter's, Hancock, and on Sunday morning at both St. Ann's, Bean's Cove, and St. Charles, Paw Paw, W. Va.

Rev. Kenan Crowley, OFM, Cap., assistant pastor of SS. Peter and Paul's, will preach at the Tre Ore devotions Friday afternoon at the church. Rev. Diego Jose Pedraha, OFM, Cap., will assist at the solemn high mass Easter morning at St. Mary's Church here.

A former pastor of SS. Peter and Paul's, Rev. Louis Glantz, OFM, Cap., who is director of "Boystown" at McKeesport, Pa., will preach at the services this evening at the church and will also officiate at the Easter Vigil services Saturday night.

Rev. Melvin Averman, OFM, Cap., of the Capuchin College, Washington, has been assigned to assist at the services Sunday morning at St. Peter's Church, Westernport. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. H. B. Averman, 945 Braddock Road.

Rev. Benedict Pope, OFM, Cap., also of Washington, will assist at the services at the Cresaptown church for the remainder of the week and at SS. Peter and Paul on Easter morning.

Youth Receives Prison Term On Larceny, Motor Charges

A 20-year-old Mt. Savage youth was sentenced to nine months in the Maryland House of Correction yesterday in Trial Magistrates Court after he pleaded guilty to larceny and motor charges.

The prisoner, Howard Frederick Witt, of Calla Hill, drew a six-month term for stealing gasoline and auto batteries. He was given an additional three months for operating a motor vehicle after being refused a license.

A companion, Donald Francis Klosterman, 18, also of Mt. Savage, received a suspended six-month sentence on similar theft charges. Placed on probation for two years, he was ordered to make restitution, be of good behavior, obey his parents, refrain from intoxicants and be home by 10 o'clock nightly.

State Police said Witt's previous record showed convictions for carrying a concealed weapon, larceny, unauthorized use of a motor vehicle and other counts.

Cpl. William F. Baker, criminal investigator, testified the pair took a battery from the car of Rev. Michael S. Smyth, pastor of St. Patrick's Catholic Church, Mt. Savage, while the machine was parked near the rectory. Also taken April 8 was 10 gallons of gasoline from the auto of Raymond Himmelwright, president of the First National Bank there.

Baker said a plug was removed from the fuel tank to get the gasoline. Himmelwrights' vehicle was parked in front of his home.

About March 28 the youths drained 15 gallons of gas from a power shovel of the Mt. Savage Refractories Company. The theft was reported by Joseph Liller, a plant official. A battery also was stolen.

Police recovered the batteries and restitution was made for the gasoline. Total amount of the loot was $57.

Magistrate Donald W. Mason presided at the trial. Both defendants had signed statements in the State's Attorney's office.

Masses Are Scheduled

Rev. Robert Kilgannon, pastor of St. Anthony's Catholic Church, Ridgeley, said mass will be celebrated there at 8 a. m. Easter Sunday, and at 11:30 a. m. at Kessel, W. Va.

Motor vehicles in the United States traveled more than half a trillion miles in 1953.

Celanese Reports New Yarn Output

Initial production of a new heavy denier acetate yarn which has been "voluminized" under exclusive patent methods was announced yesterday by Celanese Corporation of America. The new product is being sampled by leading mills, and the textile division of the company is assisting customers on technical problems and end-use applications.

The patented processing method for the new yarn provides individual crimp to each filament, thus creating a yarn with pronounced fullness and bloom. The character of the yarn makes possible drapery and upholstery fabrics with a novelty hand-loomed appearance. When used in combination with other yarns many different variations may be achieved.

The fullness and resiliency of the voluminous yarn provides covering qualities which recommend its use in pile fabrics of both the cut and loop varieties.

Celanese voluminous yarn, produced at the Amcelle plant of the company, is being offered in a number of packages and twists in the 4,000, 3,200 and 2,400 denier sizes (all 20 denier per filament).

The new yarn is being made in a selected range of Celaperm colors in addition to natural. This color line will be expanded as production facilities are increased.

Sample rugs loomed from "voluminized" yarn were featured at the recent Cumberland Home Builders Show on the floor of Amcelle's exhibit.

Hausman Is Given Watch At Amcelle

Gilbert H. Hausman, 478 Goethe Street, was presented a wrist watch by R. Finley Thompson, manager, of the Amcelle plant of the Celanese Corporation, as a remembrance of a quarter century of employment.

Leslie Brode, in charge of purchasing and stores, joined in honoring Hausman who has been in the stores department since April 12, 1929. He has been on the clerical staff since 1930.

Hausman is married and the father of two sons. His favorite sport is fishing.

R. C. Diehl, Veteran Phone Company Employe, Honored

Russell C. "Mike" Diehl, manager of the Frostburg District of the Chesapeake and Potomac Telephone Company, was guest of honor at a luncheon yesterday at Ali Ghan Shrine Country Club, marking the completion of 35 years of service with the company.

Originally employed in 1913 as an installer's helper at the local office, Diehl was promoted to loop foreman and later combination man before being furloughed in 1920.

Recalled four years later, he was transferred to the Frostburg District, which included all of Mt. Savage and Lonaconing. At that time there were eight employes in the Frostburg office and only 550 telephones to be maintained, Diehl recalled. Since then, the office force has been expanded to 17 employes and there are 2,455 phones to be serviced. Diehl was promoted to the district managership in the middle 30's.

An avid baseball fan, Diehl managed the Frostburg Demons from 1927 to 1934 and has been manager of the Red Sox team in the Little Baseball League since that group was organized in Frostburg. He was also manager of the 1952 Little League All-Star team which participated in the state championship playoffs.

Besides baseball, his major hobby is taking care of an iris garden which was begun by his late wife.

Diehl said he hopes to continue working until his retirement becomes effective two years from now. After that, he plans to do some traveling, especially to California, where a brother and sister reside.

H-Bomb Movies Will Be Shown

Color films of the H-Bomb test "Operation Ivy" will be shown in Allegany County next week, William G. Barger, county director of Civil Defense, has announced.

The color print is the only one in the state.

A public showing will be held in the council chamber at City Hall Monday at 6:30, 7:30, 8:30 and 9:30 p. m., Barger said.

In addition, the film "One Plane —One Bomb," depicting potential threat that one H-Bomb carrying plane can be, will also be on the schedule. Total time for both is 55 minutes.

Tuesday, "Operation Ivy" will be shown County Civil Defense Staff Section heads in the conference room of Kelly-Springfield Tire Company. A discussion of the role of the county in the International Civil Defense exercise "Operation Alert" scheduled for the eastern U. S. and Canada June 14-15, will also be held.

Wednesday, the film will be shown the Men's Club of First Presbyterian Church at 7:30 p. m. The public is also invited to this showing, Barger said.

Thursday, U. S. Army Reserve units will see the film at the Army Reserve Armory, Footer Building, South Mechanic Street.

Potomac River Normal In Paw Paw Area

The Potomac River flow at Paw Paw was above normal and out of the deficient category for the first time since June 1, 1953 as a result of the March 1 storm which was heaviest in Western Maryland.

Maximum daily flow was recorded high last month, according to March issue of the Water Resources Review, U. S. Department of Interior.

Runoff in the eastern part of Maryland continued deficient, and the level in the key well near Colesville rose seasonally but remained well below average.

Resident Enters Guilty Pleas

Two local men who had burglary indictments returned against them by the April Grand Jury were arraigned yesterday morning before Associate Judge George Henderson, with one of the two pleading guilty to two charges.

Frank L. Casteel, 32, of 328 Cecelia Street, pleaded guilty to the burglaries of William F. Leake's poolroom and tavern on Pine Avenue and the restaurant owned by Henry Young at Nave's Crossroads.

Everett L. Hines, 30, of 707 Baker Street, who was charged with assisting in the same breaking and enterings, as well as the burglary of the cafe operated by Mary Betz at 143 North Centre Street and the Braddock Farms home of Earl Diehl, entered no plea at yesterday's arraignment. Hines was represented by Attorney Clarence Shutter.

Charles A. VanDyne, 44, of Knoxville, Tenn., was also arraigned before Judge Henderson yesterday and entered guilty pleas to three charges of false pretenses in cashing worthless checks. He has been held in the county jail since January 26.

No disposition was made by Judge Henderson in any of the cases.

Officials Check Channel Project

City and federal officials have inspected the Wills Creek channel improvement contract which is slated to be completed within a few days.

The tour was made Tuesday by C. R. Nuzum, city engineer; Rex E. Dexter, resident engineer for the Corps of Engineers, and E. E. Gronbach, general superintendent for the E. J. Albrecht Company on flood control projects in Wills Creek and the Industrial Dam.

The last concrete for the paving job was poured Monday, and the company expects to have all the work done this week.

The project included some 3,000 feet of channel paving, beginning at the Esso bulk plant in the Narrows, and ending at the rear of the Zimmerla Machine Shop.

The contract was awarded to the Albrecht firm on February 21, 1952, for $1,606,725. Two other contracts are planned to complete the creek channel work — but in the final stage of the flood project.

Victims Of Mishaps Are Reported Good

Three persons injured critically in two separate accidents on Sunday, April 4, are reported in "good" condition at Memorial Hospital.

John W. Kreitzburg, 30, of 412 Maryland Avenue, a Western Maryland Railway employe, was injured in the fatal airplane crash on Mexico Farms which claimed the life of Percy L. Ruby, 32, of 106 Park Street, pilot of the plane.

James Arthur Meyers, 16, of Carpenter's Addition, and Richard Brooks, 17, RFD 1, Ridgeley, were admitted to the hospital when the auto in which they were riding crashed through a guardrail and overturned at the intersection of W. Va. Route 28 and 28E in Wiley Ford.

Officers Nominated By Men Of LaSalle

Eight members of Men of LaSalle were nominated for the four offices of the organization at a meeting Monday night in Carroll Hall.

Although they were not nominated for specific offices last night, an election with additional nominees selected will be held on May 10 at 8 p.m. in Carroll Hall.

The nominees thus far include John Brode, Edward Mason, George Marton, Francis Ford, Thomas Connelly, Joseph Barry, William Siebert and William Lovenstein. Edward McGraw, president was in charge of the meeting.

Also discussed was the coming bazar sponsored by the group. Offices to be filled are president, vice president, secretary, and treasurer.

Salvationists Plan Pre-Easter Service

A Night of Prayer will be held Saturday at the Salvation Army Citadel, 115 North Mechanic Street, in preparation for Easter services, according to Capt. Daniel K. Biggs, commander.

The all-night service will begin at 7 p. m. and continue until 7 o'clock on Easter morning, with Salvationists alternately praying and reading the Bible for one-hour periods.

Easter services at the Citadel will begin with Sunday School at 9:45 a. m., followed by worship services at 11 a. m. and 7:45 p. m.

St. Philip's Plans Devotional Service

There will be a devotional service at St. Philip's Chapel this evening, conducted by Robert Powell, a student at Morgan College, Baltimore, who is preparing for the Episcopal priesthood.

A service of Holy Communion is scheduled for 8 a. m. on Easter Day with Venerable Albert H. Lucas, archdeacon of the Diocese of Maryland, as celebrant. There will be no special Church School service on Easter. The pupils are instructed to attend the Parish Eucharist at 8 a. m. at which time awards will be made.

Rev. G. Stanley Schwind, priest in charge of the chapel, announces that he will administer the Holy Communion privately to the sick during the Eastertide.

Fr. Farrell To Preach Holy Week Sermons

Rev. Bertin Farrell, Baltimore, a Passionist missionary, will preach the Lenten sermon tonight at 7:30 o'clock in St. Patrick's Catholic Church, according to Very Rev. J. Lawrence Kilkenny, pastor.

Father Farrell will also give the meditation at the Three Hours Agony planned Friday from noon until 3 p. m. Stations of the Cross will follow at 5 p. m. and Father Farrell will deliver a Good Friday sermon at 7:30 p. m.

Holy Saturday services begin at 6 a. m. with the blessing of the New Fire, the Paschal Candle and Baptismal water. The Mass of the Resurrection will be held at 8 a. m. Confessions will be held Saturday from 4 to 6 p. m. and from 7:15 to 9 p. m.

Information Filed In Morals Case

A criminal information naming Thomas Eugene Bates, 42, of Gay Street, and Oscar Vernon Meeks, 30, of Glenwood Street, on morals charges was filed yesterday in Allegany County Circuit Court by the State's Attorney's office.

Bates and Meeks were arrested early Sunday. Witnesses have been summoned to appear in Circuit Court at 10 a. m. today.

Jobless Report Given By State

BALTIMORE, April 14 (AP)-Maryland sent out 26,591 unemployment checks last week, the top for the current economic downswing but fewer, by far, state officials said, than during the 1949 recession.

Last week's figure compared with 11,252 checks in the second week of April last year.

A total of 9,070 workers newly laid off asked unemployment benefits last week 100 fewer than the previous week.

The 9,000 new claims in each of April's first two weeks compared with an average of about 4,000 a week in March, 3,800 in February and 6,000 in January. The new claims were about 6,000 over the April average of last year.

Payments totaled $659,266 this year and $219,821 last year. Benefits were liberalized last June.

Chairman Daniel E. Kline of the State Employment Security Board said the mechanics of the compensation system are at least partly responsible for the higher figures last week since April 1 starts a new benefit year and the figures almost always go up the first few weeks of April.

Permits Are Issued For Two Dwellings

Permits to build two dwellings were issued yesterday by the City Building Engineer's office.

J. B. Harris, Pursglove, W. Va., secured a permit to build a 40-by-28-foot brick dwelling on Lots 44 and 45 of Blake Terrace in Glen Jean Addition. The home is to be built by the Scott Lumber Company, Wheeling, W. Va., and is slated to cost about $13,500.

H. R. Redinger, 710 St. Mary's Avenue, secured a permit to build a one-story brick dwelling, 28 by 32 feet in diameter, on Lot 13, Block 22 of Oldtown Road. Cost is estimated at $5,000.

Five Area Men Join Navy Here

Five men were enlisted at the U. S. Navy Recruiting Station here and sent this week to Bainbridge for basic training.

Homer Dale Elbin, Artemas, Pa., enlisted for a minority period.

Enlisting for four years each were Raymond Elwood Vinci, Nikep; Charles Paul Montgomery Jr., RFD 3, here; Robert Norman Sponaugle, Davis, W. Va.; and Richard Lee Fields, Springfield.

Navy recruiters said yesterday that enlistments are open for qualified and able bodied men and applications are now being accepted from young men who will graduate from high school in this area in June.

They emphasize that application should be made now before the local quota for graduates is filled.

Child Injured When Hit By Ball Bat

An 11-year-old LaVale girl was admitted to Sacred Heart Hospital yesterday evening suffering a nose injury sustained when she was accidentally struck by a baseball bat.

Theresa Boch, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Henry Boch, was reported to have been talking with a friend when the mishap occurred. The child was admitted about 6:35 p.m. for X-rays and observation.

Orb Twigg, of RD 2, Hinkle Road, was arrested by local authorities yesterday and was booked at Police Headquarters on a charge of larceny.

He is being charged with the theft of $50 from Rose Martin, of 29 Front Street, police said. Lt. James E. Van and Leo E. P. Law, of the City Police Detective Bureau, took Twigg into custody yesterday and a hearing has been set for 2 p.m. today.

11 Applications Filed With Liquor Board

Eleven more applications for alcoholic beverage licenses have been filed with the Allegany County Board of License Commissioners this week.

They bring to 313 the number of applications to be considered by the board April 26 and 27. Most are for renewal of existing licenses for the new year starting May 1. The latest applicants ask for four beer licenses, two beer and wine licenses and five club-type beer, wine and liquor licenses.

Chicago Board Of Trade

CHICAGO, April 14 (AP)—New crop soybean futures advanced a couple of cents in an otherwise ragged grain market on the Board of Trade today. Dealings were of a routine nature with prices not getting far in either direction from the previous close.

Closing futures:

Keeping Up With Hollywood

by Louella Parsons

HOLLYWOOD, April 14 (INS) — There's never been another Shirley Temple. But now Mike Curtiz is perfectly sure he has a child with all of Shirley's intelligence and appeal.

She's Mimi Gibson, age 5, who has been on stage and radio since she was 16-months-old. She plays the youngest princess, Michael Wilding's daughter, in "The Egyptian." "And," says Mike, "she takes direction better than any grown up."

So enchanted is 20th Century-Fox with the little girl that she's also been signed to play Mitzi Gaynor as a child in "There's No Business Like Show Business."

And just listen to this! Darryl Zanuck is getting out all the old Shirley Temple pictures and may make them with Mimi, who is dainty, dark-haired and dimpled.

Jeanne Crain hopes to be able to go to Italy to star in "The Story of Esther." It was very much on a few months ago, and then it was off again. Now it's on again with a definite offer.

"The Galilean" has been indefinitely postponed but Universal-International can pre-empt Jeanne for another picture. However, if she can get permission, she will go to Italy in early summer, not later than June, to report to Ponti-De Laurentiis for "The Story of Esther," the biblical pic.

Hugo Fregonese has thrown up his hands, his financing, and studio space and has completely abandoned production of "The Black Sword" in Madrid. When I asked him why, after things had gone so far that Faith Domergue even had her costumes completed, he said: "The price American actors are asking to make movies in Europe is prohibitive. Even some who are slipping in this country are asking fantastic sums."

Until this condition corrects itself, Fregonese will remain in Hollywood and has cabled Madrid financiers that the deal is off.

This is a town where you hear many strange things. One of the strangest is Tony Curtis' theory that the late Douglas Fairbanks, Sr., was born 400 years too late, and had to be a swashbuckler whether he wanted to or not.

Tony, who under his new contract has a chance to make independent pictures, would like to obtain the rights to the Fairbanks story. He believes that he could do the jumps that Fairbanks did and picture the colorful Doug, who, in my opinion, still stands alone.

Snapshots of Hollywood collected at random:

The political unrest is so grave in Cairo that Howard Hawks and his writer, Harry Kurnitz, receive an occasional warning from police to remain in their quarters.

Jack Webb himself, and not a ghost writer, wrote the inside story about Jack in the May issue of Cosmopolitan magazine.

Monty Clift will not be in "Not as a Stranger." Clift has so informed Stanley Kramer, saying he wants to do a stage play.

Dick Powell says he has not yet signed the contract to head RKO. There are several things to be ironed out first. But I believe he'll do it eventually after he finishes "The Conquerer."

Put this down to coincidence. At a Hollywood theatre Gene Tierney is the star of one picture, while Rita Hayworth is the star of the other — a double bill so to speak.

Singer Joni James, one of the tops in her style, found that having her tonsils removed was very expensive. She lost $22,000 in cancelled bookings while recuperating.

On Sunday screen writer Sid Boehm and hi. wife celebrate their 19th wedding anniversary. Sid was formerly a Hearst reporter.

Mervyn Le Roy had luncheon with Dana Andrews to talk to him about playing opposite Greer Garson in "Strange Lady in Town."

Elizabeth Taylor's father and mother are back from Miami after a long visit there. Mrs. Taylor, who has been very ill, is much improved.

Oops! The Alan Ladds have bought four new cars in one fell swoop. Alan bought one for Sue, another for himself, and one for each of his two grown children.

That's all today. See you tomorrow!

Secrets Of Charm

by John Robert Powers

With Easter fast approaching, there is good reason to think of roses and lilies and forget-me-nots. For Easter is a time when flowers burst forth everywhere.

There are the posies that bloom on Easter bonnets, the corsage worn on your spring suit, the boutonniere adorning your escort's lapel. And most lovely of all, the delicate lilies framing the chancel as the choir rings out Alleluiahs.

I think every woman alive must be fond of flowers, and appreciate the sentiment that accompanies their giving. Perhaps, just now, a few hints would be welcomed to the man in your life as to the corsage most appropriate for your Easter finery.

Color Accents

Flowers should be keyed to the color scheme of your costume. Baby yellow orchids are charming accent to a suit in the brown-beige family and a camellia, white or pink-tinged, is lovely with navy blue.

Flowers that match the flowers or a hat are fun. If your hat is trimmed with yellow daisies, wear a corsage of yellow daisies at your waist or clipped to your handbag.

If the hat is plain, but a different color from the rest of the costume, match it elegantly with a shoulder corsage. Red hat, red carnations! If the entire costume is carried out in the same color, any contrast goes — so long as the contrast doesn't clash.

When in doubt, select white flowers. Carnations are lovely; so is a white orchid, lilies of the valley, or a corsage of white violets.

Other Ideas

For something a little different, I suggest a nosegay of purple violets or spring posies in bright, variegated colors. Japanese iris, too, are striking ornament for the spring coat or suit.

Beware of what I term the "overpowering" corsage, one so large it appears to weight the shoulder. The elegance of the flower is not in its size, but in the thought behind it and the pride with which you wear it. That goes for the posy you present your escort, as much as for the corsage he gives you!

Tomorrow: Pretty as an Easter parader.

Man Is Fined $160 On Traffic Charges

Harry Llewellyn, RD 3, Bedford, Pa., was fined $160 and costs and received a suspended six-months sentence in the Maryland House of Correction for reckless driving and driving under the influence of intoxicants Tuesday in Trial Magistrates Court.

Magistrate Donald W. Mason said Llewellyn had a previous conviction on a similar charge resulting in the stiff penalty imposed by the court. The Bedford man was arrested Monday on Route 36 in Homewood Addition by Trooper R. D Wolford of the Maryland State Police.

Llewellyn paid his fine to escape a 60-day jail sentence in default, Mason said. He was placed on a year's probation from the House of Correction.

Arctic Radar Fence An Aid To Defense

President Eisenhower recently spoke of a number of "counterbalancing factors" which would deter the Russians from using the H-bomb in aggression. First and foremost, of course, is the threat of the American bomb used against Russia and Russians. The list would also include other aspects of U. S. defense.

Certainly the new Arctic radar fence, which was announced jointly by U. S. Defense Secretary Wilson and his Canadian contemporary, Brooke Claxton, is on it.

The thinking apparently goes like this: With the diameter of the bomb damage circle now stretched from 10 miles to perhaps 25, the most precious commodity is time—time to get people out of congested areas and under cover and to get set to retaliate. Construction of a radar fence across the Arctic wastes would give the United States a six-hour warning, which could mean the difference between life and death for millions of people in populous industrial centers.

The new screen would parallel the so-called Pine Tree chain, which was a joint Canadian-American project begun in 1951. According to Secretary Wilson's announcement, advance work is now under way, and, while no completion date was set, it can be assumed that there will still be dangerously wide holes through which enemy aerial units could slip for at least another year.

The radar fence will link two far northern defense bastions—Alaska on the west and Thule Air Base on the east. In the meantime, the exposed oceanic flanks of the continent will be protected by the Air Force and Navy with new electronics developments, such as flying radar stations, and ground based warning stations which are fully automatic.

These make such a monumental project as a continental warning system practical, and not just theoretical. Nothing as static as an expensive chain of radar installations can be a "counterbalancing factor" if it assumes the immobility of a Maginot Line.

These Days

By George E. Sokolsky

Court-Martial Required

The publication of "The Final Secret of Pearl Harbor," by Rear Admiral Robert A. Theobald, really calls for the court-martial of Rear Admiral Husband E. Kimmel. Only by such a process can justice be done to one of the two men who have been accused of the crime of Pearl Harbor without ever having been given a trial. The other, General Walter C. Short, died.

That so-called Japanese sneak attack cost the American people 3,303 dead, 1,272 wounded. Fleet Admiral William F. Halsey says in his foreword to Admiral Theobald's book:

"I have always considered Admiral Kimmel and General Short to be splendid officers who were thrown to the wolves as scapegoats for something over which they had no control. They had to work with what they were given, both in equipment and information. They are our outstanding military martyrs."

Neither patriotism nor wartime security measures can, in this year 1954, be used as an excuse to cover up the crime of Pearl Harbor. The negligence was either at Pearl Harbor or in the Pentagon. Someone blundered or Pearl Harbor could not have happened. Admiral Theobald puts the blame directly upon President Franklin D. Roosevelt and General George Marshall; the official record puts the blame on Admiral Kimmel and General Short. Somebody is incorrect. A court-martial could produce the facts.

Admiral Theobald says:

"It is firmly believed that those in Washington who knew the facts, decided from the first that considerations of patriotism and loyalty to their wartime commander-in-chief required that a veil of secrecy should be drawn about the President's handling of the situation which culminated in the Pearl Harbor attack."

Enough of these men are alive to give their testimony. General George Marshall is alive as are Admiral Kimmel and Admirals Theobald and Halsey. Admiral Theobald's charge is that President Roosevelt deliberately needled Japan into war. He states his charges as follows:

"To implement the solution of his problem, the President: (1) instituted a successful campaign to correct the nation's military unpreparedness; (2) offered Germany repeated provocations, by violations of neutrality and diplomatic usage; (3) applied ever-increasing diplomatic-economic pressure upon Japan, which reached its sustained climax on July 25, 1941, when the United States, Great Britain, and the Netherlands stopped their trade with Japan and subjected her to almost complete economic encirclement; (4) made mutual commitments with the British prime minister at Newfoundland in August 1941 which promised mutual support in the event that the United States, Great Britain, or a third country not then at war were attacked by Japan in the Pacific; (5) terminated the Washington Conference with the note of November 26, 1941, which gave Japan no choice but surrender or war; (6) retained a weak Pacific Fleet in Hawaiian waters, despite contrary naval advice, where it served only one diplomatic purpose, an invitation to a Japanese surprise attack; (7) furthered that surprise by causing the Hawaiian commanders to be denied invaluable information from decoded Japanese dispatches concerning the rapid approach of the war and the strong probability that the attack would be directed at Pearl Harbor."

The value of a court-martial is that it will confirm Admiral Theobald's charges or prove them to be false. After Admiral Kimmel dies, it will not matter to him, but this will be a problem for research in American history for decades and his direct testimony ought to be made available. The various hearings, held in war years, have proved to be inconclusive. What is needed is a dispassionate search for the truth, with an opportunity for all who know the facts to testify in accordance with rules of evidence and under oath.

The tendency of most public services is to cover up errors and to go ahead. But Pearl Harbor was a frightful experience and the loss of American lives was high. The truth ought to be told without fear and without regard for anyone's reputation. When the great make mistakes, they are great mistakes sometimes leading to the destruction of a nation. When Hitler followed Napoleon to Moscow, he made the same mistake that Napoleon did and he reduced Germany to a subject nation. But he also involved the rest of the world in a state of permanent war and he set off revolutionary changes in Asia which he could not have anticipated. The Pearl Harbor incident is of this historic order.

Cards Piled Against Secretary Dulles In Parleys With European Leaders

By Drew Pearson

WASHINGTON — The importance and difficulty of Secretary of State Dulles' European mission are illustrated by the backstage diplomatic conversations which occurred in Washington before he left.

What happened was that when President Eisenhower first made up his mind to intervene in Indochina, our Western allies were immediately contacted and asked for joint cooperation. They replied in the negative.

This negative word was received by the White House before Secretary Dulles and Admiral Radford, chairman of the Joint Chiefs of Staff, had their important secret session with congressional leaders of both parties to sound them out on Indochina. In fact, French Ambassador Bonnet conferred with Dulles at 10:30 a. m., just before Dulles saw the senators at 2:30 Saturday.

At the latter meeting, Admiral Radford proposed military intervention by the United States alone. He wanted to send four airplane carriers from the Philippines to the Indochinese coast. The senators immediately demanded that the British, French, and our other Western allies cooperate. What the senators and congressmen did not know, and what Secretary Dulles did tell them, was that the Allies already had been approached and had declined to cooperate.

So Dulles has been trying to put across, face-to-face, in Paris and London, what he failed to put across when dealing through ambassadors.

Richest Man

The richest man in the U.S.A., H. L. Hunte of Texas, recently received a call from the man who loaned him his first dollar.

Hunt was stopping at the Mayflower Hotel in Washington when Emory S. Avant, manager of a much more modest hotel, knocked on his door. At first Hunt didn't answer. He was talking on the long-distance phone. Finally he came to the door, but did not open it.

"Who is it?" he asked cautiously.

"Emory Avant of El Dorado, Arkansas," was the reply.

Hunt unlocked the door and let his caller in.

Avant had been publisher of the El Dorado Times back in the days before Hunt drilled his first oil well. Now he is manager of the Manchester Hotel on 14th and M streets in Washington. Hunt remembered him, though he didn't seem too enthusiastic about seeing him, perhaps because Avant was peeved over the fact that he had written Hunt in Texas and received in reply merely some literature on the Bricker Amendment.

"That's not the kind of brush-off to give an old friend," said Avant. "Do you remember when I used to take you out to the cafeteria and buy you meals?"

Hunt said he did remember. He also remembered how he had come into the El Dorado Times office to borrow stationery, and didn't know when he could pay it back.

Avant had an oil painting he was trying to sell, and hoped Hunt might be interested, but his old friend felt he had enough to do without going into the art business.

So Avant went back to his modest Manchester Hotel while Hunt went on to the Waldorf-Astoria in New York where he's busy operating the Facts Forum radio-TV program, State of the Nation, Reporters Round-Up, and Answers for Americans; together with his campaign for the Bricker Amendment, for Joe McCarthy, and against so many other things that Hunt himself can scarcely remember them.

Merry-Go-Round

White House strategists are wooing Sen. Stuart Symington, the able but sometimes politically naive Democratic senator from Missouri. They figure they can switch him over to the GOP on some issues, also fear his effective attacks on military budget reductions. . . That's one reason Stuart was out on the golf links with Ike the other day when fellow senators were trying to get his vote on the McCarthy Committee Counsel. . . . Ike's brother Milton, president of Penn State, has been having trouble with the Daughters of the American Revolution. The ladies are quoting his 1947 statement that UNESCO marks "very real progress toward the genuine goal of world government.". . . . Milton had to write a letter to Congressman Merrow of New Hampshire explaining that he wasn't for world government, though he was strong for the United Nations. . . . Milton served some time as chairman of the U. S. delegation to UNESCO during the Truman administration, and in the days when he made the statement it was more fashionable to talk about world cooperation. Today the isolationist wave has sent various people running for political foxholes.

Taft-Hartley Debate

To understand why the House of Representatives is tightening the Taft-Hartley Labor Act rather than liberalizing it as Eisenhower requested, you need only examine the philosophy of Congressman Ralph Gwinn of Bronxville, N. Y., second ranking Republican on the House Labor Committee.

Gwinn, an ultra reactionary and proud of it, is about 100 miles to the right of most conservatives in his own party, though he has some worthy rivals among the Democrats, including wing-collared Congressman Howard Worth Smith of Broad Run, Va.

The New Yorker also is an inveterate user of his free mailing frank for propaganda purposes and has achieved the record of mailing 2,500,000 letters against housing, aid-to-education, etc., largely on behalf of business lobbies.

Long ago, Gwinn refused to recognize organized labor except as a "socialistic" menace to the United States. To Gwinn, a trade union is not an organization of working men and women strugglig for better wages or working conditions. It is "organized violence" against employers.

Oppenheimer Case Shows Government's Problem

By David Lawrence

WASHINGTON — The strange case of Dr. J. Robert Oppenheimer, leading atomic scientist, who has been formally suspended by President Eisenhower and the Atomic Energy Commission from access to classified material pending a study of his security status, illustrates better than millions of words of debate or television pictures what a difficult problem the Government of the United States is up against nowadays.

On the one hand, the congressional committees are assailed as unfair and as engaged in "witch hunting," and the cry is heard that every man must be considered innocent until proved guilty. But, on the other hand, affiliation with the government is not a right or privilege and employes can be ruled as security risks merely because there is reasonable doubt as to their eligibility to remain in the government. It is not a court procedure at all.

AEC Issues Statement

At this writing, nobody knows whether Dr. Oppenheimer is or is not a good security risk for continuance as a member of the science advisory committee under the Office of Defense Mobilization. His file has been under review for some time, and his suspension took place in December 1953. In accordance with the rules of fair play, the Eisenhower administration didn't publicize this fact. It refused to be a party to the arousing of public suspicion, since it was not prejudging the case but was dealing with it confidentially and in an orderly manner.

Then how did it get into the headlines? It came from the Oppenheimer side. Selected newspaper reporters were given all the documents and the right to publish them Tuesday morning. The all-important fact that the initiative came from the Oppenheimer side —probably his attorneys—was not disclosed in the press in the articles on Tuesday morning. The Atomic Energy Commission, however, promptly issued a statement, declaring that it had sought to "protect the privacy of individuals appearing before its personnel security boards" and that "departure from this practice in this instance is only due to the fact that Dr. Oppenheimer has exercised his privilege of making public an account of the matter."

Why did Dr. Oppenheimer decide on full publicity? It is often done as a device to forestall an attack, and perhaps in this case the hint given by Senator McCarthy in his television speech last week—without mentioning any names—that there was something mysterious about the delay in deciding to make the H-bomb indicated that maybe the Wisconsin senator himself was going to blow the lid off. Hence it may have seemed better to get all the documents out first, with the Oppenheimer version given sympathetic handling in the press.

Now it is disclosed by Senator Mundt of South Dakota and by members of the House that the whole matter was under scrutiny by the McCarthy Committee about last May but that the Wisconsin senator had decided several months ago not to go into the subject, since it would be handled by another committee or executive agency.

May Have Made Mistake

It could be that the speech by Senator McCarthy had no relationship to the Oppenheimer publicity effort to argue the case in advance, yet the effect was to link the two in public speculation. The situation is by no means clarified yet, and the strategists who advised Dr. Oppenheimer may find in the end they made a mistake in forcing the case into the open before all the facts had been gathered and the investigation had been completed.

So far as the public is concerned, it now will want to know not so much the details of the "derogatory information" in the file of Dr. Oppenheimer—as the phrase is used by the Atomic Energy Commission in its statement—but the reasons and motivations for some of the curious recommendations of policy made by the scientist. In the top councils of the government, for example, he opposed the strategic air command concept of the U. S. Air Force and delved in military strategy. He opposed the use of bombs as a "deterrent." He argued for more disclosures to the world of atomic data, and he was opposed to the development of the H-bomb. A restatement of Dr. Oppenheimer's views now becomes more important than ever.

The whole episode illustrates why it isn't so easy to dispose of security questions without a lot of background and why publicity isn't always the fault of the congressional committees.

Dr. Oppenheimer was a leader and his leadership meant that nearly all the scientists were opposed to American development of the H-bomb. The average citizen will wonder why he was so active in matters outside the field of science, but it is only fair that the Oppenheimer case not be prejudged till all the facts are revealed.

Baering Down On The News

By Arthur "Bugs" Baer

We're skidding into the Geneva Conference with our brakes on.

The subject to be avoided is what France wants when it's apple blossom time in the paper flower factory.

Paris never did get around to ratifying the European Defense Community. Even though Premier Laniel had promised Churchill and Eisenhower at Bermuda that he would be a good boy and take his castor oil.

France doesn't want Germany to re-arm wtih anything that can hurt a man. The Saar is also up for grabs and the Ruhr is going bait.

Prime propositioner Dulles is not being trapped by the better mouse. He had Indochina aid gift-wrapped and ready to deliver. Provided France plays ball Dulles will drop the winning bingo buttons in the suggestion box.

In diplomacy you play both ends against the middle like a hoop snake with molasses on its tail.

The French want us to make kowtows to Red China provided China will stop sending jet chopsticks to the Indo-Commies. They also want guarantees that Germany doesn't ask big Bertha for the next dance.

Another joker in the cold deck is America must pledge our army on the Rhine. You can lead a hoss to water but a mule demands room service.

After we find out what's holding peace up we'll start worrying about the leaning tower of Pisa. Looks like UN had added another city to its television circuit.

Unless we get a reprieve we'll be in Geneva in 10 days.

There will be no new business. It will be the old business the same as usual during altercations.

The Oppenheimer Case

By Joseph And Stewart Alsop

WASHINGTON

It may seem odd that anyone should be called upon to defend the loyalty of the man who, more than any other man, first gave this country the atomic bomb. Ever since the war, after all, the atomic bomb has been the principal military weapon in the free world's arsenal in the struggle against Soviet imperialism.

Yet this man, the great physicist J. Robert Oppenheimer, is now under attack. As recently revealed by these reporters, hearings are currently being held to determine whether or not Dr. Oppenheimer is a loyal American citizen. What is more, Sen. Joseph R. McCarthy is making preparations to rescue himself from his present low political estate by destroying Oppenheimer.

It is true, as his friends and admirers admit, that there was a time in the late '30s and early '40s when Dr. Oppenheimer showed bad political judgment. It is always conceivable that he showed worse than bad judgment—anything is conceivable in these times of the wars of political religions. But to those who know the brilliantly able Oppenheimer, this is only conceivable in theory.

Dr. Oppenheimer will certainly have a fair hearing from the board of three fair-minded men, headed by former Secretary of the Army Gordon Gray, who have been recruited to hear his case. But he will have anything but a fair hearing from McCarthy. And just because he is unquestionably vulnerable to McCarthy's brand of attack, it is worth trying to understand how so brilliant a man came to exercise bad political judgment a decade and a half ago.

Naive About Politics

In the first place, through all his early years, until he was well over thirty years old, Dr. Oppenheimer knew hardly more about politics than a child. This was in the days when only a comparative handful of men in the whole world were practicing theoretical physicists. The physicist lived in a closed and cloistered world of his own. The rest of the world could not understand even the basic language which he used to communicate his ideas, and thus the rest of the world meant little to him.

This remarkable isolation lasted, for Dr. Oppenheimer, until about 1936, four years after Hitler came to power. At about this point, the outside world suddenly burst, as it were, into his laboratory. It was not a pretty world.

In 1936, after all, and in the years that followed, the Western democracies and the Soviet Union alike were on the defensive against the onrush of Germany and its Fascist allies. Adolf Hitler was moving from triumph to triumph, slaughtering Oppenheimer's fellow Jews as he moved. Among these fellow Jews were relatives of Oppenheimer in Germany, some of whom he succeeded in rescuing, but some of whom he did not.

In the circumstances, it is not altogether surprising that Dr. Oppenheimer experienced a somewhat emotional reaction to his belated awakening to politics. Under similar pressures, some silly people—like Oppenheimer's younger brother, who joined the Communist party briefly, and who even stupidly flirted with the Wallace movement after he had resigned from the party—completely lost their balance.

"Woolly-Headed" Actions

From the evidence presently available, Oppenheimer never lost his balance this way. He never considered himself a pro-Communist. For one thing, "Marxism never made sense" to him. But like other respectable and politically naive people, he did, no doubt, consider the Communists as faintly disreputable but useful allies in the fight against nazism, just as respectable people now consider Fascists, foreign or homegrown, useful allies in the fight against communism.

In those days Dr. Oppenheimer, no doubt, occasionally associated with Communists. His wife, who had a youthful left-wing history, knew Communist leader Steve Nelson, for example, and Oppenheimer was introduced to Nelson. For the same reasons, it is believed that he more than once contributed to causes—especially the Loyalist cause in Spain—which the Communists sponsored.

All this was certainly very woolly-headed. Although the Soviet Union was then on the defensive, the Communists were then as much the promoters of the night of the mind as ever since. It may be said, too, that Dr. Oppenheimer, when in 1949 and 1950 he experienced a moral horror about the hydrogen bomb, was being woolly-headed again.

But this moral revulsion is also at least understandable, where a weapon which can kill several million people at a stroke is concerned.

And somehow it does not seem likely that the United States is ready to cast its greatest physicist into outer darkness, as punishment for the woolly-headedness of a decade and a half ago—not unless Senator McCarthy has more successfully promoted the night of the mind in the United States than most people realize.

Stereoscopic X-Ray Of Much Help In Heart Disease

By Dr. Theodore R. Van Dellen

The 3-D movie has nothing on many of the advances in the field of X-ray. Through daring techniques and novel machines, almost every organ of the body can be visualized. There are devices for making such rapid exposures, serial pictures of the heart can be taken during different phases of the beat. Good X-ray equipment is needed as well as non-toxic solutions that can be injected into the blood to show up the vessels under X-ray.

Solutions of this nature have been available for many years but were not entirely satisfactory because the X-ray equipment necessary to make them successful had not yet been invented. Furthermore, the procedures fell into disrepute because the injected dyes were diluted by the blood before X-rays could be taken; the pictures were so faint they were of little or no practical value.

With improvements in techniques and equipment, and with more concentrated solutions, our physicians finally were able to trace the movement of the solutions through every phase of transit into the heart chambers, the arteries of the lungs, and the remainder of the body.

The practical aspect is best demonstrated in the preparation of the blue baby for operation. Fifteen years ago, nothing could be done for children born with this type of heart defect. Now, through surgery, new openings can be made and defects in the various partitions between the auricles and the ventricles can be closed. In other disorders, a diseased section of an artery may be removed and the cut ends of the blood vessel joined with artery grafts or plastic materials. For a successful outcome, the surgeon must be certain of his diagnosis before venturing through the chest cavity and into the heart. It is here that X-rays to the rescue by demonstrating the size and position of the defect so that the surgeon knows what to expect and what to do long before the operation is performed.

One of the latest X-ray devices looks like a large wheel without hub or spokes. Inside are two X-ray tubes and cameras that take pictures of the heart simultaneously from side and front. The apparatus is controlled by an electronic timer capable of taking pictures every one-sixth to one-half of a second. When a patient is placed in this device, and the solution is injected into the heart, pictures of the material as it moves through the heart and lungs are taken so rapidly they are as close to X-ray movies as we can get. When defects exist, the liquids go the wrong way or pass through openings that should not be there. All the films are taken from two angles (stereoscopic), which adds to the accuracy of the procedure. The same plan is used to follow the blood stream in the brain; if the normal passageway is displaced or distorted, tumor, hemorrhage, or adhesions may be pushing the blood vessel out of place.

TOMORROW: The meaning of fever.

HEREDITY AND BIRTHMARKS

Mrs. M. F. writes: A few days after our baby was born a hemangioma formed under her right eye. I have heard that this defect is hereditary even though we know of no other members in our family who were so afflicted. Wouldl you please confirm or deny this statement?

REPLY

Birthmarks are not hereditary. These defects have been referred to as "mistakes of nature."

NAUSEA

H. L. S. writes: What would cause a woman of 54 to feel nauseated, whether the stomach is full or empty?

REPLY

Nausea may represent a form of indigestion that stems from a disturbance of the gall bladder, liver or stomach. The symptom also may be of nervous origin or a temporary condition that will pass.

To the limit of space, questions pertaining to the prevention of disease will be answered. Personal replies will be made under proper limitations, when return stamped envelope is enclosed. Dr. Van Dellen will not make diagnosis or prescribe for individual diseases.

Try And Stop Me

By Bennett Cerf

In the old days of tremendous country houses, there was one monster of a place in Lenox, Mass., called "Shadowbrook." To show you how big it was, there's the story of the owner's son wiring from Yale, "Arriving this evening with crowd of 76 classmates." The owner wired back, "Sorry, but many guests already are here. Have room for only 50."

Have you heard about the poor fellow who had been a Jonah all his life? Finally he got a break. When he died, and they were digging his grave—they struck oil!

A couple who were not in the top drawer of Newport society, once wangled an invitation to a gala event, but since they knew few of the guests, had a rather grim time of it. At 9:30 p. m., they tried to sneak home, but the late Harry Lehr put a stop to that. "Sit down," he commanded. "You're not rich enough to leave first."

Officials Check Channel Project

City and federal officials have inspected the Wills Creek channel improvement contract which is slated to be completed within a few days.

The tour was made Tuesday by C. R. Nuzum, city engineer; Rex E. Dexter, resident engineer for the Corps of Engineers, and E. E. Gronbach, general superintendent for the E. J. Albrecht Company on flood control projects in Wills Creek and the Industrial Dam.

The last concrete for the paving job was poured Monday, and the company expects to have all the work done this week.

The project included some 3,000 feet of channel paving, beginning at the Esso bulk plant in the Narrows, and ending at the rear of the Zimmerla Machine Shop.

The contract was awarded to the Albrecht firm on February 21, 1952, for $1,606,725. Two other contracts are planned to complete the creek channel work — but in the final stage of the flood project.

Victims Of Mishaps Are Reported Good

Three persons injured critically in two separate accidents on Sunday, April 4, are reported in "good" condition at Memorial Hospital.

John W. Kreitzburg, 30, of 412 Maryland Avenue, a Western Maryland Railway employe, was injured in the fatal airplane crash on Mexico Farms which claimed the life of Percy L. Ruby, 32, of 106 Park Street, pilot of the plane.

James Arthur Meyers, 16, of Carpenter's Addition, and Richard Brooks, 17, RFD 1, Ridgeley, were admitted to the hospital when the auto in which they were riding crashed through a guardrail and overturned at the intersection of W. Va. Route 28 and 28E in Wiley Ford.

Officers Nominated By Men Of LaSalle

Eight members of Men of LaSalle were nominated for the four offices of the organization at a meeting Monday night in Carroll Hall.

Although they were not nominated for specific offices last night, an election with additional nominees selected will be held on May 10 at 8 p.m. in Carroll Hall.

The nominees thus far include John Brode, Edward Mason, George Marton, Francis Ford, Thomas Connelly, Joseph Barry, William Siebert and William Lovenstein. Edward McGraw, president was in charge of the meeting.

Also discussed was the coming bazar sponsored by the group. Offices to be filled are president, vice president, secretary, and treasurer.

Salvationists Plan Pre-Easter Service

A Night of Prayer will be held Saturday at the Salvation Army Citadel, 115 North Mechanic Street, in preparation for Easter services, according to Capt. Daniel K. Biggs, commander.

The all-night service will begin at 7 p. m. and continue until 7 o'clock on Easter morning, with Salvationists alternately praying and reading the Bible for one-hour periods.

Easter services at the Citadel will begin with Sunday School at 9:45 a. m., followed by worship services at 11 a. m. and 7:45 p. m.

St. Philip's Plans Devotional Service

There will be a devotional service at St. Philip's Chapel this evening, conducted by Robert Powell, a student at Morgan College, Baltimore, who is preparing for the Episcopal priesthood.

A service of Holy Communion is scheduled for 8 a. m. on Easter Day with Venerable Albert H. Lucas, archdeacon of the Diocese of Maryland, as celebrant. There will be no special Church School service on Easter. The pupils are instructed to attend the Parish Eucharist at 8 a. m. at which time awards will be made.

Rev. G. Stanley Schwind, priest in charge of the chapel, announces that he will administer the Holy Communion privately to the sick during the Eastertide.

Fr. Farrell To Preach Holy Week Sermons

Rev. Bertin Farrell, Baltimore, a Passionist missionary, will preach the Lenten sermon tonight at 7:30 o'clock in St. Patrick's Catholic Church, according to Very Rev. J. Lawrence Kilkenny, pastor.

Father Farrell will also give the meditation at the Three Hours Agony planned Friday from noon until 3 p. m. Stations of the Cross will follow at 5 p. m. and Father Farrell will deliver a Good Friday sermon at 7:30 p. m.

Holy Saturday services begin at 6 a. m. with the blessing of the New Fire, the Paschal Candle and Baptismal water. The Mass of the Resurrection will be held at 8 a. m. Confessions will be held Saturday from 4 to 6 p. m. and from 7:15 to 9 p. m.

Information Filed In Morals Case

A criminal information naming Thomas Eugene Bates, 42, of Gay Street, and Oscar Vernon Meeks, 30, of Glenwood Street, on morals charges was filed yesterday in Allegany County Circuit Court by the State's Attorney's office.

Jobless Report Given By State

BALTIMORE, April 14 (AP)-Maryland sent out 26,591 unemployment checks last week, the top for the current economic downswing but fewer, by far, state officials said, than during the 1949 recession.

A total of 9,070 workers newly laid off asked unemployment benefits last week 100 fewer than the previous week.

The 9,000 new claims in each of April's first two weeks compared with an average of about 4,000 a week in March, 3,800 in February and 6,000 in January. The new claims were about 6,000 over the April average of last year.

Payments totaled $659,266 this year and $219,821 last year. Benefits were liberalized last June.

Chairman Daniel E. Kline of the State Employment Security Board said the mechanics of the compensation system are at least partly responsible for the higher figures last week since April 1 starts a new benefit year and the figures almost always go up the first few weeks of April.

Permits Are Issued For Two Dwellings

Permits to build two dwellings were issued yesterday by the City Building Engineer's office.

J. B. Harris, Pursglove, W. Va., secured a permit to build a 40-by-28-foot brick dwelling on Lots 44 and 45 of Blake Terrace in Glen Jean Addition. The home is to be built by the Scott Lumber Company, Wheeling, W. Va., and is slated to cost about $13,500.

H. R. Redinger, 710 St. Mary's Avenue, secured a permit to build a one-story brick dwelling, 28 by 32 feet in diameter, on Lot 13, Block 22 of Oldtown Road. Cost is estimated at $5,000.

Five Area Men Join Navy Here

Five men were enlisted at the U. S. Navy Recruiting Station here and sent this week to Bainbridge for basic training.

Homer Dale Elbin, Artemas, Pa., enlisted for a minority period.

Enlisting for four years each were Raymond Elwood Vinci, Nikep; Charles Paul Montgomery Jr., RFD 3, here; Robert Norman Sponaugle, Davis, W. Va.; and Richard Lee Fields, Springfield.

Navy recruiters said yesterday that enlistments are open for qualified and able bodied men and applications are now being accepted from young men who will graduate from high school in this area in June.

They emphasize that application should be made now before the local quota for graduates is filled.

Child Injured When Hit By Ball Bat

An 11-year-old LaVale girl was admitted to Sacred Heart Hospital yesterday evening suffering a nose injury sustained when she was accidentally struck by a baseball bat.

Greenbrier Man Named Master W. Va. Shepherd

JACKSON'S MILL, W. Va.—C. Burton Gibbs, Greenbrier County farmer, was named West Virginia's Master Shepherd for 1953 Tuesday.

The winner was announced at the 54th annual meeting of the West Virginia Livestock Association held in connection with the annual Spring Livestock Roundup.

Sponsored by the Agricultural Extension Service of West Virginia University, the Baltimore and Ohio Railroad and the West Virginia Livestock Association, the project is planned to stimulate interest in market lamb production.

Gibbs entered the program for the first time this year. From his flock of 36 high-grade Suffolk ewes, bred in the fall of 1952 to a pure-bred Suffolk ram, Gibbs sold or kept 51 lambs. The gross income from lambs per ewe bred was $34.31. In addition he had a gross income per ewe bred from wool of $3.25, making a total gross income from each ewe bred of $37.56.

The Greenbrier County farmer was one of four regional winners from among whom the Master Shepherd was selected. In Region 1, Roy B. Frye of Hampshire County was the winner. Trailing him in that region were Hugh Moyers of Pendleton County, second; Hansel Hedrick of Pendleton County, third, and Mervin Runion of Grant County, fourth.

Edward Beall Named In Alleged Shortages In Accounts At Portsmouth, Ohio Hospital

Edward T. Beall, former assistant to the superintendent of personnel at the Amcelle plant of the Celanese Corporation, has been named in six "findings for recovery" involving $2,458.56 of alleged shortages in accounts of the municipally-owned hospital at Portsmouth, Ohio.

Currently Montgomery County manager and formerly city manager at Portsmouth, Beall has been granted leave "of a few days" by Montgomery County Council to clear up the reports. At the same time the council hired two attorneys, Plummer M. Shearin, Silver Spring, and David E. Betts, Rockville, to make a thorough check of the allegations. Both are going to Portsmouth.

Beall had operated the Portsmouth hospital for a period in 1952 when it was without an official director. He came to Montgomery County last September after resigning the Portsmouth manager post.

In commenting on the findings, Beall said they are "simply a technicality" and he was named only because he was the official in charge. The charges were "all known and investigated" while he was in Portsmouth, Beall added.

Findings Listed

Specifically, the findings by examiners of the Ohio state auditor are as follows:

1. Fifty dollars unaccounted for from hospital collections. They said the money was missing from the cash drawer June 23, 1952. This was one week before Lawrence Brett left as director of the hospital to take a hospital post in Cincinnati. Brett and Beall were named jointly in this finding.

2. On September 23, 1952, $738.81 was alleged to have been received at the hospital but not paid into the city treasury. This finding was against Beall alone.

3. Allegedly $755.33 was collected September 21 and October 12 and not turned into the city treasury. Both Beall and his secretary, Mrs. Nadine Pierce, were named.

4. The sum of $236.69 paid for drugs alleged to have been purchased for Beall's personal account in 1951 and charged to the hospital but not repaid by Beall. They involved several orders of cortisone, a drug used in treatment of arthritis.

Lumber Purchase

5. Lumber worth $22.94 allegedly purchased for Beall's personal use and charged to the hospital.

6. The sum of $654.79 which the examiners said was missing from the hospital safe representing the collections of May 6, 1953. In this finding, Beall was named jointly with Arthur Carvolth, the new hospital director. The examiners said Carvolth had reported the loss immediately to Beall and to police.

Montgomery County Council President Harold F. Hammond said "Beall has the right to have this matter cleaned up," and added the county manager came from an industrial city where there's "a hot political situation all the time." Beall is Montgomery County's second manager.

More Study Needed

William H. Harsha, Scioto County (O.) prosecutor, said a "further study of the audit will be needed prior to determining whether criminal action is warranted."

"Civil action will be taken against Beall and his bonding company if they won't pay for it voluntarily," Harsha added.

Carvolth, who was praised in the report, according to Haecker, for instituting new bookkeeping methods at the hospital, reported the money missing from the safe to both Beall and police, the examiners said they found.

Of the $755.33 iter allegedly not turned into the city treasury, Examiner R. E. Haecker said the examiners were told by Mrs. Pierce that she last saw the money in Beall's desk at the hospital.

Beall explained that he did not visit this office every day, and said various other persons either put money in or took it from the desk.

Never Heard Of Items

Of the drugs and lumber, Beall said he had "never heard" of either item. And of the sum missing from the hospital safe, Beall said the strongbox contained three days' collections and that he had not been near the hospital at that time.

Haecker declared that the 142-page report includes testimony given voluntarily by hospital employes that bed sheets, linen, lamps and other articles had been taken from the Portsmouth hospital to Beall's home.

Beall's wife said from their Norwood (Md.) home that "I'm going to stick right by his side; there must be politics involved.

"He (Beall) investigated those shortages, and they were investigated by the police and the FBI," said Mrs. Beall. "He was never near the hospital when the money was lost."

Parsons Girl Guest Artist With Symphony

Sally Ann English Will Sing Tonight

PARSONS — Miss Sally Ann English, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James L. English of Parsons will be featured with the Virginia Symphony Orchestra when they appear in Parsons this evening.

The Virginia Symphony Orchestra of Richmond, will present two concerts in Parsons High School auditorium under the direction of William Haaker.

The first concert will be the student concert to be presented at 1:15 p.m. The orchestra's student concerts are a feature portion of the tour for they are of an educational nature. Each of the instruments is introduced and some melody familiar to the particular instrument is demonstrated.

The evening concert has been set for 8:30 p.m. due to the Holy Week services being held this week in Parsons. The program will open with the overture to "Die Fledermous". "Syncopated Clock" by LeRoy Anderson and the Carmen suite are among other selections included on the program which is the last of the three concerts sponsored by the Tucker County Family Concert Association this season.

Miss English, a senior at Madison College, Harrisonburg, Va., will sing selections from "Figaro" by Mozart. She is a graduate of Parsons High School with the class of 1949 and is majoring in music at Madison College, where she is a member of the Glee Club and also sings in a choir.

Mt. Calvary Sets Good Friday Service

WESTERNPORT—Good Friday services will be held at Mt. Calvary Lutheran Church from noon to 1 p. m., Rev. Robert E. Cassell, pastor, states. This was voted by the congregation on a recent Sunday.

The service will be one of meditation and prayer on the part of the congregation and visitors. The public is invited to attend this special service.

Solos will be sung by John DeVore, C. A. Beck Jr., Miss Sally Beck, Miss Mary K. Poland and Mrs. Heber Poland.

Scouts Plant 15,000 Trees

DAVIS — Two hundred and seventy-five Boy Scouts and their leaders planted 15,000 trees on Blackwater Falls State Park and Monongahela Forest lands on Saturday with the boys camping at the Park on Friday evening. In addition to their camping and conservation experience they were given a tour of Blackwater Falls.

Troops taking part in the Green Thumb planting project were from Clarksburg, Elkins, Weston, Buckhannon and Morgantown. Thirty-five leaders accompanied the Scouts and assisted in the planting of Norway Spruce and Red Pine seedlings. Civic organizations and business men of Davis provided food for the boys on Saturday. U. S. Forest Service Rangers and Conservation Commission employes supervised the planting. Several others interested in development of the area also volunteered their assistance.

PARSONS — The Rev. Andrew B. Mann, pastor of the Thomas and Davis Presbyterian Churches will conduct his 30th annual Holy Friday service in the Thomas Church from 1:30 to 3 p. m. with the theme "Last Seven Sayings of Christ on the Cross."

Mrs. Dorcas Wolfe, will be organist and choir director, for the program that will open with the Prelude, Processional, Doxology, Invocation and Scriptures. A period of Silent Prayer will be observed after which the choir will sing "The Christ of the Cross."

Rev. Mann will deliver the first of the seven sayings which will be "Father Forgive" and the choir will sing "On Yonder Cross." The second address "Today Shalt Thou Be" will be followed by a quartet composed of Elizabeth and Margaret Harper, Thomas Stemple and Judith Ann Stevens singing "At Sunset."

The third address "Behold Thy Mother" will be given after which the choir will sing, "It Was For Me." The fourth address by the pastor will be "My God, My God," after which Miss Judith Ann Stevens will sing "Robe of Cavalry."

The fifth address will be "I Thirst" and Miss Wilda Wolford and Eileen Bozic will sing a duet "The Old Rugged Cross." The sixth address "It is Finished" will be followed by the choir singing "Were Ye There." The last sayings "Into Thy Hands" will be given and the choir will follow with "Lead Me to Cavalry."

Following a period of Silent Prayer the quartet will sing "Willing to Take the Cross" and the Benediction by the pastor will conclude the program.

Other Services Scheduled

St. John's Methodist Church of Parsons will observe their seventh annual Holy Friday service in the church with Holy Communion from noon until 3 p. m. The pastor, Rev. Robert L. Greynolds will officiate. Special music will also be featured throughout the hours.

The Hambleton Youth Fellowship of the Methodist Church will hold an Easter Sunrise service in the church on Sunday morning at 6 o'clock. Mrs. Isaac Armstrong is their leader. The program will be an entire participation by the Youth of the community.

The third annual Easter Egg hunt sponsored by the Church of the Brethren of Hambleton will be held Saturday afternoon at 2 p. m. for all of the youngsters of that community. The egg hunt is sponsored each year by the Sunday School of the church.

Arctic Radar Fence An Aid To Defense

President Eisenhower recently spoke of a number of "counterbalancing factors" which would deter the Russians from using the H-bomb in aggression. First and foremost, of course, is the threat of the American bomb used against Russia and Russians. The list would also include other aspects of U. S. defense.

Certainly the new Arctic radar fence, which was announced jointly by U. S. Defense Secretary Wilson and his Canadian contemporary, Brooke Claxton, is on it.

The thinking apparently goes like this: With the diameter of the bomb damage circle now stretched from 10 miles to perhaps 25, the most precious commodity is time—time to get people out of congested areas and under cover and to get set to retaliate. Construction of a radar fence across the Arctic wastes would give the United States a six-hour warning, which could mean the difference between life and death for millions of people in populous industrial centers.

The new screen would parallel the so-called Pine Tree chain, which was a joint Canadian-American project begun in 1951. According to Secretary Wilson's announcement, advance work is now under way, and, while no completion date was set, it can be assumed that there will still be dangerously wide holes through which enemy aerial units could slip for at least another year.

The radar fence will link two far northern defense bastions—Alaska on the west and Thule Air Base on the east. In the meantime, the exposed oceanic flanks of the continent will be protected by the Air Force and Navy with new electronics developments, such as flying radar stations, and ground based warning stations which are fully automatic.

These make such a monumental project as a continental warning system practical, and not just theoretical. Nothing as static as an expensive chain of radar installations can be a "counterbalancing factor" if it assumes the immobility of a Maginot Line.

These Days

By George E. Sokolsky

Court-Martial Required

The publication of "The Final Secret of Pearl Harbor," by Rear Admiral Robert A. Theobald, really calls for the court-martial of Rear Admiral Husband E. Kimmel. Only by such a process can justice be done to one of the two men who have been accused of the crime of Pearl Harbor without ever having been given a trial. The other, General Walter C. Short, died.

That so-called Japanese sneak attack cost the American people 3,303 dead, 1,272 wounded. Fleet Admiral William F. Halsey says in his foreword to Admiral Theobald's book:

"I have always considered Admiral Kimmel and General Short to be splendid officers who were thrown to the wolves as scapegoats for something over which they had no control. They had to work with what they were given, both in equipment and information. They are our outstanding military martyrs."

Neither patriotism nor wartime security measures can, in this year 1954, be used as an excuse to cover up the crime of Pearl Harbor. The negligence was either at Pearl Harbor or in the Pentagon. Someone blundered or Pearl Harbor could not have happened. Admiral Theobald puts the blame directly upon President Franklin D. Roosevelt and General George Marshall; the official record puts the blame on Admiral Kimmel and General Short. Somebody is incorrect. A court-martial could produce the facts.

Admiral Theobald says:

"It is firmly believed that those in Washington who knew the facts, decided from the first that considerations of patriotism and loyalty to their wartime commander-in-chief required that a veil of secrecy should be drawn about the President's handling of the situation which culminated in the Pearl Harbor attack."

Enough of these men are alive to give their testimony. General George Marshall is alive as are Admiral Kimmel and Admirals Theobald and Halsey. Admiral Theobald's charge is that President Roosevelt deliberately needled Japan into war. He states his charges as follows:

"To implement the solution of his problem, the President: (1) instituted a successful campaign to correct the nation's military unpreparedness; (2) offered Germany repeated provocations, by violations of neutrality and diplomatic usage; (3) applied ever-increasing diplomatic-economic pressure upon Japan, which reached its sustained climax on July 25, 1941, when the United States, Great Britain, and the Netherlands stopped their trade with Japan and subjected her to almost complete economic encirclement; (4) made mutual commitments with the British prime minister at Newfoundland in August 1941 which promised mutual support in the event that the United States, Great Britain, or a third country not then at war were attacked by Japan in the Pacific; (5) terminated the Washington Conference with the note of November 26, 1941, which gave Japan no choice but surrender or war; (6) retained a weak Pacific Fleet in Hawaiian waters, despite contrary naval advice, where it served only one diplomatic purpose, an invitation to a Japanese surprise attack; (7) furthered that surprise by causing the Hawaiian commanders to be denied invaluable information from decoded Japanese dispatches concerning the rapid approach of the war and the strong probability that the attack would be directed at Pearl Harbor."

The value of a court-martial is that it will confirm Admiral Theobald's charges or prove them to be false. After Admiral Kimmel dies, it will not matter to him, but this will be a problem for research in American history for decades and his direct testimony ought to be made available. The various hearings, held in war years, have proved to be inconclusive. What is needed is a dispassionate search for the truth, with an opportunity for all who know the facts to testify in accordance with rules of evidence and under oath.

The tendency of most public services is to cover up errors and to go ahead. But Pearl Harbor was a frightful experience and the loss of American lives was high. The truth ought to be told without fear and without regard for anyone's reputation. When the great make mistakes, they are great mistakes sometimes leading to the destruction of a nation. When Hitler followed Napoleon to Moscow, he made the same mistake that Napoleon did and he reduced Germany to a subject nation. But he also involved the rest of the world in a state of permanent war and he set off revolutionary changes in Asia which he could not have anticipated. The Pearl Harbor incident is of this historic order.

Cards Piled Against Secretary Dulles In Parleys With European Leaders

By Drew Pearson

WASHINGTON — The importance and difficulty of Secretary of State Dulles' European mission are illustrated by the backstage diplomatic conversations which occurred in Washington before he left.

What happened was that when President Eisenhower first made up his mind to intervene in Indochina, our Western allies were immediately contacted and asked for joint cooperation. They replied in the negative.

This negative word was received by the White House before Secretary Dulles and Admiral Radford, chairman of the Joint Chiefs of Staff, had their important secret session with congressional leaders of both parties to sound them out on Indochina. In fact, French Ambassador Bonnet conferred with Dulles at 10:30 a. m., just before Dulles saw the senators at 2:30 Saturday.

At the latter meeting, Admiral Radford proposed military intervention by the United States alone. He wanted to send four airplane carriers from the Philippines to the Indochinese coast. The senators immediately demanded that the British, French, and our other Western allies cooperate. What the senators and congressmen did not know, and what Secretary Dulles did tell them, was that the Allies already had been approached and had declined to cooperate.

So Dulles has been trying to put across, face-to-face, in Paris and London, what he failed to put across when dealing through ambassadors.

Richest Man

The richest man in the U.S.A., H. L. Hunte of Texas, recently received a call from the man who loaned him his first dollar.

Hunt was stopping at the Mayflower Hotel in Washington when Emory S. Avant, manager of a much more modest hotel, knocked on his door. At first Hunt didn't answer. He was talking on the long-distance phone. Finally he came to the door, but did not open it.

"Who is it?" he asked cautiously.

"Emory Avant of El Dorado, Arkansas," was the reply.

Hunt unlocked the door and let his caller in.

Avant had been publisher of the El Dorado Times back in the days before Hunt drilled his first oil well. Now he is manager of the Manchester Hotel on 14th and M streets in Washington. Hunt remembered him, though he didn't seem too enthusiastic about seeing him, perhaps because Avant was peeved over the fact that he had written Hunt in Texas and received in reply merely some literature on the Bricker Amendment.

"That's not the kind of brush-off to give an old friend," said Avant. "Do you remember when I used to take you out to the cafeteria and buy you meals?"

Hunt said he did remember. He also remembered how he had come into the El Dorado Times office to borrow stationery, and didn't know when he could pay it back.

Avant had an oil painting he was trying to sell, and hoped Hunt might be interested, but his old friend felt he had enough to do without going into the art business.

So Avant went back to his modest Manchester Hotel while Hunt went on to the Waldorf-Astoria in New York where he's busy operating the Facts Forum radio-TV program, State of the Nation, Reporters Round-Up, and Answers for Americans; together with his campaign for the Bricker Amendment, for Joe McCarthy, and against so many other things that Hunt himself can scarcely remember them.

Merry-Go-Round

White House strategists are wooing Sen. Stuart Symington, the able but sometimes politically naive Democratic senator from Missouri. They figure they can switch him over to the GOP on some issues, also fear his effective attacks on military budget reductions. . . That's one reason Stuart was out on the golf links with Ike the other day when fellow senators were trying to get his vote on the McCarthy Committee Counsel. . . . Ike's brother Milton, president of Penn State, has been having trouble with the Daughters of the American Revolution. The ladies are quoting his 1947 statement that UNESCO marks "very real progress toward the genuine goal of world government.". . . . Milton had to write a letter to Congressman Merrow of New Hampshire explaining that he wasn't for world government, though he was strong for the United Nations. . . . Milton served some time as chairman of the U. S. delegation to UNESCO during the Truman administration, and in the days when he made the statement it was more fashionable to talk about world cooperation. Today the isolationist wave has sent various people running for political foxholes.

Taft-Hartley Debate

To understand why the House of Representatives is tightening the Taft-Hartley Labor Act rather than liberalizing it as Eisenhower requested, you need only examine the philosophy of Congressman Ralph Gwinn of Bronxville, N. Y., second ranking Republican on the House Labor Committee.

Gwinn, an ultra reactionary and proud of it, is about 100 miles to the right of most conservatives in his own party, though he has some worthy rivals among the Democrats, including wing-collared Congressman Howard Worth Smith of Broad Run, Va.

The New Yorker also is an inveterate user of his free mailing frank for propaganda purposes and has achieved the record of mailing 2,500,000 letters against housing, aid-to-education, etc., largely on behalf of business lobbies.

Long ago, Gwinn refused to recognize organized labor except as a "socialistic" menace to the United States. To Gwinn, a trade union is not an organization of working men and women strugglig for better wages or working conditions. It is "organized violence" against employers.

Oppenheimer Case Shows Government's Problem

By David Lawrence

WASHINGTON — The strange case of Dr. J. Robert Oppenheimer, leading atomic scientist, who has been formally suspended by President Eisenhower and the Atomic Energy Commission from access to classified material pending a study of his security status, illustrates better than millions of words of debate or television pictures what a difficult problem the Government of the United States is up against nowadays.

On the one hand, the congressional committees are assailed as unfair and as engaged in "witch hunting," and the cry is heard that every man must be considered innocent until proved guilty. But, on the other hand, affiliation with the government is not a right or privilege and employes can be ruled as security risks merely because there is reasonable doubt as to their eligibility to remain in the government. It is not a court procedure at all.

AEC Issues Statement

At this writing, nobody knows whether Dr. Oppenheimer is or is not a good security risk for continuance as a member of the science advisory committee under the Office of Defense Mobilization. His file has been under review for some time, and his suspension took place in December 1953. In accordance with the rules of fair play, the Eisenhower administration didn't publicize this fact. It refused to be a party to the arousing of public suspicion, since it was not prejudging the case but was dealing with it confidentially and in an orderly manner.

Then how did it get into the headlines? It came from the Oppenheimer side. Selected newspaper reporters were given all the documents and the right to publish them Tuesday morning. The all-important fact that the initiative came from the Oppenheimer side—probably his attorneys—was not disclosed in the press in the articles on Tuesday morning. The Atomic Energy Commission, however, promptly issued a statement, declaring that it had sought to "protect the privacy of individuals appearing before its personnel security boards" and that "departure from this practice in this instance is only due to the fact that Dr. Oppenheimer has exercised his privilege of making public an account of the matter."

Why did Dr. Oppenheimer decide on full publicity? It is often done as a device to forestall an attack, and perhaps in this case the hint given by Senator McCarthy in his television speech last week—without mentioning any names—that there was something mysterious about the delay in deciding to make the H-bomb indicated that maybe the Wisconsin senator himself was going to blow the lid off. Hence it may have seemed better to get all the documents out first, with the Oppenheimer version given sympathetic handling in the press.

Now it is disclosed by Senator Mundt of South Dakota and by members of the House that the whole matter was under scrutiny by the McCarthy Committee about last May but that the Wisconsin senator had decided several months ago not to go into the subject, since it would be handled by another committee or executive agency.

May Have Made Mistake

It could be that the speech by Senator McCarthy had no relationship to the Oppenheimer publicity effort to argue the case in advance, yet the effect was to link the two in public speculation. The situation is by no means clarified yet, and the strategists who advised Dr. Oppenheimer may find in the end they made a mistake in forcing the case into the open before all the facts had been gathered and the investigation had been completed.

So far as the public is concerned, it now will want to know not so much the details of the "derogatory information" in the file of Dr. Oppenheimer—as the phrase is used by the Atomic Energy Commission in its statement—but the reasons and motivations for some of the curious recommendations of policy made by the scientist. In the top councils of the government, for example, he opposed the strategic air command concept of the U. S. Air Force and delved in military strategy. He opposed the use of bombs as a "deterrent." He argued for more disclosures to the world of atomic data, and he was opposed to the development of the H-bomb. A restatement of Dr. Oppenheimer's views now becomes more important than ever.

The whole episode illustrates why it isn't so easy to dispose of security questions without a lot of background and why publicity isn't always the fault of the congressional committees.

Dr. Oppenheimer was a leader and his leadership meant that nearly all the scientists were opposed to American development of the H-bomb. The average citizen will wonder why he was so active in matters outside the field of science, but it is only fair that the Oppenheimer case not be prejudged till all the facts are revealed.

Baering Down On The News

By Arthur "Bugs" Baer

We're skidding into the Geneva Conference with our brakes on.

The subject to be avoided is what France wants when it's apple blossom time in the paper flower factory.

Paris never did get around to ratifying the European Defense Community. Even though Premier Laniel had promised Churchill and Eisenhower at Bermuda that he would be a good boy and take his castor oil.

France doesn't want Germany to re-arm wtih anything that can hurt a man. The Saar is also up for grabs and the Ruhr is going bait.

Prime propositioner Dulles is not being trapped by the better mouse. He had Indochina aid gift-wrapped and ready to deliver. Provided France plays ball Dulles will drop the winning bingo buttons in the suggestion box.

In diplomacy you play both ends against the middle like a hoop snake with molasses on its tail.

The French want us to make kowtows to Red China provided China will stop sending jet chopsticks to the Indo-Commies. They also want guarantees that Germany doesn't ask big Bertha for the next dance.

Another joker in the cold deck is America must pledge our army on the Rhine. You can lead a hoss to water but a mule demands room service.

After we find out what's holding peace up we'll start worrying about the leaning tower of Pisa. Looks like UN had added another city to its television circuit.

Unless we get a reprieve we'll be in Geneva in 10 days.

There will be no new business. It will be the old business the same as usual during altercations.

By Dr. Theodore R. Van Dellen

The 3-D movie has nothing on many of the advances in the field of X-ray. Through daring techniques and novel machines, almost every organ of the body can be visualized. There are devices for making such rapid exposures, serial pictures of the heart can be taken during different phases of the beat. Good X-ray equipment is needed as well as non-toxic solutions that can be injected into the blood to show up the vessels under X-ray.

Solutions of this nature have been available for many years but were not entirely satisfactory because the X-ray equipment necessary to make them successful had not yet been invented. Furthermore, the procedures fell into disrepute because the injected dyes were diluted by the blood before X-rays could be taken; the pictures were so faint they were of little or no practical value.

With improvements in techniques and equipment, and with more concentrated solutions, our physicians finally were able to trace the movement of the solutions through every phase of transit into the heart chambers, the arteries of the lungs, and the remainder of the body.

The practical aspect is best demonstrated in the preparation of the blue baby for operation. Fifteen years ago, nothing could be done for children born with this type of heart defect. Now, through surgery, new openings can be made and defects in the various partitions between the auricles and the ventricles can be closed. In other disorders, a diseased section of an artery may be removed and the cut ends of the blood vessel joined with artery grafts or plastic materials. For a successful outcome, the surgeon must be certain of his diagnosis before venturing through the chest cavity and into the heart. It is here that X-rays to the rescue by demonstrating the size and position of the defect so that the surgeon knows what to expect and what to do long before the operation is performed.

One of the latest X-ray devices looks like a large wheel without hub or spokes. Inside are two X-ray tubes and cameras that take pictures of the heart simultaneously from side and front. The apparatus is controlled by an electronic timer capable of taking pictures every one-sixth to one-half of a second. When a patient is placed in this device, and the solution is injected into the heart, pictures of the material as it moves through the heart and lungs are taken so rapidly they are as close to X-ray movies as we can get. When defects exist, the liquids go the wrong way or pass through openings that should not be there. All the films are taken from two angles (stereoscopic), which adds to the accuracy of the procedure. The same plan is used to follow the blood stream in the brain; if the normal passageway is displaced or distorted, tumor, hemorrhage, or adhesions may be pushing the blood vessel out of place.

TOMORROW: The meaning of fever.

HEREDITY AND BIRTHMARKS

Mrs. M. F. writes: A few days after our baby was born a hemangioma formed under her right eye. I have heard that this defect is hereditary even though we know of no other members in our family who wer. so afflicted. Wouldl you please confirm or deny this statement?

REPLY

NAUSEA

H. L. S. writes: What would cause a woman of 54 to feel nauseated, whether the stomach is full or empty?

REPLY

Nausea may represent a form of indigestion that stems from a disturbance of the gall bladder, liver or stomach. The symptom also may be of nervous origin or a temporary condition that will pass.

To the limit of space, questions pertaining to the prevention of disease will be answered. Personal replies will be made under proper limitations, when return stamped envelope is enclosed. Dr. Van Dellen will not make diagnosis or prescribe for individual diseases.

Try And Stop Me

By Bennett Cerf

In the old days of tremendous country houses, there was one monster of a place in Lenox, Mass., called "Shadowbrook." To show you how big it was, there's the story of the owner's son wiring from Yale, "Arriving this evening with crowd of 76 classmates." The owner wired back, "Sorry, but many guests already are here. Have room for only 50."

Have you heard about the poor fellow who had been a Jonah all his life? Finally he got a break. When he died, and they were digging his grave—they struck oil!

A couple who were not in the top drawer of Newport society, once wangled an invitation to a gala event, but since they knew few of the guests, had a rather grim time of it. At 9:30 p. m., they tried to sneak home, but the late Harry Lehr put a stop to that. "Sit down," he commanded. "You're not rich enough to leave first."

The Oppenheimer Case

By Joseph And Stewart Alsop

WASHINGTON

It may seem odd that anyone should be called upon to defend the loyalty of the man who, more than any other man, first gave this country the atomic bomb. Ever since the war, after all, the atomic bomb has been the principal military weapon in the free world's arsenal in the struggle against Soviet imperialism.

Yet this man, the great physicist J. Robert Oppenheimer, is now under attack. As recently revealed by these reporters, hearings are currently being held to determine whether or not Dr. Oppenheimer is a loyal American citizen. What is more, Sen. Joseph R. McCarthy is making preparations to rescue himself from his present low political estate by destroying Oppenheimer.

It is true, as his friends and admirers admit, that there was a time in the late '30s and early '40s when Dr. Oppenheimer showed bad political judgment. It is always conceivable that he showed worse than bad judgment—anything is conceivable in these times of the wars of political religions. But to those who know the brilliantly able Oppenheimer, this is only conceivable in theory.

Dr. Oppenheimer will certainly have a fair hearing from the board of three fair-minded men, headed by former Secretary of the Army Gordon Gray, who have been recruited to hear his case. But he will have anything but a fair hearing from McCarthy. And just because he is unquestionably vulnerable to McCarthy's brand of attack, it is worth trying to understand how so brilliant a man came to exercise bad political judgment a decade and a half ago.

Naive About Politics

In the first place, through all his early years, until he was well over thirty years old, Dr. Oppenheimer knew hardly more about politics than a child. This was in the days when only a comparative handful of men in the whole world were practicing theoretical physicists. The physicist lived in a closed and cloistered world of his own. The rest of the world could not understand even the basic language which he used to communicate his ideas, and thus the rest of the world meant little to him.

This remarkable isolation lasted, for Dr. Oppenheimer, until about 1936, four years after Hitler came to power. At about this point, the outside world suddenly burst, as it were, into his laboratory. It was not a pretty world.

In 1936, after all, and in the years that followed, the Western democracies and the Soviet Union alike were on the defensive against the onrush of Germany and its Fascist allies. Adolf Hitler was moving from triumph to triumph, slaughtering Oppenheimer's fellow Jews as he moved. Among these fellow Jews were relatives of Oppenheimer in Germany, some of whom he succeeded in rescuing, but some of whom he did not.

In the circumstances, it is not altogether surprising that Dr. Oppenheimer experienced a somewhat emotional reaction to his belated awakening to politics. Under similar pressures, some silly people—like Oppenheimer's younger brother, who joined the Communist party briefly, and who even stupidly flirted with the Wallace movement after he had resigned from the party—completely lost their balance.

"Woolly-Headed" Actions

From the evidence presently available, Oppenheimer never lost his balance this way. He never considered himself a pro-Communist. For one thing, "Marxism never made sense" to him. But like other respectable and politically naive people, he did, no doubt, consider the Communists as faintly disreputable but useful allies in the fight against nazism, just as respectable people now consider Fascists, foreign or homegrown, useful allies in the fight against communism.

In those days Dr. Oppenheimer, no doubt, occasionally associated with Communists. His wife, who had a youthful left-wing history, knew Communist leader Steve Nelson, for example, and Oppenheimer was introduced to Nelson. For the same reasons, it is believed that he more than once contributed to causes—especially the Loyalist cause in Spain—which the Communists sponsored.

All this was certainly very woolly-headed. Although the Soviet Union was then on the defensive, the Communists were then as much the promoters of the night of the mind as ever since. It may be said, too, that Dr. Oppenheimer, when in 1949 and 1950 he experienced a moral horror about the hydrogen bomb, was being woolly-headed again.

But this moral revulsion is also at least understandable, where a weapon which can kill several million people at a stroke is concerned.

And somehow it does not seem likely that the United States is ready to cast its greatest physicist into outer darkness, as punishment for the woolly-headedness of a decade and a half ago—not unless Senator McCarthy has more successfully promoted the night of the mind in the United States than most people realize.

LaSalle, Fort Hill Clash Today In City Baseball Opener

Penn Avenue Field Site Of Initial Game

Teams Shared Title Last Year; Campers Play At Valley High

LaSalle High School's Explorers and Fort Hill's Sentinels collide today at 4 p.m. at Penn Avenue Field in the opening game of the annual triangular series for the city scholastic baseball championship.

These schools shared the city title last year with 3-1 records, while Allegany dropped four straight games.

The Explorers won the series finale last season, 3-0, after Fort Hill had captured the opener, 10-4.

Both LaSalle and Fort Hill scored wins in their Bi-State Conference openers on Monday, the Explorers edging Bruce 9-7 while the Sentinels blanked Hyndman, 5-0.

Allegany High is scheduled to invade Barton today to meet Valley High in a Bi-State contest at 4 o'clock. The Campers took the measure of Mt. Savage on Monday to the tune of 12-6 while Valley opened its season yesterday at Hyndman.

Moorefield High goes after its third straight P.V.C. win when it does battle with Franklin High's Panthers today at Franklin.

Undefeated Capon Bridge High School will be shooting for win No. 4 in the Potomac circuit when it opposes Wardensville High's Warriors today at the latter place.

Don Newcombe Defeats Giants

Brooklyn Wins 6-4 On Six-Hit Effort

NEW YORK, April 14 (AP) — Big Don Newcombe, returning to the ball park that haunted him during two years of Army life, survived a late inning rally by the New York Giants tonight for a 6-4 Brooklyn victory before 32,438 fans.

The last time the 27-year-old Negro righthander worked in the Polo Grounds he left the fateful 1951 playoff game a few minutes before Bobby Thomson hit his "miracle homer" off Ralph Branca. Both Thomson and Branca departed while Newk was serving his Army hitch.

Until Don Mueller doubled with one out in the fifth, Newcombe had a no-hitter going. He lost his shutout in the seventh with the help of a Willie Mays' triple that Duke Snider might have caught and gave up another run in the eighth on a walk and singles by Al Dark and Hank Thompson. Then he bore down, following a mound conference with Manager Walter Alston, to get Monte Irvin on a foul and strike out Mays. Ebba St. Claire's homer after Newcombe hit Mueller made it close in the ninth but he got home with a six hitter.

Valley, Bruce Win Bi-State Tilts, Savage Blanks Beall

Mountaineers Lose 5-0; Flintstone And Hyndman Are Beaten

Beall High's defending co-champions ran into a blank wall yesterday at Mt. Savage as the Braves blanked the Mountaineers, 5-0, behind the two-hit hurling of righthander Bobby Blank, in a Bi-State Baseball Conference tilt.

In other loop encounters Valley High's Black Knights handed the other co-defender, Hyndman, a 13-11 setback in an 8-inning slugfest at Hyndman and Bruce High's tossers won their initial game of the campaign with an 8-3 decision over Flintstone on the latter's field.

Mt. Savage chalked up its first win since joining the conference behind the artful hurling of young Blank who allowed Coach Ebbie Finzel's charges to get only four men on base while tossing the third strike by 12 batsmen.

Breaks Up Duel

The Beall-Savage battle was a tight duel between Blank and Lloyd until the fifth when Dick Walter's double drove home Ira Watkins who had singled to break a scoreless deadlock. The Braves then salted away the victory with four more runs in the sixth frame on an assortment of five hits. Both Beall bingles were of the infield variety off Blank.

The outstanding fielding play was Morgan's beautiful toss from deep center field to catch Bill Clauson at the plate for a double play after the Beall middle gardner had caught Ronnie Carter's long fly ball.

Valley routed two Hyndman hurlers in the first four frames building up an 11-5 lead only to see Mentor John McVicker's tossers rally to knot the score with a four-run outburst in the sixth, sending the game into extra innings.

Wilson Is Victor

John Wilson, Valley's third pitcher, was credited with the win, halting Hyndman in the last two frames. He and Kelly also paced the Knights' attack with two hits apiece. Both of Wilson's were three-baggers. John Keller had two bingles, including a triple for Hyndman.

A freshman righthander, Donnie Wilkinson, pitched Bruce High's triumph over Flintstone's Aggies at Flintstone, allowing seven hits and fanning three. The victory was the first in two games for Bruce while the loss was the second straight for Flintstone.

Mike Nofsinger paced the Bruce assault with two hits including a two-bagger. F. Bible was the big gun for Flintstone, solving Wilkinson's slants for three hits, one a double.

Beall's loss leaves only Fort Hill, LaSalle and Allegany unbeaten in the nine-team circuit.

No Liquor For Cops

BOGOTA, Colombia, April 14 (AP)—Prohibition has come to the cops of Cauca Department (state).

The departmental police commandant issued an order forbidding anyone from selling or giving liquor to policemen, on duty or off.

Liquor dealers will be arrested and their shops closed if caught violating the edict.

Potomac State And Mt. Union To Play Today

Dick Lyons will be angling for his third win of the season today when Potomac State College's Catamounts open a two-game series with Mount Union College of Alliance, Ohio, at Stayman Field, Keyser, at 2 o'clock.

Potomac State has won two of six games played to date and Lyons has bagged both of them. He turned back Ohio Wesleyan, 9-1, and earned a 2-1 decision over Kent State College of Ohio, 2-1, in eleven innings. Dick suffered a 3-0 setback at the hands of Concord (W. Va.) College.

Mount Union scored a pair of wins over Potomac State last season by scores of 14-7 and 9-5.

Jockey's Condition Is Listed As "Fair"

WASHINGTON, April 14 (INS) — Doctors described as "fair" today the condition of Mike Caffarella, of Schenectady, N. Y., one of three jockeys injured in two accidents at Bowie racetrack Tuesday.

The 36-year-old Caffarella suffered fractures of two vertebrae in his spine and underwent an operation Tuesday night at Prince Georges General Hospital. Doctors said he is still on the critical list but his condition now is "fair."

50,000 Expected To See Orioles First Home Game

Baltimore To Host Chicago's White Sox

BALTIMORE, April 14 (AP)—There were 138 fans here in 1902 when the Baltimore Orioles last played a game in the American League.

There'll be an enthusiastic 50,000 to welcome home the Orioles against the Chicago White Sox tomorrow.

But otherwise, the Orioles start where they left off 52 years ago—at the bottom of the league. That's where they were when the league franchise was transferred from Baltimore to New York and that's where they picked up from the St. Louis Browns.

However, hardly anyone is worrying yet about whether the Orioles are winning or losing. They're still exulting over being back in the major leagues.

Businessmen, for instance, are rubbing their hands in ancitipation of taking in five million dollars more a year from the magic of "big league baseball." Businessmen and industrialists were the biggest purchasers in the sellout of tickets for the home opener.

The Orioles will be welcomed like the old conquering Romans returning from war. Five thousand orchids will be strewn during a parade.

The team will arrive from Detroit half an hour before the parade and be changed into game uniforms. The parade, with 33 floats and 22 bands, will take an estimated hour and a half to pass. Officials estimate that half a million people might line the sidewalks to see it.

The city administration did its best to put up a good front with a new stadium. It didn't quite finish the double-decked structure costing six million dollars. But it will hide the ragged edges on the outside with 2,8000 yards, nearly a mile and a half, of red, white and blue bunting shaped into huge fans.

Vice President Nixon is to throw out the first ball at 2:30 p. m.

Hi Dee Shufflers Increase Margin

The Hi Dee Club's shuffleboard team increased its point margin last night with a 3-0 decision over the Woodmen of the World in their consolation battle for third place in the Allegany County Women's Shuffleboard League.

The Hi Dee shufflers held a 25-point lead at the close of the first match and last night outscored the WOW 85 to 67 to hike the margin to 43 markers. The final three-game match will be played on the Cresaptown Firemen alleys next Wednesday at 8:30 p. m.

Leona O'Neal paced the Hi Dee victors with 21 points last night while Willard Auvil had 17 for WOW.

Schute's To Practice

Schute's Roofers softball team of the City League will hold practice sessions today and tomorrow at East Side field at 5 p. m. and Saturday at 2 p. m. on the same diamond.

Practice Delayed

A practice drill for Central Methodists' basketball team originally scheduled for Friday has been moved back to Monday at 6 p. m. at Central YMCA gym.

Expelled At Rio, Francis To Look Over AAU Offers

Fabulous Bevo Says He May Continue Career

EAST LIVERPOOL, O., April 14 (AP)—Bevo Francis, his fabulous basketball career at little Rio Grande College halted by expulsion, said today he planned to:

"Just sit back, take it easy, and look over some offers from AAU teams."

The 6-foot-9 sophomore was expelled Monday because of some scholastic difficulties. He was fishing for catfish in the Ohio River when the college board acted. The board said he hadn't attended class for two weeks.

Francis said he wasn't surprised over being expelled by the little college which he kept in the sports headlines the last two years. Bevo said several weeks ago he might have to drop from school because the "bills are piling up and I have to earn some money for myself, my wife and our baby."

Despite an admissior he's through at Rio Grande, Francis said he might complete his col'ge career.

At Rio Grande, Dean William A. Lewis said of Bevo's expulsion:

"The college would have been glad to have him back had he elected to return to Rio Grande along with his teammates . . . He was always a well-behaved chap in class, not brilliant, but attentive." Dr. Lewis said Bevo had failed to take his mid-term exams, had an excessive number of unexcused absences, and had failed to attend class the last two weeks.

Pillette Hurls Baltimore To 3-2 Victory Over Tigers

Six-Hit Effort Wins 1st Game For Orioles

DETROIT, April 14 (AP)—Duane Pillette, a tall righthander, gave Baltimore a fancy going-home present today—a strong six-hit effort for a 3-2 victory over the Detroit Tigers.

Officially, it was the first American League victory in 52 years for the Orioles, who return to Baltimore Thursday for a gala homecoming against the Chicago White Sox.

There were only 4,847 fans to witness Baltimore's first big league win since 1902--as contrasted to Wednesday's remarkable opening-day turnout of 46,994—but they saw a powerful performance by Pillette.

The 30-year-old veteran, who never has had a winning record in five major league seasons, chilled Detroit's hopes of making it two straight. At one point Pillette retired 11 straight Tigers and only once, in the second inning, was he in serious difficulty.

That's when Detroit scored its first run on Al Aber's infield single, but Pillette choked off a bases-loaded threat by inducing rookie Frank Bolling to hit an inning-ending grounder.

By that time, however, the Orioles had given Pillette all the cushion he needed, raking Ray Herbert for their winning runs in the first inning.

Greenbrier Man Named Master W. Va. Shepherd

The winner was announced at the 54th annual meeting of the West Virginia Livestock Association held in connection with the annual Spring Livestock Roundup.

Sponsored by the Agricultural Extension Service of West Virginia University, the Baltimore and Ohio Railroad and the West Virginia Livestock Association, the project is planned to stimulate interest in market lamb production.

Gibbs entered the program for the first time this year. From his flock of 36 high-grade Suffolk ewes, bred in the fall of 1952 to a pure-bred Suffolk ram, Gibbs sold or kept 51 lambs. The gross income from lambs per ewe bred was $34.31. In addition he had a gross income per ewe bred from wool of $3.25, making a total gross income from each ewe bred of $37.56.

The Greenbrier County farmer was one of four regional winners from among whom the Master Shepherd was selected. In Region 1, Roy B. Frye of Hampshire County was the winner. Trailing him in that region were Hugh Moyers of Pendleton County, second; Hansel Hedrick of Pendleton County, third, and Mervin Runion of Grant County, fourth.

Edward Beall Named In Alleged Shortages In Accounts At Portsmouth, Ohio Hospital

Edward T. Beall, former assistant to the superintendent of personnel at the Amcelle plant of the Celanese Corporation, has been named in six "findings for recovery" involving $2,458.56 of alleged shortages in accounts of the municipally-owned hospital at Portsmouth, Ohio.

Currently Montgomery County manager and formerly city manager at Portsmouth, Beall has been granted leave "of a few days" by Montgomery County Council to clear up the reports. At the same time the council hired two attorneys, Plummer M. Shearin, Silver Spring, and David E. Betts, Rockville, to make a thorough check of the allegations. Both are going to Portsmouth.

Beall had operated the Portsmouth hospital for a period in 1952 when it was without an official director. He came to Montgomery County last September after resigning the Portsmouth manager post.

In commenting on the findings, Beall said they are "simply a technicality" and he was named only because he was the official in charge. The charges were "all known and investigated" while he was in Portsmouth, Beall added.

Findings Listed

Specifically, the findings by examiners of the Ohio state auditor are as follows:

1. Fifty dollars unaccounted for from hospital collections. They said the money was missing from the cash drawer June 23, 1952. This was one week before Lawrence Brett left as director of the hospital to take a hospital post in Cincinnati. Brett and Beall were named jointly in this finding.

2. On September 23, 1952, $738.81 was alleged to have been received at the hospital but not paid into the city treasury. This finding was against Beall alone.

3. Allegedly $755.33 was collected September 21 and October 12 and not turned into the city treasury. Both Beall and his secretary, Mrs. Nadine Pierce, were named.

4. The sum of $236.69 paid for drugs alleged to have been purchased for Beall's personal account in 1951 and charged to the hospital but not repaid by Beall. They involved several orders of cortisone, a drug used in treatment of arthritis.

Lumber Purchase

5. Lumber worth $22.94 allegedly purchased for Beall's personal use and charged to the hospital.

6. The sum of $654.79 which the examiners said was missing from the hospital safe representing the collections of May 6, 1953. In this finding, Beall was named jointly with Arthur Carvolth, the new hospital director. The examiners said Carvolth had reported the loss immediately to Beall and to police.

Montgomery County Council President Harold F. Hammond said "Beall has the right to have this matter cleaned up," and added the county manager came from an industrial city where there's 'a hot political situation all the time." Beall is Montgomery County's second manager.

More Study Needed

William H. Harsha, Scioto County (O.) prosecutor, said a "further study of the audit will be needed prior to determining whether criminal action is warranted."

"Civil action will be taken against Beall and his bonding company if they won't pay for it voluntarily," Harsha added.

Carvolth, who was praised in the report, according to Haecker, for instituting new bookkeeping methods at the hospital, reported the money missing from the safe to both Beall and police, the examiners said they found.

Of the $755.33 iter allegedly not turned into the city treasury, Examiner R. E. Haecker said the examiners were told by Mrs. Pierce that she last saw the money in Beall's desk at the hospital.

Beall explained that he did not visit this office every day, and said various other persons either put money in or took it from the desk.

Never Heard Of Items

Of the drugs and lumber, Beall said he had "never heard" of either item. And of the sum missing from the hospital safe, Beall said the strongbox contained three days' collections and that he had not been near the hospital at that time.

Haecker declared that the 142-page report includes testimony given voluntarily by hospital employes that bed sheets, linen, lamps and other articles had been taken from the Portsmouth hospital to Beall's home.

Beall's wife said from their Norwood (Md.) home that "I'm going to stick right by his side; there must be politics involved.

"He (Beall) investigated those shortages, and they were investigated by the police and the FBI," said Mrs. Beall. "He was never near the hospital when the money was lost."

Parsons Girl Guest Artist With Symphony

Sally Ann English Will Sing Tonight

PARSONS — Miss Sally Ann English, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James L. English of Parsons will be featured with the Virginia Symphony Orchestra when they appear in Parsons this evening.

The Virginia Symphony Orchestra of Richmond, will present two concerts in Parsons High School auditorium under the direction of William Haaker.

The first concert will be the student concert to be presented at 1:15 p.m. The orchestra's student concerts are a feature portion of the tour for they are of an educational nature. Each of the instruments is introduced and some melody familiar to the particular instrument is demonstrated.

The evening concert has been set for 8:30 p.m. due to the Holy Week services being held this week in Parsons. The program will open with the overture to "Die Fledermous". "Syncopated Clock" by LeRoy Anderson and the Carmen suite are among other selections included on the program which is the last of the three concerts sponsored by the Tucker County Family Concert Association this season.

Miss English, a senior at Madison College, Harrisonburg, Va., will sing selections from "Figaro" by Mozart. She is a graduate of Parsons High School with the class of 1949 and is majoring in music at Madison College, where she is a member of the Glee Club and also sings in a choir.

Mt. Calvary Sets Good Friday Service

Scouts Plant 15,000 Trees

DAVIS — Two hundred and seventy-five Boy Scouts and their leaders planted 15,000 trees on Blackwater Falls State Park and Monongahela Forest lands on Saturday with the boys camping at the Park on Friday evening. In addition to their camping and conservation experience they were given a tour of Blackwater Falls.

Troops taking part in the Green Thumb planting project were from Clarksburg, Elkins, Weston, Buckhannon and Morgantown. Thirty-five leaders accompanied the Scouts and assisted in the planting of Norway Spruce and Red Pine seedlings. Civic organizations and business men of Davis provided food for the boys on Saturday. U. S. Forest Service Rangers and Conservation Commission employes supervised the planting. Several others interested in development of the area also volunteered their assistance.

Frostburg State Nine Scores First Win Over Mt. Union

5-Run Seventh Bags 10-6 Win For Teachers

Harry McFarland Is Victor; Team Plays Without Its Coach

FROSTBURG, April 14 — A five-run rally in the seventh inning enabled Frostburg State Teachers College nine to come from behind for a 10-6 triumph here today over Mt. Union College of Alliance, Ohio.

The Teachers, playing without the services of their coach, John Maiden who was ill, were managed by two of the team's players, Jim Byrnes, centerfielder, and Catcher Jack Barham.

Harry McFarland, former Allegany High School righthander went the route for Frostburg as the Teachers copped their first decision in three starts this season, allowing eight hits and striking out 12.

Teachers Take Lead

Frostburg hopped off to an early 5-0 lead but a couple of errors after two men were out in the fifth, plus three hits and a pair of walks enabled Mt. Union to knot the count with five runs in the fourth.

In the seventh the visitors from Ohio took a briefly-held lead when Jim Laughlin, the Mt. Union catcher, stole home with two out.

Frostburg then kayoed the second of three Mt. Union hurlers, John Morely, with a five-run outburst in the same inning. Bill Kirk opened with a walk and Bud Bailey singled with one out. McFarland aided his own cause with a base knock scoring the tying run and when Ed Shuck's attempted squeeze bunt was thrown wildly past the catcher by Morely the winning tally came home for Frostburg. Singles by Bob Miller and Tom Kelly off the reliefer, Beltrami, added three insurance runs.

Game Sloppily Played

The game was a sloppily played affair with the two teams committing 11 errors, six for Frostburg and five for Mt. Union. Bill Kirk, Frostburg shortstop, had particularly bad afternoon in the field with four miscues. However he chipped in with Frostburg's only extra base hit, a booming triple in the first.

Kelly topped the Frostburg swatsmiths with four singles which accounted for five runs batted home. Laughlin had three bingles for Mt. Union which dropped its third consecutive contest. The lineups:

Billy Kilgore Tops LaMotta

Bronx Bull Loses Split Decision

MIAMI BEACH, Fla., April 14 (AP) — Billy Kilgore, an unrated Miami fighter, bumped former middleweight champion Jake LaMotta off the comeback trail tonight by scoring a 10-round split decision over the "Bronx Bull."

LaMotta, who said he was returning to the ring "just because I love to fight," couldn't have enjoyed tonight's work much, because his old steam was gone. His best punches did little or no damage to his opponent.

Kilgore stabbed LaMotta through the fight with a stiff left to the face and several times made Jake blink with slashing overhand rights to the head.

Referee Petey Sarron judged the fight 97-95 in Kilgore's favor. Judge Gus Jacobson gave the Miami fighter a 98-94 edge. Judge Carl Gardner voted it 98-93 for LaMotta.

A crowd of 2,891 which paid a gross gate of $8,379 showed little enthusiasm for the fight and in the seventh round clapped and stamped for more action.

Sam Snead To Play In Las Vegas Open

LOS ANGELES, April 14 (AP)—The field for the $35,000 Las Vegas Golf Tournament of Champions was completed today when Sam Snead, winner of the Masters last Monday, notified officials he will compete in the rich event next week.

Tournament Chairman Wilbur Clark announced Snead's acceptance.

Thus 20 of the 21 eligible players were assured of playing in the affair, starting next Thursday at the Desert Inn Country Club. The only other eligible—winner of a major PGA open tournament since last April—was Ben Hogan. For the second year Hogan elected to skip the Nevada event.

WASHINGTON, (INS) — Some people . . . some places . . . some things . . .

Clark Griffith, the 84-year-old president of the Washington baseball club, who sat between Ike and Mamie at the opening game, is a remarkable codger who has done more than any other person to make the sport "the national pastime."

Griff wasn't the first owner to coax a president into attending his ballpark. But he was the first to see the enormous potential of such patronage, and it must be said that he has never let up. His activities constitute a most persuasive lobby for professional baseball in the heart of the lobbying world.

In 1918 Secretary of War Newton D. Baker, enraged by the sight of able-bodied young men playing baseball while Americans were dying in France, prepared to order baseball to shut down about mid-season. Griff was in his office in nothing flat, with an engaging spiel about "staying trim" and "helping the war effort."

He borrowed a drill-sergeant and had his and visiting players marching clumsily up and down his ballyard carrying bats on their shoulders and, now and then, getting in step. Though it may have hurt the old gentleman, he gave thousands of dollars worth of baseball equipment to Army camps. And, above all, he had an ace in the hole in President Wilson—a first class fan. So baseball continued on into September of that war year, and a big revenue loss was averted.

F.D.R.'s thinkers, having shut down race tracks and other forms of sport, put the evil eye on baseball early in World War II. But Griff got to the President and received from him the famous "green light" letter—which spared the business and made millions for it.

Griff and Connie Mack are the last of a durable breed, now that Barrow is gone. It is not in the cards for the game to produce their likes again.

F.D.R.'s death, by the way, may have surprised his doctors, wife, vice president and others close to him. But not Griff. Early in April, 1945, Griff made his customary trip to the White House to present the President with a gold pass and to give Mrs. Roosevelt one of the 13 alligator bags she received from him.

"Griff," said the weary President, "I'll have to use a substitute this time to throw out the first ball. I'll be down at Warm Springs when you open."

Griff looked at him with concern. "How do you feel?" he asked.

"I feel like I'm on a team that's ready to open the season with only eight men," said the President. He was dead a week later.

The removal of brilliant J. Robert Oppenheimer from the list of those privileged to share the nation's top atomic secrets was the best-kept "open secret" Washington has had in a long time. Many at the AEC and in the confines of science knew that word had gone out that he must be investigated further, nearly nine years after the Hiroshima bomb showered on him a host of world honors—including Secretary of War Stimson's accolade of "genius."

The mystery around the Capital today was "who gave the word?" Consensus seems to be that it was Lewis L. Strauss, chairman of the AEC. On two occasions Oppenheimer disagreed publicly with Strauss. The atomic wizard saw no danger in sending radioactive isotopes to friendly foreign countries, and he was (and is) a strong believer in sharing atomic information with the people of the U. S.

Betty Hutton was among the President's callers the other day. The actress, who met the Eisenhowers at Palm Springs this winter, emerged from the President's office in a radiant mood, struggling for the proper words of praise.

Photographers asked the bouncy singer to step outside for a picture. She did a happy nip-up and was off. Once outside, a photographer stuck a golf club in her hand and asked her to swing it. Miss Hutton didn't quite know about that, but finally obliged. The boys backed her up and up so they could get the main portico of the White House in the background. But in doing so, they backed her right past Press Secretary Jim Hagerty's window.

Jim let out a roar, called the boys in, and they surrendered their plates. Then he read them a little lecture which boiled down to, "Hey the White House isn't a prop."

A Washington cab driver has taken a poll, found his results, and hasn't the faintest idea what to do about it, or what it means. Throughout the month of March he asked all passengers going to the Union Station and to National Airport whether they were Republicans of Democrats.

"Darndest thing," he told me, "ninety per cent of the people who took the train were Republicans, and ninety per cent of those that chose the planes were Democrats. Must mean something significant."

All-Sports Banquet Planned At Valley

LONACONING, April 14 — Valley High School's Booster Club plans an all-sports banquet at the school Wednesday, April 28, David E. Kirk, chairman of the club, announces. The program will get underway at 6:30 p.m.

The Boosters will honor all students who participated in any sport during the school year and the banquet will be served in the school cafeteria.

Gloves Rule To Be Backed

May Forfeit Game If Left On Field

NEW YORK, April 14 (AP)—Baseball Commissioner Ford Frick today demanded strict enforcement of the new rule requiring players to take their gloves off the playing field with them when they come in to bat and threatened to forfeit ball games, if necessary, as a penalty.

Frick's warning was in the form of a five-paragraph bulletin sent to all major league clubs and minor league presidents.

The commissioner said he was disturbed about persistent reports that various leagues and clubs were going to make their own interpretation of the rule.

Although Frick did not mention any specific leagues, it was reported reliably in Florida that the American League had agreed by a 7-1 vote to oppose the rule and make its own interpretation if the rules committee failed to make changes.

Little League Club Organizes For 1954

MT. SAVAGE — At a recent meeting the Mt. Savage Little League Baseball Club was organized for 1954.

The following officers were elected: President, Eugene Martin; Vice President, Daniel Williams, Sr.; Treasurer, Arthur Uhl; Secretary, Harry Crow.

The officers with the following men, Colon Barth, George Shaffer, Richard Crow, Leon Connor and Howard Aldridge, Jr., will comprise the Executive Board of the League.

Grover Green reported approximately 80 boys between ages of 7 and 13 years are registered and eligible to play. The group hopes to field four teams, The Town, Vets, Lions and Firemen as has been done in previous years. It is also trying to obtain the use of the Mt. Savage School softball ground for the Little Leaguers.

At a meeting to be held soon, players will be drawn for the four teams. Schedules will be adopted and managers will be assigned.

Paw Paw Lions Club Honors Cage Team

PAW PAW, W. Va., April 14 — The 16 members of the varsity basketball squad, the coaches and cheerleaders, were guests of the Paw Paw Lions Club at the club's regular dinner meeting Monday, at Lark Inn.

Myer (K.O.) Christner, former heavyweight boxer from Cumberland and proprietor of a bowling alley was the speaker.

Athletic award letters were presented by Coach John Kerens to Carole Moser, Patricia Cadigan, Barbara Gordon, Ralph Bergdoll, Adrian Kidwell, and co-captains Donnie Moser and Donald Kidwell.

Other guests included Miss Elizabeth Thronburg, cheerleader coach, and Helena Gordon, Doris Parker, Bill Patterson, John Herrell, Jim McDonald, Ronald Miller and Donald Kline.

Romney Scores 12-8 PVC Win Over Keyser

Tornado Nine Loses Third Straight Game

KEYSER, W. Va., April 14 — Eddie Hartman coasted behind an early lead and registered his second triumph of the season here today as Romney High's Pioneers scored a 12-8 triumph over Keyser in the opening Potomac Valley Conference game for both school nines.

Romney, benefiting by the wildness of Keyser's starting hurler, Dave Blackburn, took a 6-1 lead in the first three innings, increased it to 11 to 4 in the fourth and won handily. It was the Pioneers second win in three starts this year while the loss was the third in a row suffered by Coach Fred Clark's Keyser tossers.

Blackburn walked six batters in his short stint on the mound, being derricked in the fourth. Three other Keyser hurlers managed to hold Romney to one run in the last three frames.

Keyser rallied in the last inning, pushing across four runs in the seventh, but fell short of knotting the score. Hartman threw the third strike past 11 batsmen.

Shanholtz was the leading sticker for Romney, poling out a pair of extra base blows, a double and a triple. Lyons hit a three-bagger also and Parker smashed one over the fence as the extra-base power of the Romney hitters was unleashed.

Taylor and Kuykendall each had two bingles for Keyser. A large crowd witnessed the PVC opener. The box:

Jones Hits Homer, Phillies Win 6 To 0

PITTSBURGH, April 14 (AP) — Third baseman Willie Jones moved up from seventh to leadoff in the batting order, contributing a two-run homer, a double and two singles in five trips to power the Philadelphia Phillies to a 6-0 victory over the Pittsburgh Pirates today behind the four-hit pitching of southpaw Curt Simmons.

Jones, replacing weak-hitting shortstop Ted Kazanski in the lead-off role, sewed up the game with a two-run homer over the left field wall after Simmons had singled in the third inning. Kazanski was dropped to seventh in the batting order.

Anglers In State Heading For Trout Streams Today

Season To Continue Until September 15

[By The Associated Press]

Anglers throughout Maryland headed for trout streams today for the opening of a five-month season. Big catches were waiting if they could land them.

The State has raised about 100,000 trout of legal size (seven inches) and around 45,000 of these were already in streams in ten counties.

The trout may be taken daily between 5:30 a.m. and 8 p.m. from now until Sept. 15. The limit is five per person per day.

Main trout counties are Garrett, Washington, Allegany, Frederick and Baltimore. And early birds had already arrived in the mountains of Frederick County Wednesday night, to be on hand when the season opened. Most parked their cars near pools, some slept in cars or by campfires.

One stream in Frederick, Big Hunting Creek on the federally-owned Catoctin reservation area, is restricted entirely to fly fishing. It has been stocked with rainbow and browns, some of them running up to 15 inches in length.

For opening day fishing, the weather man said it would be partly cloudy and warm, with the high in the lower 80s or upper 70s.

The Great Falls, Mont., Ski Club had to cancel one of its races the other day. There was too much snow.

DeMarco Gives Carter Return

Lightweight Title Bout Set June 2nd

SAN FRANCISCO, April 14 (AP)—Aggressive Paddy De Marco, who won the lightweight title from Jimmy Carter in a resounding upset last month, will defend the championship against the same foe in a 15-round fight here June 2.

Signing of the "Brooklyn Billygoat" and Carter was announced today by Promoter Benny Ford. The bout will be held in the huge San Francisco Cow Palace. It will be nationally televised except for a northern California blackout.

When they met last March 5 in New York, Carter was a favorite to retain his crown. The 30-year old hard hitting New York Negro even was a 7-5 choice to stop his 26-year-old rival. De Marco appeared over the hill so far as his boxing career was concerned.

De Marco, who had never gone more than ten rounds before, won the unanimous decision of two judges and the referee.

Shuffleboard Teams Play Seven Matches

Six games separate Stadium Inn, the leaders, and the runner-up Cumberland K. of C., with only nine more games remaining on the schedule before the season draws to a close in the Allegany County Men's Shuffleboard League.

The regular race ends two weeks from tonight and then the four top finishers engage in the playoffs.

Stadium Inn swings into action Friday night against the Woodmen of the World at Frostburg but there are seven matches on tap for tonight.

The local K. of C. plays host to the Frostburg Legion here while the third place Amvets tackle the Golden Nugget in Frostburg. Fisher & Robinette, occupant of fourth place, entertains Cas Taylor's tonight and must make up a postponed match with the Woodmen. At present F. & R. trails the Amvets by 3½ games while the Cumberland V.F.W. is 3½ games back of the fourth place team.

Other games tonight are:

LaSalle, Fort Hill Clash Today In City Baseball Opener

Penn Avenue Field Site Of Initial Game

Teams Shared Title Last Year; Campers Play At Valley High

LaSalle High School's Explorers and Fort Hill's Sentinels collide today at 4 p.m. at Penn Avenue Field in the opening game of the annual triangular series for the city scholastic baseball championship.

These schools shared the city title last year with 3-1 records, while Allegany dropped four straight games.

The Explorers won the series finale last season, 3-0, after Fort Hill had captured the opener, 10-4.

Both LaSalle and Fort Hill scored wins in their Bi-State Conference openers on Monday, the Explorers edging Bruce 9-7 while the Sentinels blanked Hyndman, 5-0.

Allegany High is scheduled to invade Barton today to meet Valley High in a Bi-State contest at 4 o'clock. The Campers took the measure of Mt. Savage on Monday to the tune of 12-6 while Valley opened its season yesterday at Hyndman.

Moorefield High goes after its third straight P.V.C. win when it does battle with Franklin High's Panthers today at Franklin.

Undefeated Capon Bridge High School will be shooting for win No. 4 in the Potomac circuit when it opposes Wardensville High's Warriors today at the latter place.

Don Newcombe Defeats Giants

Brooklyn Wins 6-4 On Six-Hit Effort

NEW YORK, April 14 (AP) — Big Don Newcombe, returning to the ball park that haunted him during two years of Army life, survived a late inning rally by the New York Giants tonight for a 6-4 Brooklyn victory before 32,438 fans.

The last time the 27-year-old Negro righthander worked in the Polo Grounds he left the fateful 1951 playoff game a few minutes before Bobby Thomson hit his "miracle homer" off Ralph Branca. Both Thomson and Branca departed while Newk was serving his Army hitch.

Until Don Mueller doubled with one out in the fifth, Newcombe had a no-hitter going. He lost his shutout in the seventh with the help of a Willie Mays' triple that Duke Snider might have caught and gave up another run in the eighth on a walk and singles by Al Dark and Hank Thompson. Then he bore down, following a mound conference with Manager Walter Alston, to get Monte Irvin on a foul and strike out Mays. Ebba St. Claire's homer after Newcombe hit Mueller made it close in the ninth but he got home with a six hitter.

Valley, Bruce Win Bi-State Tilts, Savage Blanks Beall

Mountaineers Lose 5-0; Flintstone And Hyndman Are Beaten

Beall High's defending co-champions ran into a blank wall yesterday at Mt. Savage as the Braves blanked the Mountaineers, 5-0, behind the two-hit hurling of righthander Bobby Blank, in a Bi-State Baseball Conference tilt.

In other loop encounters Valley High's Black Knights handed the other co-defender, Hyndman, a 13-11 setback in an 8-inning slugfest at Hyndman and Bruce High's tossers won their initial game of the campaign with an 8-3 decision over Flintstone on the latter's field.

Mt. Savage chalked up its first win since joining the conference behind the artful hurling of young Blank who allowed Coach Ebbie Finzel's charges to get only four men on base while tossing the third strike by 12 batsmen.

Breaks Up Duel

The Beall-Savage battle was a tight duel between Blank and Lloyd until the fifth when Dick Walter's double drove home Ira Watkins who had singled to break a scoreless deadlock. The Braves then salted away the victory with four more runs in the sixth frame on an assortment of five hits. Both Beall bingles were of the infield variety off Blank.

The outstanding fielding play was Morgan's beautiful toss from deep center field to catch Bill Clauson at the plate for a double play after the Beall middle gardner had caught Ronnie Carter's long fly ball.

Valley routed two Hyndman hurlers in the first four frames building up an 11-5 lead only to see Mentor John McVicker's tossers rally to knot the score with a four-run outburst in the sixth, sending the game into extra innings.

Wilson Is Victor

John Wilson, Valley's third pitcher, was credited with the win, halting Hyndman in the last two frames. He and Kelly also paced the Knights' attack with two hits apiece. Both of Wilson's were three-baggers. John Keller had two bingles, including a triple for Hyndman.

A freshman righthander, Donnie Wilkinson, pitched Bruce High's triumph over Flintstone's Aggies at Flintstone, allowing seven hits and fanning three. The victory was the first in two games for Bruce while the loss was the second straight for Flintstone.

Mike Nofsinger paced the Bruce assault with two hits including a two-bagger. F. Bible was the big gun for Flintstone, solving Wilkinson's slants for three hits, one a double.

Beall's loss leaves only Fort Hill, LaSalle and Allegany unbeaten in the nine-team circuit.

No Liquor For Cops

BOGOTA, Colombia, April 14 (AP)—Prohibition has come to the cops of Cauca Department (state).

The departmental police commandant issued an order forbidding anyone from selling or giving liquor to policemen, on duty or off.

Liquor dealers will be arrested and their shops closed if caught violating the edict.

Potomac State And Mt. Union To Play Today

Dick Lyons will be angling for his third win of the season today when Potomac State College's Catamounts open a two-game series with Mount Union College of Alliance, Ohio, at Stayman Field, Keyser, at 2 o'clock.

Potomac State has won two of six games played to date and Lyons has bagged both of them. He turned back Ohio Wesleyan, 9-1, and earned a 2-1 decision over Kent State College of Ohio, 2-1, in eleven innings. Dick suffered a 3-0 setback at the hands of Concord (W. Va.) College.

Mount Union scored a pair of wins over Potomac State last season by scores of 14-7 and 9-5.

50,000 Expected To See Orioles First Home Game

Baltimore To Host Chicago's White Sox

BALTIMORE, April 14 (AP)—There were 138 fans here in 1902 when the Baltimore Orioles last played a game in the American League.

There'll be an enthusiastic 50,000 to welcome home the Orioles against the Chicago White Sox tomorrow.

But otherwise, the Orioles start where they left off 52 years ago—at the bottom of the league. That's where they were when the league franchise was transferred from Baltimore to New York and that's where they picked up from the St. Louis Browns.

However, hardly anyone is worrying yet about whether the Orioles are winning or losing. They're still exulting over being back in the major leagues.

Businessmen, for instance, are rubbing their hands in ancitipation of taking in five million dollars more a year from the magic of "big league baseball." Businessmen and industrialists were the biggest purchasers in the sellout of tickets for the home opener.

The Orioles will be welcomed like the old conquering Romans returning from war. Five thousand orchids will be strewn during a parade.

The team will arrive from Detroit half an hour before the parade and be changed into game uniforms. The parade, with 33 floats and 22 bands, will take an estimated hour and a half to pass. Officials estimate that half a million people might line the sidewalks to see it.

The city administration did its best to put up a good front with a new stadium. It didn't quite finish the double-decked structure costing six million dollars. But it will hide the ragged edges on the outside with 2,8000 yards, nearly a mile and a half, of red, white and blue bunting shaped into huge fans.

Vice President Nixon is to throw out the first ball at 2:30 p. m.

Hi Dee Shufflers Increase Margin

The Hi Dee Club's shuffleboard team increased its point margin last night with a 3-0 decision over the Woodmen of the World in their consolation battle for third place in the Allegany County Women's Shuffleboard League.

The Hi Dee shufflers held a 25-point lead at the close of the first match and last night outscored the WOW 85 to 67 to hike the margin to 43 markers. The final three-game match will be played on the Cresaptown Firemen alleys next Wednesday at 8:30 p. m.

Leona O'Neal paced the Hi Dee victors with 21 points last night while Willard Auvil had 17 for WOW.

Expelled At Rio, Francis To Look Over AAU Offers

Fabulous Bevo Says He May Continue Career

EAST LIVERPOOL, O., April 14 (AP)—Bevo Francis, his fabulous basketball career at little Rio Grande College halted by expulsion, said today he planned to:

"Just sit back, take it easy, and look over some offers from AAU teams."

The 6-foot-9 sophomore was expelled Monday because of some scholastic difficulties. He was fishing for catfish in the Ohio River when the college board acted. The board said he hadn't attended class for two weeks.

Francis said he wasn't surprised over being expelled by the little college which he kept in the sports headlines the last two years. Bevo said several weeks ago he might have to drop from school because the "bills are piling up and I have to earn some money for myself, my wife and our baby."

Despite an admission he's through at Rio Grande, Francis said he might complete his college career.

At Rio Grande, Dean William A. Lewis said of Bevo's expulsion:

"The college would have been glad to have him back had he elected to return to Rio Grande along with his teammates . . . He was always a well-behaved chap in class, not brilliant, but attentive." Dr. Lewis said Bevo had failed to take his mid-term exams, had an excessive number of unexcused absences, and had failed to attend class the last two weeks.

Castellani Is Signed To Meet Tiger Jones

NEW YORK, April 14 (AP)—Rocky Castellani of Cleveland and Ralph (Tiger) Jones of Yonkers, N. Y. ranking middleweight contenders, were matched today for a 10-round bout Friday May 14 when Madison Square Garden re-opens after the annual circus invasion.

Practice Scheduled

The Moose softball team of the Rocking Chair League will practice today at 5 p. m. at Penn Avenue field. All newcomers and holdovers are urged to attend.

Pillette Hurls Baltimore To 3-2 Victory Over Tigers

Six-Hit Effort Wins 1st Game For Orioles

DETROIT, April 14 (AP)—Duane Pillette, a tall righthander, gave Baltimore a fancy going-home present today—a strong six-hit effort for a 3-2 victory over the Detroit Tigers.

Officially, it was the first American League victory in 52 years for the Orioles, who return to Baltimore Thursday for a gala homecoming against the Chicago White Sox.

There were only 4,847 fans to witness Baltimore's first big league win since 1902--as contrasted to Wednesday's remarkable opening-day turnout of 46,994—but they saw a powerful performance by Pillette.

The 30-year-old veteran, who never has had a winning record in five major league seasons, chilled Detroit's hopes of making it two straight. At one point Pillette retired 11 straight Tigers and only once, in the second inning, was he in serious difficulty.

That's when Detroit scored its first run on Al Aber's infield single, but Pillette choked off a bases-loaded threat by inducing rookie Frank Bolling to hit an inning-ending grounder.

By that time, however, the Orioles had given Pillette all the cushion he needed, raking Ray Herbert for their winning runs in the first inning.

Terwilliger's Errors Help Yankees Beat Washington, 2-1

Ninth Frame Miscues Aid Lopat To Win

Schmitz Is Victim When Washington's Errors Turn Tide

WASHINGTON, April 14 (AP)—Two errors in a row by Wayne Terwilliger handed the New York Yankees a 2-1 victory over the Washington Senators today as Eddie Lopat, who doesn't seem to know how to lose to the Senators, beat them for the 12th straight time.

Johnny Schmitz was the victim of atrocious fielding as for the second straight day the Senators committed four errors. This time they were not so lucky.

The score was tied 1-1 as the Yankees came to bat in the ninth. And the crowd of 5,715 groaned at this sequence of events:

With one man out, Phil Rizzuto drew a walk. Taking a half swing, Lopat topped a ball toward third which eddie Yost fielded and then pitched to Terwilliger for what looked like a certain double play. But the Twig dropped the ball.

Rizzuto sprinted to third on the miscue and Lopat stopped at first. Enos Slaughter was sent in to run for Lopat.

Hank Bauer then lifted a soft pop in back of second but, incredibly Terwilliger let it slide between his fingers and Rizzuto came home with the winning run.

The Senators threatened against reliefer Johnny Sain in the ninth when Yost led off with a double and moved to third on a sacrifice. But Sain wound up affairs quickly by striking out Mickey Vernon, whose home run won yesterday's game, and then disposing of Roy Sievers on a popup.

Lemon Tosses 3-Hit Decision Over Chicago

Cleveland Wins 2nd Straight Game, 6-3

CHICAGO, April 14 (AP)—Veteran righthander Bob Lemon allowed a triple and a scratch single in the first inning and then held the Chicago White Sox to one blow the rest of the way for a brilliant three-hitter which gave the Cleveland Indians a 6-3 victory today.

The Tribe thus swept a two-game set from the Sox.

It was Lemon, 33-year-old ace who won 21 games last season, hurling against touted Sox rookie Jack Harshman, and Harshman failed to last beyond the fourth inning.

Lemon was in superb form after he yielded a walk to Bob Boyd, a booming triple to Minnie Minoso and a roller to short, beat out by Ferris Fain, for two Sox runs in the opening inning. Bill Glynn was a big help to Lemon, stroking four singles in five trips.

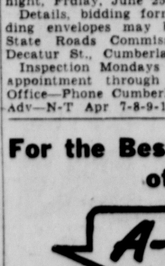
QUESTIONS

1—Did a pitcher ever hurl three shutouts in a World Series?
2—What is the first name of oldtime pitcher Cy Young?
3—What ex-big league player became president of the University of New Hampshire?

HOOHEE?



ONE of baseball's most natural players, he was a battery mate of Christy Mathewson. He was one of the few catchers fast enough to be used as a leadoff man. He was known as the "Duke of Tralee." Who is he?

ANSWERS

1—Yes. Christy Mathewson turned the trick in the 1905 World Series.
2—Denton.
3—Edward M. Lewis.

Staffordshire Wins Sophomore Purse At Bowie

BOWIE, Md., April 4 (AP) — Mrs. Henry A. Parr, 3rd's Staffordshire, Maryland-owned hope for the Kentucky Derby, probably earned a starting berth in the country's No. 1 horse race today when he won easily in the $5,000 Sophomore Purse, featured sixth race. Staffordshire made his first start over a distance of ground and turned a mile and a sixteenth in 1.47 1/5 when in front all the way and reached the wire four lengths in front of his nearest rival, Jockey Nick Shuk was in the irons.

Trainer Jimmy Rowan announced that a decision as to whether or not Staffordshire will ship to Churchill Downs for the Derby, scheduled May 1, would be made following today's prep outing.

Frostburg State Nine Scores First Win Over Mt. Union

5-Run Seventh Bags 10-6 Win For Teachers

Harry McFarland Is Victor; Team Plays Without Its Coach

FROSTBURG, April 14 — A five-run rally in the seventh inning enabled Frostburg State Teachers College nine to come from behind for a 10-6 triumph here today over Mt. Union College of Alliance, Ohio.

The Teachers, playing without the services of their coach, John Maiden who was ill, were managed by two of the team's players, Jim Byrnes, centerfielder, and Catcher Jack Barham.

Harry McFarland, former Allegany High School righthander went the route for Frostburg as the Teachers copped their first decision in three starts this season, allowing eight hits and striking out 12.

Teachers Take Lead

Frostburg hopped off to an early 5-0 lead but a couple of errors after two men were out in the fifth, plus three hits and a pair of walks enabled Mt. Union to knot the count with five runs in the fourth.

In the seventh the visitors from Ohio took a briefly-held lead when Jim Laughlin, the Mt. Union catcher, stole home with two out.

Frostburg then kayoed the second of three Mt. Union hurlers, John Morely, with a five-run outburst in the same inning. Bill Kirk opened with a walk and Bud Bailey singled with one out. McFarland aided his own cause with a base knock scoring the tying run and when Ed Shuck's attempted squeeze bunt was thrown wildly past the catcher by Morely the winning tally came home for Frostburg. Singles by Bob Miller and Tom Kelly off the reliefer, Beltrami, added three insurance runs.

Game Sloppily Played

The game was a sloppily played affair with the two teams committing 11 errors, six for Frostburg and five for Mt. Union. Bill Kirk, Frostburg shortstop, had a particularly bad afternoon in the field with four miscues. However he chipped in with Frostburg's only extra base hit, a booming triple in the first.

Kelly topped the Frostburg swatsmiths with four singles which accounted for five runs batted home. Laughlin had three bingles for Mt. Union which dropped its third consecutive contest. The lineups:

Billy Kilgore Tops LaMotta

Bronx Bull Loses Split Decision

MIAMI BEACH, Fla., April 14 (AP) — Billy Kilgore, an unrated Miami fighter, bumped former middleweight champion Jake LaMotta off the comeback trail tonight by scoring a 10-round split decision over the "Bronx Bull."

LaMotta, who said he was returning to the ring "just because I love to fight," couldn't have enjoyed tonight's work much, because his old steam was gone. His best punches did little or no damage to his opponent.

Kilgore stabbed LaMotta through the fight with a stiff left to the face and several times made Jake blink with slashing overhand rights to the head.

Referee Petey Sarron judged the fight 97-95 in Kilgore's favor. Judge Gus Jacobson gave the Miami fighter a 98-94 edge. Judge Carl Gardner voted it 98-93 for LaMotta.

A crowd of 2,891 which paid a gross gate of $8,379 showed little enthusiasm for the fight and in the seventh round clapped and stamped for more action.

Sam Snead To Play In Las Vegas Open

LOS ANGELES, April 14 (AP)—The field for the $35,000 Las Vegas Golf Tournament of Champions was completed today when Sam Snead, winner of the Masters last Monday, notified officials he will compete in the rich event next week.

Tournament Chairman Wilbur Clark announced Snead's acceptance.

Thus 20 of the 21 eligible players were assured of playing in the affair, starting next Thursday at the Desert Inn Country Club. The only other eligible—winner of a major PGA open tournament since last April—was Ben Hogan. For the second year Hogan elected to skip the Nevada event.

WASHINGTON, (INS) — Some people . . . some places . . . some things . . .

Clark Griffith, the 84-year-old president of the Washington baseball club, who sat between Ike and Mamie at the opening game, is a remarkable codger who has done more than any other person to make the sport "the national pastime."

Griff wasn't the first owner to coax a president into attending his ballpark. But he was the first to see the enormous potential of such patronage, and it must be said that he has never let up. His activities constitute a most persuasive lobby for professional baseball in the heart of the lobbying world.

In 1918 Secretary of War Newton D. Baker, enraged by the sight of able-bodied young men playing baseball while Americans were dying in France, prepared to order baseball to shut down about mid-season. Griff was in his office in nothing flat, with an engaging spiel about "staying trim" and "helping the war effort."

He borrowed a drill-sergeant and had his and visiting players marching clumsily up and down his ballyard carrying bats on their shoulders and, now and then, getting in step. Though it may have hurt the old gentleman, he gave thousands of dollars worth of baseball equipment to Army camps. And, above all, he had an ace in the hole in President Wilson—a first class fan. So baseball continued on into September of that war year, and a big revenue loss was averted.

F.D.R.'s thinkers, having shut down race tracks and other forms of sport, put the evil eye on baseball early in World War II. But Griff got to the President and received from him the famous "green light" letter—which spared the business and made millions for it.

Griff and Connie Mack are the last of a durable breed, now that Barrow is gone. It is not in the cards for the game to produce their likes again.

F.D.R.'s death, by the way, may have surprised his doctors, wife, vice president and others close to him. But not Griff. Early in April, 1945, Griff made his customary trip to the White House to present the President with a gold pass and to give Mrs. Roosevelt one of the 13 alligator bags she received from him.

"Griff," said the weary President, "I'll have to use a substitute this time to throw out the first ball. I'll be down at Warm Springs when you open."

Griff looked at him with concern. "How do you feel?" he asked.

"I feel like I'm on a team that's ready to open the season with only eight men," said the President. He was dead a week later.

The removal of brilliant J. Robert Oppenheimer from the list of those privileged to share the nation's top atomic secrets was the best-kept "open secret" Washington has had in a long time. Many at the AEC and in the confines of science knew that word had gone out that he must be investigated further, nearly nine years after the Hiroshima bomb showered on him a host of world honors—including Secretary of War Stimson's accolade of "genius."

The mystery around the Capital today was "who gave the word?" Consensus seems to be that it was Lewis L. Strauss, chairman of the AEC. On two occasions Oppenheimer disagreed publicly with Strauss. The atomic wizard saw no danger in sending radioactive isotopes to friendly foreign countries, and he was (and is) a strong believer in sharing atomic information with the people of the U. S.

Betty Hutton was among the President's callers the other day. The actress, who met the Eisenhowers at Palm Springs this winter, emerged from the President's office in a radiant mood, struggling for the proper words of praise.

Photographers asked the bouncy singer to step outside for a picture. She did a happy nip-up and was off. Once outside, a photographer stuck a golf club in her hand and asked her to swing it. Miss Hutton didn't quite know about that, but finally obliged. The boys backed her up and up so they could get the main portico of the White House in the background. But in doing so, they backed her right past Press Secretary Jim Hagerty's window.

Jim let out a roar, called the boys in, and they surrendered their plates. Then he read them a little lecture which boiled down to, "Hey the White House isn't a prop."

A Washington cab driver has taken a poll, found his results, and hasn't the faintest idea what to do about it, or what it means. Throughout the month of March he asked all passengers going to the Union Station and to National Airport whether they were Republicans of Democrats.

"Darndest thing," he told me, "ninety per cent of the people who took the train were Republicans, and ninety per cent of those that chose the planes were Democrats. Must mean something significant."

All-Sports Banquet Planned At Valley

LONACONING, April 14 — Valley High School's Booster Club plans an all-sports banquet at the school Wednesday, April 28, David E. Kirk, chairman of the club, announces. The program will get underway at 6:30 p.m.

The Boosters will honor all students who participated in any sport during the school year and the banquet will be served in the school cafeteria.

Gloves Rule To Be Backed

May Forfeit Game If Left On Field

NEW YORK, April 14 (AP)—Baseball Commissioner Ford Frick today demanded strict enforcement of the new rule requiring players to take their gloves off the playing field with them when they come in to bat and threatened to forfeit ball games, if necessary, as a penalty.

Frick's warning was in the form of a five-paragraph bulletin sent to all major league clubs and minor league presidents.

The commissioner said he was disturbed about persistent reports that various leagues and clubs were going to make their own interpretation of the rule.

Although Frick did not mention any specific leagues, it was reported reliably in Florida that the American League had agreed by a 7-1 vote to oppose the rule and make its own interpretation if the rules committee failed to make changes.

Warren Giles, National League president, had issued a bulletin to all his clubs, laying down a policy of strict enforcement.

Mt. Savage Loop Elects Officers

Little League Club Organizes For 1954

MT. SAVAGE — At a recent meeting the Mt. Savage Little League Baseball Club was organized for 1954.

The following officers were elected: President, Eugene Martin; Vice President, Daniel Williams, Sr.; Treasurer, Arthur Uhl; Secretary, Harry Crow.

The officers with the following men, Colon Barth, George Shaffer, Richard Crow, Leon Connor and Howard Aldridge, Jr., will comprise the Executive Board of the League.

Grover Green reported approximately 80 boys between ages of 7 and 13 years are registered and eligible to play. The group hopes to field four teams, The Town, Vets, Lions and Firemen as has been done in previous years. It is also trying to obtain the use of the Mt. Savage School softball ground for the Little Leaguers.

At a meeting to be held soon, players will be drawn for the four teams. Schedules will be adopted and managers will be assigned.

Paw Paw Lions Club Honors Cage Team

PAW PAW, W. Va., April 14 — The 16 members of the varsity basketball squad, the coaches and cheerleaders, were guests of the Paw Paw Lions Club at the club's regular dinner meeting Monday, at Lark Inn.

Myer (K.O.) Christner, former heavyweight boxer from Cumberland and proprietor of a bowling alley was the speaker.

Athletic award letters were presented by Coach John Kerens to Carole Moser, Patricia Cadigan, Barbara Gordon, Ralph Bergdoll, Adrian Kidwell, and co-captains Donnie Moser and Donald Kidwell.

Other guests included Miss Elizabeth Thronburg, cheerleader coach, and Helena Gordon, Doris Parker, Bill Patterson, John Herrell, Jim McDonald, Ronald Miller and Donald Kline.

Romney Scores 12-8 PVC Win Over Keyser

Tornado Nine Loses Third Straight Game

KEYSER, W. Va., April 14 — Eddie Hartman coasted behind an early lead and registered his second triumph of the season here today as Romney High's Pioneers scored a 12-8 triumph over Keyser in the opening Potomac Valley Conference game for both school nines.

Romney, benefiting by the wildness of Keyser's starting hurler, Dave Blackburn, took a 6-1 lead in the first three innings, increased it to 11 to 4 in the fourth and won handily. It was the Pioneers second win in three starts this year while the loss was the third in a row suffered by Coach Fred Clark's Keyser tossers.

Blackburn walked six batters in his short stint on the mound, being derricked in the fourth. Three other Keyser hurlers managed to hold Romney to one run in the last three frames.

Keyser rallied in the last inning, pushing across four runs in the seventh, but fell short of knotting the score. Hartman threw the third strike past 11 batsmen.

Shanholtz was the leading sticker for Romney, poling out a pair of extra base blows, a double and a triple. Lyons hit a three-bagger also and Parker smashed one over the fence as the extra-base power of the Romney hitters was unleashed.

Taylor and Kuykendall each had two bingles for Keyser. A large crowd witnessed the PVC opener. The box:

Jones Hits Homer, Phillies Win 6 To 0

PITTSBURGH, April 14 (AP) — Third baseman Willie Jones moved up from seventh to leadoff in the batting order, contributing a two-run homer, a double and two singles in five trips to power the Philadelphia Phillies to a 6-0 victory over the Pittsburgh Pirates today behind the four-hit pitching of southpaw Curt Simmons.

Jones, replacing weak-hitting shortstop Ted Kazanski in the leadoff role, sewed up the game with a two-run homer over the left field wall after Simmons had singled in the third inning. Kazanski was dropped to seventh in the batting order.

Anglers In State Heading For Trout Streams Today

Season To Continue Until September 15

[By The Associated Press]

Anglers throughout Maryland headed for trout streams today for the opening of a five-month season. Big catches were waiting if they could land them.

The State has raised about 100,000 trout of legal size (seven inches) and around 45,000 of these were already in streams in ten counties.

The trout may be taken daily between 5:30 a.m. and 8 p.m. from now until Sept. 15. The limit is five per person per day.

Main trout counties are Garrett, Washington, Allegany, Frederick and Baltimore. And early birds had already arrived in the mountains of Frederick County Wednesday night, to be on hand when the season opened. Most parked their cars near pools, some slept in cars or by campfires.

One stream in Frederick, Big Hunting Creek on the federally-owned Catoctin reservation area, is restricted entirely to fly fishing. It has been stocked with rainbow and browns, some of them running up to 15 inches in length.

For opening day fishing, the weather man said it would be partly cloudy and warm, with the high in the lower 80s or upper 70s.

The Great Falls, Mont., Ski Club had to cancel one of its races the other day. There was too much snow.

DeMarco Gives Carter Return

Lightweight Title Bout Set June 2nd

SAN FRANCISCO, April 14 (AP)—Aggressive Paddy De Marco, who won the lightweight title from Jimmy Carter in a resounding upset last month, will defend the championship against the same foe in a 15-round fight here June 2.

Signing of the "Brooklyn Billygoat" and Carter was announced today by Promoter Benny Ford. The bout will be held in the huge San Francisco Cow Palace. It will be nationally televised except for a northern California blackout.

When they met last March 5 in New York, Carter was a favorite to retain his crown. The 30-year old hard hitting New York Negro even was a 7-5 choice to stop his 26-year-old rival. De Marco appeared over the hill so far as his boxing career was concerned.

De Marco, who had never gone more than ten rounds before, won the unanimous decision of two judges and the referee.

Shuffleboard Teams Play Seven Matches

Six games separate Stadium Inn, the leaders, and the runner-up Cumberland K. of C., with only nine more games remaining on the schedule before the season draws to a close in the Allegany County Men's Shuffleboard League.

The regular race ends two weeks from tonight and then the four top finishers engage in the playoffs.

Stadium Inn swings into action Friday night against the Woodmen of the World at Frostburg but there are seven matches on tap for tonight.

The local K. of C. plays host to the Frostburg Legion here while the third place Amvets tackle the Golden Nugget in Frostburg. Fisher & Robinette, occupant of fourth place, entertains Cas Taylor's tonight and must make up a postponed match with the Woodmen. At present F. & R. trails the Amvets by 3½ games while the Cumberland V.F.W. is 3½ games back of the fourth place team.

Other games tonight are:

Mrs. Stotamyer Heads Keyser Woman's Club

KEYSER — Mrs. R. A. Stoutamyer was elected president of the Keyser Woman's Club at the regular monthly meeting held Tuesday evening in the Science Hall of Potomac State College. Officers elected to serve with her are. Mrs. G. H. Klinestiver, first vice president; Mrs. Earl K. Hess, second vice president; Miss Eleanor F. Dove, recording secretary; and Mrs. Paul J. Davis, treasurer. They will be installed at the spring tea to be held on Tuesday, May 11, at the home of Mrs. Earl K. Hess, Carsdadon Road.

At the business meeting Dr. Nancy Miller, retiring president, gave her annual report and announced the state convention to be held in Wheeling, April 21-24.

The Potomac State Singers with Miss Frances Sarullo at the piano under direction of Leonard Withers gave a selection of sacred numbers for Easter; followed by the girls' chorus giving both humorous and serious numbers; the men's chorus also gave several selections. Their program closed with the entire group singing a song dealing with the inscription on the Statue of Liberty.

Kenneth Haines, instructor at Potomac State, assisted by two students, Rhett Rathbone and George Wolfe, gave a tape recording, "The Hitchhiker", made by the Potomac State Players.

Keyser Schools Close For Easter

KEYSER — The annual Easter recess began following the last class Wednesday at Potomac State College, and will extend through Tuesday, April 20. First classes, following the recess, will begin on Wednesday, April 21, at 8 a.m.

Absences immediately preceding and immediately following the holiday period, will result in double cuts, according to notices posted on the campus by order of Dean K. S. McKee.

The Easter holiday period at Keyser High School also began with the end of classes Wednesday and will continue through Monday. The high school as well as all elementary schools in Mineral County will have the same vacation time, ending with the beginning of classes on Tuesday morning at 9 o'clock.

English Evangelist Speaks In Frostburg

FROSTBURG—Rev. W. T. Mugford, an English evangelist, who has traveled extensively in the United States and overseas, is conducting services at the Assembly of God Church here.

Rev. Mugford, a native of Yorkshire, England, is conducting the services at 7:30 p. m. this week and will conclude the series on April 25. There will be no service Monday, April 19.

He will also participate in the Easter Sunrise Service at the church at 6 a. m. Rev. Mugford in 1947 was asked to welcome King George VI and the Royal Family during a visit at Portsmouth.

Pastor of the church, located at the corner of Maple and Stoyer Street, is Rev. Hartley L. Wigfield Jr.

Students Hear Sions Talk On Trip To Ireland

KEYSER — C. D. Sions, elementary school instructor at Petersburg, was principal speaker at the program given at the sixth period Wednesday at Keyser High School under direction of the Student Council. Sions was an exchange student to Ireland and told of his impressions of the people there. His talk dealt with the goodwill, understanding and influence of the Christian religion on people everywhere.

Father Rizer opened the program with prayer. The Keyser High School Junior chorus sang, "Were You There," directed by Shirley Snyder. Ernest Courrier, president of the Student Council, presided. Parker C. Black, principal, introduced the speaker.

Following Sions' speech the junior chorus sang: "The Psalms" and, "The Prayer Perfect," again under Miss Snyder's direction.

Carol Sue Ashby read a poem, "Easter Morning," and the program concluded with a prayer by Sions.

Band Concert Nets $255 At Keyser High

Fund To Finance Trips For Students

KEYSER — The annual spring concert presented by the Keyser High School band in the high school auditorium was received with much acclaim by the big audience of parents and friends of the band. Directed by Nuncie Barbera, director, the band presented several novelty numbers with both the concert and dance bands participating jointly and separately. Known as the annual "Fun-Ally" the students performed impressively ,especially with the settings arranged with coloring and lighting.

The "Fun-Ally" is a feature each spring given for the purpose of raising funds to provide expenses for the two trips by the band; this year, the first to Winchester for the Apple Blossom Festival, and the second to Washington as an escort for the Keyser High and Elementary School Boy and Girl Patrol.

Mr. Barbera announced yesterday that the concert receipts amounted to $255, and that of this sum, $25 was given to the patrol for part of its expenses to Washington. The remainder will be used for band travelling expenses on the two trips and if any is left over it will be used toward purchase of band equipment and probably toward new instruments.

The concert program Tuesday evening was one of the best ever given by the band, and the audience showed its appreciation for the training and the efforts made to present a high class program.

In addition to the concert in the evening, a pre-view of the "Fun-Ally" was given on Monday for the pupils of the Elementary School and repeated Wednesday afternoon for the High School student body.

Salem Church Lists Easter Observances

FROSTBURG — Rev. George L. Wehler, pastor of Salem Evangelical and Reformed Church, will preside at the service of Holy Communion this evening at 7:30 o'clock at the church. A service of Holy Communion will also be held 10:45 a.m. Easter Sunday.

The members of his church will participate in the Good Friday service to be held at First Methodist Church and the Easter Sunrise service to be held Sunday at State Teachers College.

Elk Garden Store Robbed Of Coffee, Sugar And Cash

KEYSER — The service station and grocery store operated by Emmett Jones, Elk Garden, was entered Monday night after 12 o clock, by a person or persons unknown to the police and a quantity of sugar, coffee and other items taken, according to a report made by Trooper D. G. Peters, W. Va. State Police, Thursday, who is investigating the burglary.

The amount of ground coffee taken amounts to a considerable quantity, 30 jars begin reported missing, in addition to 10 cartons of cigarettes, three gallons of ice cream and 1. pounds of sugar.

Approximately $50 in tax money and change is also listed as missing. Entry to the place of business was made by removing the glass from a rear window of the building.

10 Clergymen To Conduct Good Friday Service

PIEDMONT—Ten ministers will participate in the annual Good Friday service to be held at the Church of God from noon to 3 p. m. sponsored by the Tri-Towns Ministerial Association.

The program will be built around the Seven Words of Christ on the Cross.

The call to worship will be given by the Rev. E. R. Heaton, host pastor. Other ministers who will take part in the service are Edwin A. Smith, pastor of the Bloomington Methodist Church; Rev. Byron M. Flory, pastor of the Church of the Brethren, Westernport; Rev. Robert M. Campbell, pastor of the Presbyterian Church; Rev. E. W. Welford, pastor of the Assembly of God Church, Westernport; Rev. Rex Coffman, pastor of Piedmont Pentecostal Holiness Church; Rev. William B. Orndorff, pastor of the First Baptist Church, Westernport; Rev. Andrew Agnes, pastor of the Evangelical United Brethren Church, Westernport; Rev. Clyde W. Ash, pastor of Trinity Methodist Church, and Rev. William Wilkinson, pastor of the Franklin Mission.

DeMolay To Meet At PSC In June

KEYSER — Among the activities planned for the annual West Virginia Mountaineer DeMolay Conclave to be held here June 4, 5 and 6, sports will be featured. The conclave, to be conducted on the campus of Potomac State College, will feature games of various types, including a tennis tourney on the College tennis courts on Friday, the opening day. If not completed that day, it will be finished on Saturday morning.

There will also be horseshoe pitching, on the area adjacent to the gymnasium, ping-pong in the gymnasium or Student Center and Volley Ball on the campus adjacent to the Center.

There will be prizes in all athletic and sports contests.

DeMolay members planning to enter any of the contests must file entries not later than May 15. They are to be mailed to Dana G. Lough, Coach of Potomac State College, Keyser.

Frostburg Presbyterians Finish Remodeling In Time For Easter

FROSTBURG — Communion Services by candle-light at 7:30 this evening will mark the first use by the First Presbyterian Church congregation of the sanctuary, which has undergone extensive change and re-decoration since February of this year. Regular morning worship services at 11 will resume beginning Easter Sunday and the following week will begin the customary full schedule of Sabbath and week-day events.

During the remodeling on the Church, Sunday School was able to follow its 9:45 Sunday morning schedule, the congregation worshipping with the members of Salem Reformed and Evangelical Church at their morning services. An interesting sidelight on this fellowship was disclosed last Sunday when the Presbyterian pastor expressed the gratitude of his congregation to the Salem congregation as the final joint worship service closed. Acknowledging these remarks, The Rev. George L. Wehler, pastor of Salem, reminded his hearers that the sanctuary of First Presbyterian Church, many years earlier, had been the scene of organization of the Salem Church, and thus the temporary joining of the congregations for worship had historic precedent.

Re-dedication of the sanctuary will take place later in the year with a full program to include return of former pastors and members for the celebration. Completion of this work brings to realization the first phase of a ten-year program of improvement to First Presbyterian Church.

No architect or decorator was employed, but committees of members have been two years planning the long range program of which this is the first part.

With the pastorate of the Rev. Ralph S. Illingworth, who assumed charge in August of 1953, definite steps to implement the program of improvement were taken and actual work begun late in January 1954. Earlier in the Fall towering maple trees that had become hazardous were removed from the churchyard and evergreens planted and a brick bulletin board erected. Removal of the tree stumps, grading and sodding are included in current plans.

General contractors were Jesse Fuller and Son, with much work being done by members of the congregation. Timothy G. Fuller was the painting contractor and new carpeting was purchased from the Prichard Corporation.

Terwilliger's Errors Help Yankees Beat Washington, 2-1

Ninth Frame Miscues Aid Lopat To Win

Schmitz Is Victim When Washington's Errors Turn Tide

WASHINGTON, April 14 (AP)—Two errors in a row by Wayne Terwilliger handed the New York Yankees a 2-1 victory over the Washington Senators today as Eddie Lopat, who doesn't seem to know how to lose to the Senators, beat them for the 12th straight time.

Johnny Schmitz was the victim of atrocious fielding as for the second straight day the Senators committed four errors. This time they were not so lucky.

The score was tied 1-1 as the Yankees came to bat in the ninth. And the crowd of 5,715 groaned at this sequence of events:

With one man out, Phil Rizzuto drew a walk. Taking a half swing, Lopat topped a ball toward third which eddie Yost fielded and then pitched to Terwilliger for what looked like a certain double play. But the Twig dropped the ball.

Rizzuto sprinted to third on the miscue and Lopat stopped at first. Enos Slaughter was sent in to run for Lopat.

Hank Bauer then lifted a soft pop in back of second but, incredibly Terwilliger let it slide between his fingers and Rizzuto came home with the winning run.

The Senators threatened against reliefer Johnny Sain in the ninth when Yost led off with a double and moved to third on a sacrifice. But Sain wound up affairs quickly by striking out Mickey Vernon, whose home run won yesterday's game, and then disposing of Roy Sievers on a popup.

Lemon Tosses 3-Hit Decision Over Chicago

Cleveland Wins 2nd Straight Game, 6-3

CHICAGO, April 14 (AP)—Veteran righthander Bob Lemon allowed a triple and a scratch single in the first inning and then held the Chicago White Sox to one blow the rest of the way for a brilliant three-hitter which gave the Cleveland Indians a 6-3 victory today.

The Tribe thus swept a two-game set from the Sox.

It was Lemon, 33-year-old ace who won 21 games last season, hurling against touted Sox rookie Jack Harshman, and Harshman failed to last beyond the fourth inning.

Lemon was in superb form after he yielded a walk to Bob Boyd, a booming triple to Minnie Minoso and a roller to short, beat out by Ferris Fain, for two Sox runs in the opening inning. Bill Glynn was a big help to Lemon, stroking four singles in five trips.

Staffordshire Wins Sophomore Purse At Bowie

BOWIE, Md., April 4 (AP) — Mrs. Henry A. Parr, 3rd's Staffordshire, Maryland-owned hope for the Kentucky Derby, probably earned a starting berth in the country's No. 1 horse race today when he won easily in the $5,000 Sophomore Purse, featured sixth race. Staffordshire made his first start over a distance of ground and turned a mile and a sixteenth in 1.47 1/5 when in front all the way and reached the wire four lengths in front of his nearest rival, Jockey Nick Shuk was in the irons.

Trainer Jimmy Rowan announced that a decision as to whether or not Staffordshire will ship to Churchill Downs for the Derby, scheduled May 1, would be made following today's prep outing.

DAILY CRYPTOQUOTE—Here's how to work it:

A X Y D L B A A X R
is L O N G F E L L O W

One letter simply stands for another. In this example A is used for the three L's, X for the two O's, etc. Single letters, apostrophies, the length and formation of the words are all hints. Each day the code letters are different.

Daily Bridge Lesson

by Barclay

NEGATIVE VALUE OF IT

USE OF the three-trump echo—a high one, followed by a lower one, proclaiming possession of a third one higher than the first—has a positive value in letting your partner know about that trump which remains in your hand. The negative value of that signal, however, when you fail to give him a high-low, can be just as valuable in some situations. Knowing that you have no more trumps can enable him to see that he must base his ensuing move or moves on the knowledge that you are out of trumps. Instead of a futile effort to gain a ruffing trick for the side, he therefore will be steered into other channels which may prove effective.

	♠ A J 5 4 ♥ K Q 9 7 5 ♦ Q 10 7 ♣ A
♠ 6 2 ♥ J 8 3 ♦ K 4 ♣ Q 10 9 4 3 2	N W E S	♠ K 8 ♥ A 10 4 2 ♦ A 9 8 5 3 2 ♣ 6
	♠ Q 10 9 7 3 ♥ 6 ♦ J 6 ♣ K J 8 7 5

(Dealer: West. North-South vulnerable.)

West	North	East	South
Pass	1 ♥	Dbl.	1 ♠
Pass	3 ♠	Pass	4 ♠

Picking the suit with the best composition, West led the club 10 to dummy's singleton A. South decided to make a safety play in trumps as protection against a defensive ruff. He scored the A and led the 4 to the K. Not knowing what to return, East laid down his heart and diamond tops, getting the lowest possible card on each from West, the 3 and 4. Hoping then that the heart 3 had been a singleton and West had a trump left for ruffing, he led the heart 2. But the J was won by the K, as South discarded his remaining diamond. One ruff of hearts and two ruffs of dummy's diamonds then set up the North hand to make the contract.

If East and West had known the three-trump echo and used it, the normal order in play of West's trumps, the 2 followed by the 6, would have told East his partner had no more trumps; if he had, he would have played the 6 first and then the 2 to betoken a third higher than the 6. If East had known his partner was out of trumps, he would have looked for another chance to beat the contract, and would have decided the only likelihood was with a diamond lead. That would have given the K the setting trick.

All of that difficulty would have been obviated if East, instead of doubling, had made a diamond overcall, as he should have with that kind of hand. The diamond K lead then would have assured defeat of the contract without any guesswork.

Tomorrow's Problem

	♠ 6 4 3 ♥ K 10 ♦ 6 5 2 ♣ K Q 10 3 2
♠ 10 9 8 2 ♥ Q 4 3 ♦ 10 9 4 ♣ J 8 6	N W E S	♠ Q J 7 5 ♥ 8 5 ♦ A Q J 3 ♣ 7 5 4
	♠ A K ♥ A J 9 7 6 2 ♦ K 8 7 ♣ A 9

(Dealer: West. Neither side vulnerable.)

In a tournament, if you thought your side already had a fine score, how would you play for 6-Hearts against the spade 2 lead? How if you thought your pair needed extra good scores on several deals?

Mrs. Stotamyer Heads Keyser Woman's Club

KEYSER — Mrs. R. A. Stoutamyer was elected president of the Keyser Woman's Club at the regular monthly meeting held Tuesday evening in the Science Hall of Potomac State College. Officers elected to serve with her are: Mrs. G. H. Klinestiver, first vice president; Mrs. Earl K. Hess, second vice president; Miss Eleanor F. Dove, recording secretary; and Mrs. Paul J. Davis, treasurer. They will be installed at the spring tea to be held on Tuesday, May 11, at the home of Mrs. Earl K. Hess, Carsdadon Road.

At the business meeting Dr. Nancy Miller, retiring president, gave her annual report and announced the state convention to be held in Wheeling, April 21-24.

The Potomac State Singers with Miss Frances Sarullo at the piano under direction of Leonard Withers gave a selection of sacred numbers for Easter; followed by the girls' chorus giving both humorous and serious numbers; the men's chorus also gave several selections. Their program closed with the entire group singing a song dealing with the inscription on the Statue of Liberty.

Kenneth Haines, instructor at Potomac State, assisted by two students, Rhett Rathbone and George Wolfe, gave a tape recording, "The Hitchhiker", made by the Potomac State Players.

Keyser Schools Close For Easter

KEYSER — The annual Easter recess began following the last class Wednesday at Potomac State College, and will extend through Tuesday, April 20. First classes, following the recess, will begin on Wednesday, April 21, at 8 a.m.

Absences immediately preceding and immediately following the holiday period, will result in double cuts, according to notices posted on the campus by order of Dean K. S. McKee.

The Easter holiday period at Keyser High School also began with the end of classes Wednesday and will continue through Monday. The high school as well as all elementary schools in Mineral County will have the same vacation time, ending with the beginning of classes on Tuesday morning at 9 o'clock.

English Evangelist Speaks In Frostburg

FROSTBURG—Rev. W. T. Mugford, an English evangelist, who has traveled extensively in the United States and overseas, is conducting services at the Assembly of God Church here.

Rev. Mugford, a native of Yorkshire, England, is conducting the services at 7:30 p. m. this week and will conclude the series on April 25. There will be no service Monday, April 19.

He will also participate in the Easter Sunrise Service at the church at 6 a. m. Rev. Mugford in 1947 was asked to welcome King George VI and the Royal Family during a visit at Portsmouth.

Pastor of the church, located at the corner of Maple and Stoyer Street, is Rev. Hartley L. Wigfield Jr.

Students Hear Sions Talk On Trip To Ireland

KEYSER — C. D. Sions, elementary school instructor at Petersburg, was principal speaker at the program given at the sixth period Wednesday at Keyser High School under direction of the Student Council. Sions was an exchange student to Ireland and told of his impressions of the people there. His talk dealt with the goodwill, understanding and influence of the Christian religion on people everywhere.

Father Rizer opened the program with prayer. The Keyser High School Junior chorus sang, "Were You There," directed by Shirley Snyder. Ernest Courrier, president of the Student Council, presided. Parker C. Black, principal, introduced the speaker.

Following Sions' speech the junior chorus sang: "The Psalms" and, "The Prayer Perfect," again under Miss Snyder's direction.

Carol Sue Ashby read a poem, "Easter Morning," and the program concluded with a prayer by Sions.

Band Concert Nets $255 At Keyser High

Fund To Finance Trips For Students

KEYSER — The annual spring concert presented by the Keyser High School band in the high school auditorium was received with much acclaim by the big audience of parents and friends of the band. Directed by Nuncie Barbera, director, the band presented several novelty numbers with both the concert and dance bands participating jointly and separately. Known as the annual "Fun-Ally" the students performed impressively ,especially with the settings arranged with coloring and lighting.

The "Fun-Ally" is a feature each spring given for the purpose of raising funds to provide expenses for the two trips by the band; this year, the first to Winchester for the Apple Blossom Festival, and the second to Washington as an escort for the Keyser High and Elementary School Boy and Girl Patrol.

Mr. Barbera announced yesterday that the concert receipts amounted to $255, and that of this sum, $25 was given to the patrol for part of its expenses to Washington. The remainder will be used for band travelling expenses on the two trips and if any is left over it will be used toward purchase of band equipment and probably toward new instruments.

The concert program Tuesday evening was one of the best ever given by the band, and the audience showed its appreciation for the training and the efforts made to present a high class program.

In addition to the concert in the evening, a pre-view of the "Fun-Ally" was given on Monday for the pupils of the Elementary School and repeated Wednesday afternoon for the High School student body.

Salem Church Lists Easter Observances

FROSTBURG — Rev. George L. Wehler, pastor of Salem Evangelical and Reformed Church, will preside at the service of Holy Communion this evening at 7:30 o'clock at the church. A service of Holy Communion will also be held 10:45 a.m. Easter Sunday.

The members of his church will participate in the Good Friday service to be held at First Methodist Church and the Easter Sunrise service to be held Sunday at State Teachers College.

Frostburg Presbyterians Finish Remodeling In Time For Easter

FROSTBURG — Communion Services by candle-light at 7:30 this evening will mark the first use by the First Presbyterian Church congregation of the sanctuary, which has undergone extensive change and re-decoration since February of this year. Regular morning worship services at 11 will resume beginning Easter Sunday and the following week will begin the customary full schedule of Sabbath and week-day events.

During the remodeling on the Church, Sunday School was able to follow its 9:45 Sunday morning schedule, the congregation worshipping with the members of Salem Reformed and Evangelical Church at their morning services. An interesting sidelight on this fellowship was disclosed last Sunday when the Presbyterian pastor expressed the gratitude of his congregation to the Salem congregation as the final joint worship service closed. Acknowledging these remarks, The Rev. George L. Wehler, pastor of Salem, reminded his hearers that the sanctuary of First Presbyterian Church, many years earlier, had been the scene of organization of the Salem Church, and thus the temporary joining of the congregations for worship had historic precedent.

Re-dedication of the sanctuary will take place later in the year with a full program to include return of former pastors and members for the celebration. Completion of this work brings to realization the first phase of a ten-year program of improvement to First Presbyterian Church.

No architect or decorator was employed, but committees of members have been two years planning the long range program of which this is the first part.

With the pastorate of the Rev. Ralph S. Illingworth, who assumed charge in August of 1953, definite steps to implement the program of improvement were taken and actual work begun late in January 1954. Earlier in the Fall towering maple trees that had become hazardous were removed from the churchyard and evergreens planted and a brick bulletin board erected. Removal of the tree stumps, grading and sodding are included in current plans.

General contractors were Jesse Fuller and Son, with much work being done by members of the congregation. Timothy G. Fuller was the painting contractor and new carpeting was purchased from the Prichard Corporation.

Daily Bridge Lesson — by Barclay

NEGATIVE VALUE OF IT

USE OF the three-trump echo—a high one, followed by a lower one, proclaiming possession of a third one higher than the first—has a positive value in letting your partner know about that trump which remains in your hand. The negative value of that signal, however, when you fail to give him a high-low, can be just as valuable in some situations. Knowing that you have no more trumps can enable him to see that he must base his ensuing move or moves on the knowledge that you are out of trumps. Instead of a futile effort to gain a ruffing trick for the side, he therefore will be steered into other channels which may prove effective.

	♠ A J 5 4 ♥ K Q 9 7 5 ♦ Q 10 7 ♣ A
♠ 6 2 ♥ J 8 3 ♦ K 4 ♣ Q 10 9 4 3 2	N W E S	♠ K 8 ♥ A 10 4 2 ♦ A 9 8 5 3 2 ♣ 6
	♠ Q 10 9 7 3 ♥ 6 ♦ J 6 ♣ K J 8 7 5

(Dealer: West. North-South vulnerable.)

West	North	East	South
Pass	1 ♥	Dbl.	1 ♠
Pass	3 ♠	Pass	4 ♠

Picking the suit with the best composition, West led the club 10 to dummy's singleton A. South decided to make a safety play in trumps as protection against a defensive ruff. He scored the A and led the 4 to the K. Not knowing what to return, East laid down his heart and diamond tops, getting the lowest possible card on each from West, the 3 and 4. Hoping then that the heart 3 had been a singleton and West had a trump left for ruffing, he led the heart 2. But the J was won by the K, as South discarded his remaining diamond. One ruff of hearts and two ruffs of dummy's diamonds then set up the North hand to make the contract.

If East and West had known the three-trump echo and used it, the normal order in play of West's trumps, the 2 followed by the 6, would have told East his partner had no more trumps; if he had, he would have played the 6 first and then the 2 to betoken a third higher than the 6. If East had known his partner was out of trumps, he would have looked for another chance to beat the contract, and would have decided the only likelihood was with a diamond lead. That would have given the K the setting trick.

All of that difficulty would have been obviated if East, instead of doubling, had made a diamond overcall, as he should have with that kind of hand. The diamond K lead then would have assured defeat of the contract without any guesswork.

Tomorrow's Problem

	♠ 6 4 3 ♥ K 10 ♦ 6 5 2 ♣ K Q 10 3 2
♠ 10 9 8 2 ♥ Q 4 3 ♦ 10 9 4 ♣ J 8 6	N W E S	♠ Q J 7 5 ♥ 8 5 ♦ A Q J 3 ♣ 7 5 4
	♠ A K ♥ A J 9 7 6 2 ♦ K 8 7 ♣ A 9

(Dealer: West. Neither side vulnerable.)

In a tournament, if you thought your side already had a fine score, how would you play for 6-Hearts against the spade 2 lead? How if you thought your pair needed extra good scores on several deals?

"I hope this was one of the days you had a big luncheon with the boys."

Card of Thanks

We wish to thank our neighbors and friends for their kindness and expressions of sympathy during the illness and at the death of the beloved James Kirk, Luke, Md. Also Rev. Robert Campbell and other ministers. Also to those who sent floral tributes and those who donated the use of their cars for the funeral.

WIFE and FAMILY; MOTHER, SISTERS and BROTHERS

We take this manner in which to express our sincere thanks and appreciation to all our friends, neighbors and relatives for the many kindnesses and sympathy shown us during the illness and following the death of our beloved husband and father. We especially wish to thank Rev. Frederick Eckert for his comforting words, the Potomac Lodge A.F. and A.M. for their services, the pallbearers, those who sent floral tributes, those who donated cars for the funeral, and to all others who in any manner rendered assistance.

Mrs. Lucy Mull & Children

State Wants Trial On Sewage Order

Joint Conference Set Here Soon

Legal action instituted by the State Board of Health two years ago to force the City of Cumberland to proceed with its plans to erect a sewage disposal plant is about to be revived here.

A pre-trial conference is being arranged before Associate Judge George Henderson as part of the state's plan to set down the case as soon as possible.

Attending will be Ambrose T. Hartman, assistant attorney general, and Thomas B. Finan, city attorney.

Finan said the state is anxious to obtain an understanding on the issues in the case before it goes to court.

One of the new items which may be discussed at the conference will be the results of tests, made by the City Health Department at the request of Mayor Roy W. Eves, on the extent of pollution in the Potomac River below Cumberland.

City Asks Study

The results of this recent study may clear up certain points in a study of Potomac River pollution made here last October at the request of the State Health Board to bolster its legal case against the city.

That October survey showed that the Potomac River was badly polluted by industrial and sewage wastes before it reached Cumberland, and that sewage pollution increases greatly as Cumberland's Sewage was added.

The State Health Board, in March 1952, ordered the city to begin building its sewage plant by September 1 and to have the system in operation by 1954.

The next month, the city asked the Circuit Court here for an injunction against the state order, seeking to have the order set aside. Legal action has been pending since then.

Two Laws Passed

At the time the state issued the order, it had the power, under a 1951 law, to compel municipalities to issue bonds, up to two per cent of assessed valuation, to finance improvements the board termed necessary for the public health.

But the hitch here was that the Cumberland plant was estimated to cost $2,000,000, and the two-per cent rule would then have allowed only about $1,300,000 of mandatory bonds.

Two other developments are important in the case.

Senator Robert B. Kimble, in the 1953 General Assembly, sponsored and pushed through a bill which would exempt Allegany County from the 1951 law by specifying that no bonds for such a project could be sold here without a referendum.

The senator said his bill stops the state from forcing the city to build the plant until it is financially able to add another major project to its heavy construction backlog—unless the law is declared unconstitutional.

Limit Is Increased

The latest development came in the 1954 Assembly when Senate Bill 87, sponsored by Senator Lofstrand, was enacted. This bill increases the debt limit for work ordered by the Health Board from two to three per cent—which would raise enough money to do the work here, were it not for increased construction costs.

The April issue of the Maryland Municipal News reports the following about one public works project planned in Havre De Grace.

Officials and taxpayers there, the Municipal News reports, were somewhat dismayed to learn the low bid for the city's proposed water plant was $565,781.21, about $200,000 above the engineer's estimate.

It said the city is trying to eliminate certain features of the plant to cut construction costs without reducing the plant's efficiency, and added it may be necessary to find more money for the project.

The City of Cumberland has plans for the plant on hand, and is committed to build the sewage facilities, but has asked that the expensive job be deferred until a number of other urgent projects, for which it is committed, are completed.

Milk Producers Explain Their Price Position

Never Did As Well As Distributors

Members of Planning Group No. 5 of the Allegany County Farm Bureau, all of them dairymen in the Frostburg-Mt. Savage area, said last night they believe the public is unaware of the difference between the amount paid producers and distributors of milk.

This question was discussed in detail at the group's recent meeting at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Charles S. Harvey at Shaft.

Farm Bureau members say that the public has always been under the impression the producers have been given an increase in his price of milk whenever the market price advanced. Allegany County dairymen were always told that the local prices were governed by the Pennsylvania milkshed. As a matter of fact the prices paid in Pennsylvania were always much higher than the prices here, local dairymen argue.

More Discussion Planned

The Frostburg-Mt. Savage dairymen said the erroneous impression on the part of the public is an injustice to the producers. To prove their point, the dairymen say they are willing to submit a comparison of prices paid in the past four years. In March of this year the producers in Allegany County got $4.70 per hundredweight for milk with four per cent butterfat. In April the price was $4.55 per hundredweight for the same quality milk.

This question probably will be discussed further when the group meets again at 8 p. m. Thursday, May 6, at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Harry Delbrook, Mt. Savage.

While the retail price of milk in Cumberland has dropped as much as 41 per cent in the past six weeks, the U. S. Department of Agriculture has launched a promotion program aimed at improving the marketing situation.

Will Try To Boost Sales

George J. Martin, chairman of the State Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Committee, pointed out that the Commodity Credit Corporation owned approximately 350 million pounds of butter, 420 million pounds of cheese and 550 million pounds of dry milk solids, or a total of 1.3 billion pounds of dairy products as of March 31.

"The first part of the program," said Martin, "consists of promotion work to push consumption of dairy products to a peak during June Dairy Month. The second part of the program is a nationwide effort to have dairymen increase culling of low-producing dairy cattle. Culling has been far below normal in recent months due to low beef prices and the incentive of excessive production through high rigid price supports," Martin concluded.

Martin also said that if the per capita use of dairy products reaches the 1945 level, the extra consumption would wipe out in a single year seven-and-one-half billion of the eight billion pounds of milk equivalent the government holds in storage.

Student Groups To Be Welcomed To Cumberland

Tourist promotion efforts of the Cumberland Chamber of Commerce bore the first fruits of the 1954 season yesterday, as preparations were made to receive two student groups en route to Washington.

The first group of 78 students of Villa Madonna College, Covington, Ky., will arrive Sunday at 8 p. m. Dinner for the group will be served at the Elks Club, which is cooperating with the Chamber in welcoming the group to Cumberland.

Another delegation, consisting of 40 members of the senior class of Cardington, Ohio, High School, will arrive in Cumberland on May 21, and will stay overnight.

Many schools organize pilgrimages or tours to the nation's capital, Saeli said, and like to visit places of historical interest either on the way to or back from Washington.

Cumberland's historical attractions, Saeli said, are a "natural tie-in" with those of Washington and the city can be conveniently reached by many groups.

Pollack's Trial Gets Three Days In Court Term

Case Scheduled To Start April 26

Three days starting Monday, April 26, have been set aside in Allegany County Circuit Court for the trial of James H. (Jack) Pollack, Baltimore's Fourth District Democratic political leader, charged with attempt to obstruct justice.

Associate Judges George Henderson and Morgan C. Harris are expected to preside jointly at the Pollack trial which a jury undoubtedly will hear.

Pollack was indicted in Baltimore Criminal Court on a charge of attempting to obstruct justice, allegedly by persuading several witnesses not to testify in the morals trial of Franklin Roosevelt D'Alesandro, 20-year-old son of Baltimore's mayor.

D'Alesandro Acquitted

The younger D'Alesandro subsequently was acquitted, the only one freed among 16 defendants charged in a series of morals cases. He later was indicted for perjury on a charge that he lied under oath at his trial.

Pollack's trial was moved here in March after his attorneys argued that he could not get a fair trial in Baltimore. The prosecution will be handled by Baltimore State's Attorney Anselm Sodaro and Allegany County State's Attorney Paul M. Fletcher. The defendant will be represented by G. C. A. Anderson and James S. Morrow Jr., of Baltimore and William A. Gunter, this city.

Most of the criminal trials in the current term are docketed for next Monday, April 19, starting at 9:15 a. m. All 25 members of the petit jury panel have been summoned to appear in court at that time.

Jurors Called

Members of the jury panel are Mary L. Powers, Florietta Gales, Humphrey E. Johnston, Martin B. Sharp, Edgar A. Dashiell, James W. Morris, Karl W. Bachman, Ruth B. Lester, Mina A. Ayers, Martin A. Wise and Allen L. Brotemarkle, all of this city; Gertrude Cave, Robert S. Hamilton and Andrew S. Dick, all of Lonaconing; Harry R. Freeman, Margaret P. Long, Harry Simpson, William H. Wiegand and Flossie L. Alexander, all of LaVale; Robert C. Barclay, William B. Prichard and Patrick A. O'Rourke, all of Frostburg; John W. Ridenbaugh, Oldtown; Charles Meese, Nikep, and Victor Trimble, Mt. Savage.

One charge that has been carried on the Circuit Court docket ever since last April is scheduled for trial Tuesday. It involves Heinz A. Schroder, alias Johannes Albert Schroter, charged with bigamy. He is accused of marrying Betty Jane Wilson in Allegany County May 30, 1952, without first obtaining a divorce from Elsie Walther, whom he is supposed to have married in Hudson County, N. Y., December 13, 1947.

Civil trials now are scheduled to begin Friday, April 23. After the Pollack trial they are to be resumed April 29 and 30, May 3, 4, 5, 6, 7, 10, 11, 12, 13 and 17, the last date on which a trial is now set.

Westernport Registration Gives Edge To Democrats

Westernport held true to its tradition as a Democratic stronghold yesterday as 17 Democrats and only 11 Republicans were registered there by the touring substitute registrars of the County Board of Election Supervisors.

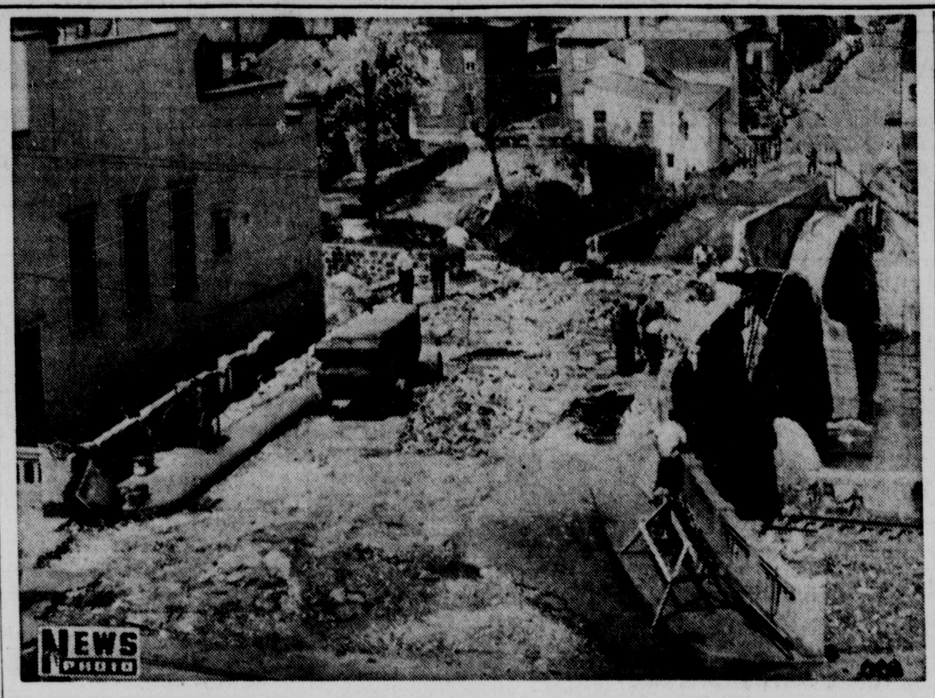
Today Mrs. Zena J. Davis, Republican substitute, and John R. Kelly, Democrat substitute, will sit at the McCoole Fire Hall from 1 until 4 p.m. and at the Devon Club library in Luke from 6 until 9 p.m.

They will resume their tour Easter Monday, sitting at the Barton City Hall from 1 until 4 p.m. and at the Midland Fire Hall from 6 until 9 p.m.

Meanwhile, the regular registrars, Irvin J. Neat, Republican, and C. William McDermott, Democrat, added six more voters at the board's office in the Court House basement. Five were Republicans and only one Democrat.

They sit regularly from 9 a.m. until noon and from 1 until 4 p.m. Monday through Friday and from 9 a.m. until noon on Saturdays.

Newcomers to the county who will have lived here one year before November 2, 1954, may register now so they can vote in the June 28 primary. Anyone reaching the age of 21 before November 2, 1954, also may register now. Persons who have not voted since the November, 1948, election must re-register because their names were stricken from the books.



Bridge Demolition Begins

Workers of the S. T. Brotemarkle Construction Company are making progress in demolishing the old Valley Street Bridge, which is to be replaced this year with a modern steel span in connection with the flood control project. The firm received the go-ahead this Monday on the $280,777.65 contract and has already removed temporary structures erected after the bridge was damaged by an explosion about a decade ago. Cost of the bridge, with real estate and engineering, is expected to be about a third of a million dollars.

Area Ministers To Cooperate In 3-Hour Good Friday Service

A three-hour service, "The Words From The Cross" will be held tomorrow from noon until 3 p. m. at First Methodist Church with clergymen from a number of congregations participating.

The seven steps of the cross, "Forgiveness," "Authority," "Remembrance," "Submission," "Suffering," "Victory," and "Confidence," will be marked in this community service.

Rev. D. E. Makell and Rev. S. R. Neel will offer the Scripture, meditation and prayer for the first words of Christ from the Cross, "Father, forgive them for they know not what they do."

Mrs. Sidney Aldrich will offer a solo after Rev. J. B. Heavner reads the Scripture, which will include the second words, "Verily I say unto thee, today shalt thou be with Me in Paradise". Lt. H. L. May will speak the meditation.

"Woman, Behold thy Son. Behold they mother," were the third words and Lt. H. L. May will read this scripture with the message by Rev. William L. Stroup.

Rev. Stroup will read the Scripture for the fourth utterance, "My God, my God, why hast Thou forsaken Me?" Rev. Sidney Aldrich will offer the meditation.

Special music will be presented by officers of the Salvation Army after Lt. James Pappas reads the Scripture telling of Christ's suffering. The meditation will be offered by Rev. Jack Waite.

Lt. James Pappas will offer the meditation message on the sixth step, "Victory," after Rev. Waite reads the Scripture.

The final message, "Father, into Thy hands I commend my Spirit." will be included in the Scripture read by Rev. Sidney Aldrich and Capt. Daniel Biggs will deliver the meditation message. A choral number will be sung by the First Church Choir.

An invitation is extended by the pastor and congregation of the First Methodist Church to all persons in the community to attend this Good Friday worship service.

Osgood Buses To Change Terminals On April 28

A notice has been posted on the George Street Bus Depot that beginning Wednesday, April 28, Osgood buses coming here from Keyser, W. Va., and more distant points will begin using the Blue Ridge terminal on North Mechanic Street.

City officials have been negotiating for some time to get buses to stop using the George Street terminal because the vehicles are required to stop on the streets, hindering the flow of traffic.

Ryan Considers Entering Race For Congress

Edward J. Ryan, prominent Frostburg and Cumberland attorney, acknowledged last night that he is giving serious thought to running for Congress from the Sixth Congressional District subject to the June 28 Democratic primary election.

The attorney explained that in the past month many friends and acquaintances have contacted him urging him to seek the Democratic nomination. Because of these conversations, Ryan said, he is thinking seriously about becoming a candidate.

Ryan has conferred with party political leaders in Washington and Frederick counties about entering the race. The Sixth Congressional District embraces Garrett, Allegany, Washington, Frederick and Montgomery counties.

The present Congressman, Republican DeWitt S. Hyde, is from Montgomery County. He was elected in 1952 when J. Glenn Beall of Frostburg moved up to the U. S. Senate after 10 years in the lower house.

Only once before has Ryan campaigned for a major public office. That was in 1950 when he sought election as an associate judge of the Fourth Judicial Circuit, but was defeated by Morgan C. Harris in a close contest.

Ryan is a member of the Allegany County Board of Education and is the city attorney for Frostburg, where he makes his home.

W&L Professor Will Address College Alumni

Dr. Walter A. Flick, head of the Psychology and Education Department at Washington and Lee University, Lexington, Va., will be guest speaker at the spring dinner meeting of the Upper Potomac Chapter of Washington and Lee Alumni at the Fort Cumberland Hotel at 7 p. m. Saturday, April 24.

J. Goodloe Jackson, president of the chapter, also disclosed that Carl Wise, W&L football coach, and a few members of the coaching staff also will attend. A number of area high school coaches and some boys interested in attending W&L will be dinner guests. A movie of the W&L-Virginia game will be shown.

Guest of honor for the occasion will be Wesley Abrams, former Allegany High School athlete who later was a football star at Washington and Lee.

Klosterman Bid $176.02

Francis Klosterman has reported that he submitted a bid of $176.02 for the old Dutch Hollow School, not $76.02, as reported yesterday. Harry R. Kirby was the successful bidder with a figure of $350.

Association Meets Tonight

U. S. Route 40 Association will meet at 7:30 tonight at the Cumberland Brewing Company's recreation room to elect officers and discuss the 1954 publicity program.

Inquiries have been received from Brownsville, Pa., Uniontown, Pa., Hancock, and Hagerstown about the association's efforts to publicize Route 40 as a tourist attraction. Officers said last night that 20 interested people from Hagerstown have indicated they will attend tonight's meeting.

The association is having 20,000 road maps and folders printed for distribution throughout the area to encourage tourists to travel over U. S. 40 when going to or from the Nation's capital. Last year 50,000 were distributed and a number of signboards were erected.

State Senator Robert B. Kimble and other officials have been invited to attend tonight's session to discuss plans for improving Route 40 and to hear the association's views on this proposal.

Rubber Workers Plan Wage Talks

Local 26, Rubber Workers Union (CIO), will nominate and elect a wage negotiation committee at its meeting Saturday at 7:30 p. m. in the union hall.

William G. Rice, president, said the committee will open wage negotiations with the Kelly-Springfield Tire Company on May 3.

The union, he said, has informed the company of its desire to reopen wage negotiations, in accordance with a two-year pact signed March 24, 1953, which gives both the union and the company the right to reopen negotiations on the wage scale upon 30-day notice.

Other union meetings planned this week include an Executive Board session tonight at 7 o'clock at the union hall, and a meeting of Department 51-D, the curing room, Saturday at 6:30 p. m. The latter meeting will include a general discussion on the department chairman election, and the possibility of another election, Rice said.

Two Men Paroled In Theft Of Chickens

Suspended sentences of six months in the Maryland House of Correction were handed out yesterday to Clarence D. Sarver, 18, Bowman's Addition, and George W. Morris, 24, Bedford Road, on a charge of taking three chickens from an area home.

Troopers Robert Wolford and John Browning told Magistrate Donald W. Mason the chickens, valued at $6, were taken from the property of Wilbur W. Smith last December 21. Both were also placed on probation for two years.

Equity Suits Filed

Two equity suits were filed this week in Allegany County Circuit Court. The bills of complaint were titled Lionel J. Moreland vs. Georgie Virginia Moreland and Russell R. Brown vs. Helen Brwon.

Storage Space Will Result In Clean-Up

Annual Program Set Next Month

Any housewife who is looking for space to store things should take time out now and look around the house for places cluttered up with items which could easily be thrown out during the annual clean-up week May 8 through May 15.

Plenty of space is the housewife's dream and no matter how many closets she has or how roomy an attic or cellar, she never seems satisfied.

But maybe your home provides more storage space than you think and spring clean-up time is a good time to find out. Here's how you can do it.

As you clean each room, look for piles of old boxes, hats or shoes that are no longer wearable, broken furniture, magazines and newspapers from bygone years—in other words, all useless objects which may have accumulated in closets or corner, attic or cellar.

As you come across them, be honest with yourself: if you haven't used them during the past year, you won't use them this year, either. Don't continue to hang on to them "just in case"—throw them out.

Better still, you will also have made your home safer from fire, because combustible rubbish is a serious fire hazard.

No doubt about it, the time it takes you will be time well spent. Clean-Up Week is sponsored by the Chamber of Commerce.

Easter Season Services Open At St. Mary's

Special Holy Week services began last night at St. Mary's Catholic Church with the opening of the three-day Tenebrae service.

Communion will be distributed at 7:45 a.m. today before the 8 a.m. Holy Thursday mass.

Veneration of the Cross will take place at noon tomorrow, Good Friday, followed by the Mass of the Presanctified and the Three Hours' Agony.

The blessing of the new fire and of the Paschal candle will take place at 7:30 a.m. Holy Saturday, with a high mass at 8 a.m. Confessions will be heard from 4 to 6 p.m. and from 7 to 8:30 p.m. Saturday.

Easter Sunday low masses will be celebrated at 5:30, 7 and 9 a.m. A solemn mass will be sung at 11 a.m., followed by Benediction of the Blessed Sacrament.

Tenebrae services will continue tonight and tomorrow night at 7:30, with music by the Men's Choir.

Baptist Mission Plans Special Easter Service

A special program featuring the Easter story will be presented at the Baptist Mission, Valley Road, at the regular Sunday School hour of 2 p. m.

Following the Sunday School program and lesson J. H. Judy, chairman of deacons of the First Baptist Church, will be the principal speaker.

State Income Tax Returns Due Today

Local Office Open 9 A. M. To 5 P. M.

In case you may have forgotten, today is the deadline for filing your 1953 state income tax return.

During the past few weeks, numerous local residents have been treking to the Comptroller's office, 9 Market Street, to get assistance in filing their returns.

The office, according to Edward V. Welsh, manager, will be open today from 9 a.m. to 5 p.m. to accommodate the late comers.

Individuals who must file include those who lived in the state in 1953, even if they moved in New Year's Eve.

Those who earned at least $1,000 last year and are single, or married and living apart from their husband or wife; earned $2,000 as husband and wife; grossed at least $5,000 from their business also must file.

Anyone can use the regular (long) form, and persons who made less than $10,000 can file the optional (short) form, providing no more than $500 of it was investment income.

Failure to file on time incurs a penalty of 6 per cent annually, plus a possible fine.

Two Candidates Submit Papers To Co. Board

Two more candidates, both of them from LaVale, filed their official papers yesterday with the Allegany County Board of Election Supervisors.

One of them, Thomas Wright Williams, RFD 1, LaVale, assured a contest for Republican State Central Committee when he became the eighth candidate for seven positions.

Williams has been an active member of the County Young Republican Club and attended the state convention of young Republicans in Annapolis last summer. In 1950 he was a county delegate to the State Convention which formally nominated Theodore R. McKeldin for governor.

A native of Grahamtown, Williams is a past officer of Knights of Malta, is a member of East Gate Lodge 216, A.F. & A.M., this city; belongs to the Eastern Star and Dames of Malta, is a member of the Ali Ghan Shrine and belongs to the Baptist Church. He has been employed at the Celanese plant 21 years.

The other candidate, Charles G. Genevie, also of RFD 1, LaVale, seeks election as a Democrat delegate to the State Convention to nominate formally the party's candidate for governor. Genevie is the first delegate candidate. Each party is entitled to seven, one for each of the county's representatives in the General Assembly.

Genevie owns the Hy-Burger Restaurant on National Highway near the intersection with Braddock Road. He has been active in politics for some years but never as a candidate before. He is 51 years old and has lived here the past 28 years. He formerly belonged to both the Eagles and Moose.

Meanwhile, William A. Wilson, chairman of the Board of Election Supervisors, announced that he had talked by phone with John R. Reeves, Secretary of State, in Annapolis and has been assured that papers filed by candidates Monday, April 19, will be accepted. Some question had been raised as to whether that date, being Easter Monday, might be a legal holiday. Reeves said he will send Wilson a telegram verifying the conversation for the assurance of uncertain candidates.

The Weather

Yesterday was Cumberland's second hottest day of the year as the thermometer at Constitution Park rushed to a high of 83, just one degree below the April 7 high for the year. The day's low was 40 and at 7:30 the reading was 70 degrees. Today's prediction is for partly cloudy and warm with a chance for scattered showers this evening. Residents are looking for the April showers. In the first two weeks of the month only one-fifth inch of rain has been measured.

Conference Set Next Week On Frederick Street Job

City Engineer C. R. Nuzum will go to Baltimore late next week to confer with State Roads Commission officials on final details necessary for the completion of plans for the improvement of Frederick Street, Mayor Roy W. Eves announced last night.

The conference will be held April 22 and 23 with the design engineer of the SRC.

Complete agreement on the plans by the city, the SRC and the Bureau of Public Roads will pave the way for the construction job which is estimated to cost about $480,000, half of which will be furnished by the federal government.

Funds for the work will be available soon, since the $650,000 bond issue sold by the city recently included $350,000 for urban improvement projects.

The Frederick Street work was originally estimated to cost about $500,000, but agreement was reached recently on a plan to shunt a small run in the area through an enlarged storm sewer and save $20,000.

Fire Damages Tiger Tractor Co. Building

Two Companies Fight Blaze In Keyser

Heavy damage was caused by fire and water last night at the old silk mill building on East Street, Keyser, as volunteer firemen from that community and McCoole fought a stubborn blaze for several hours.

The building, occupied by the Tiger Tractor Company and operated by John F. Somerville Jr., is located along the main line of the Baltimore and Ohio Railroad.

The alarm came in at 8:10 p. m., and the blaze, which was confined to the southeast end of the building, was under control last night at 10:30 o'clock.

Machinery Damaged

Somerville said the amount of damage caused to the tractor company's machinery and other equipment was estimated at approximately $15,000 but an estimate of damages to the building could not be learned.

Firemen trained 12 lines of hose on the building as the fire rapidly spread from the first floor of the southeast end of the building to the second floor and roof.

Machinery and paint stored in the first floor section were damaged and household furnishings stored on the second floor were damaged heavily by the fire and water.

Firm Plans Move

The Tiger Tractor Company has occupied the two-story brick building for the past three years. The firm had planned to move into a new building now under construction in the West End of Keyser off Piedmont Street.

The structure was built approximately 40 or 50 years ago and for a number of years was occupied by the Klotts Knitting Mill Company.

The building is owned by Harry Marshall of New Creek.

Celanese Notes Slight Loss In First Quarter

NEW YORK, April 14 (AP)—Celanese Corp., big producer of acetate yarns for the textile industry, was "a little bit in the red" in the first quarter of 1954, President Harold Blancke told the annual meeting today.

Noting that the company's fortunes are geared largely to the textile industry, he said:

"I'm sorry I can't say we're over the hump. The industry is not in particularly good shape at this time."

But, he added, Celanese officials are greatly encouraged by "the realistic approach which now is being made by textile weavers toward trying to make a profit rather than going ahead producing at losses."

The textile industry has been in a slump "longer than we anticipated," Blancke went on, but the company has made great progress in strengthening its sales effort and "bringing back the market for acetate fabrics." These efforts "are definitely paying off," he said, "and we are not pessimistic" about the future.

Red Cross Plans Victory Dinner

A "dutch treat" victory dinner will be held Monday in the Fort Cumberland Hotel ballroom for all volunteers who worked on the 1954 Red Cross campaign.

C. Walter Haschert Jr., general chairman who suggested that a "get-together" be held, has issued invitations to all those who had part in the campaign effort. He said that a final report and breakdown of the drive will be made at the dinner.

Allegany County, Haschert pointed out, has never failed to support the Red Cross drives and has always met its quota, although this year the drive was extended a couple days for a final clean-up effort. The goal was finally reached and passed.

The cost of the dinner will be $1.50 per person and workers invited may bring guests if they wish. Reservations are to be made at the Red Cross office by noon tomorrow.

Labor Political Group Meets Friday

The Western Maryland Political Coordinating Committee will meet Friday at 8 p. m. in Rubber Workers Hall.

William G. Rice, president of Local 26, Rubber Workers Union (CIO), has been named chairman of the committee, which will include board members representing AFL, CIO and Independent Unions of Allegany County.

Market Continues To Push To New Highs For Year

NEW YORK, April 14 (AP) — The Stock Market continued pushing up to new highs today with firm leadership in major sections.

Best performances were given by the oils, chemicals, electronics issues, railroads, and the steels.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks gained 80 cents at $119.60, a new 1954 high and the best level for the average since April 26, 1930. It was up 30 cents yesterday at a new high.

The industrial component was up $1.50 at a new high of $161.50, utilities gained 10 cents at a new high of $59.30, while the rails were up 90 cents at $86.30, equal to the high of the year.

The list was a little broader than yesterday with 1,184 individual issues traded of which 542 advanced and 349 declined with 137 new highs and 15 new lows for the year registered.

Business was brisk at 2,330,000 shares, third largest total this year.

St. Regis paper was the day's most active issue up ½ at 25¼ on 48,100 shares.

State Wants Trial On Sewage Order

Joint Conference Set Here Soon

Legal action instituted by the State Board of Health two years ago to force the City of Cumberland to proceed with its plans to erect a sewage disposal plant is about to be revived here.

A pre-trial conference is being arranged before Associate Judge George Henderson as part of the state's plan to set down the case as soon as possible.

Attending will be Ambrose T. Hartman, assistant attorney general, and Thomas B. Finan, city attorney.

Finan said the state is anxious to obtain an understanding on the issues in the case before it goes to court.

One of the new items which may be discussed at the conference will be the results of tests, made by the City Health Department at the request of Mayor Roy W. Eves, on the extent of pollution in the Potomac River below Cumberland.

City Asks Study

The results of this recent study may clear up certain points in a study of Potomac River pollution made here last October at the request of the State Health Board to bolster its legal case against the city.

That October survey showed that the Potomac River was badly polluted by industrial and sewage wastes before it reached Cumberland, and that sewage pollution increases greatly as Cumberland's Sewage was added.

The State Health Board, in March 1952, ordered the city to begin building its sewage plant by September 1 and to have the system in operation by 1954.

The next month, the city asked the Circuit Court here for an injunction against the state order, seeking to have the order set aside. Legal action has been pending since then.

Two Laws Passed

At the time the state issued the order, it had the power, under a 1951 law, to compel municipalities to issue bonds, up to two per cent of assessed valuation, to finance improvements the board termed necessary for the public health.

But the hitch here was that the Cumberland plant was estimated to cost $2,000,000, and the two-per cent rule would then have allowed only about $1,300,000 of mandatory bonds.

Two other developments are important in the case.

Senator Robert B. Kimble, in the 1953 General Assembly, sponsored and pushed through a bill which would exempt Allegany County from the 1951 law by specifying that no bonds for such a project could be sold here without a referendum.

The senator said his bill stops the state from forcing the city to build the plant until it is financially able to add another major project to its heavy construction backlog—unless the law is declared unconstitutional.

Limit Is Increased

The latest development came in the 1954 Assembly when Senate Bill 87, sponsored by Senator Lofstrand, was enacted. This bill increases the debt limit for work ordered by the Health Board from two to three per cent—which would raise enough money to do the work here, were it not for increased construction costs.

The April issue of the Maryland Municipal News reports the following about one public works project planned in Havre De Grace.

Officials and taxpayers there, the Municipal News reports, were somewhat dismayed to learn the low bid for the city's proposed water plant was $565,781.21, about $200,000 above the engineer's estimate.

It said the city is trying to eliminate certain features of the plant to cut construction costs without reducing the plant's efficiency, and added it may be necessary to find more money for the project.

The City of Cumberland has plans for the plant on hand, and is committed to build the sewage facilities, but has asked that the expensive job be deferred until a number of other urgent projects, for which it is committed, are completed.

Milk Producers Explain Their Price Position

Never Did As Well As Distributors

Members of Planning Group No. 5 of the Allegany County Farm Bureau, all of them dairymen in the Frostburg-Mt. Savage area, said last night they believe the public is unaware of the difference between the amount paid producers and distributors of milk.

This question was discussed in detail at the group's recent meeting at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Charles S. Harvey at Shaft.

Farm Bureau members say that the public has always been under the impression the producers have been given an increase in his price of milk whenever the market price advanced. Allegany County dairymen were always told that the local prices were governed by the Pennsylvania milkshed. As a matter of fact the prices paid in Pennsylvania were always much higher than the prices here, local dairymen argue.

More Discussion Planned

The Frostburg-Mt. Savage dairymen said the erroneous impression on the part of the public is an injustice to the producers. To prove their point, the dairymen say they are willing to submit a comparison of prices paid in the past four years. In March of this year the producers in Allegany County got $4.70 per hundredweight for milk with four per cent butterfat. In April the price was $4.55 per hundredweight for the same quality milk.

This question probably will be discussed further when the group meets again at 8 p. m. Thursday, May 6, at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Harry Delbrook, Mt. Savage.

While the retail price of milk in Cumberland has dropped as much as 41 per cent in the past six weeks, the U. S. Department of Agriculture has launched a promotion program aimed at improving the marketing situation.

Will Try To Boost Sales

George J. Martin, chairman of the State Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Committee, pointed out that the Commodity Credit Corporation owned approximately 350 million pounds of butter, 420 million pounds of cheese and 550 million pounds of dry milk solids, or a total of 1.3 billion pounds of dairy products as of March 31.

"The first part of the program," said Martin, "consists of promotion work to push consumption of dairy products to a peak during June Dairy Month. The second part of the program is a nationwide effort to have dairymen increase culling of low-producing dairy cattle. Culling has been far below normal in recent months due to low beef prices and the incentive of excessive production through high rigid price supports," Martin concluded.

Martin also said that if the per capita use of dairy products reaches the 1945 level, the extra consumption would wipe out in a single year seven-and-one-half billion of the eight billion pounds of milk equivalent the government holds in storage.

Student Groups To Be Welcomed To Cumberland

Tourist promotion efforts of the Cumberland Chamber of Commerce bore the first fruits of the 1954 season yesterday, as preparations were made to receive two student groups en route to Washington.

The first group of 78 students of Villa Madonna College, Covington, Ky., will arrive Sunday at 8 p. m. Dinner for the group will be served at the Elks Club, which is cooperating with the Chamber in welcoming the group to Cumberland.

Another delegation, consisting of 40 members of the senior class of Cardington, Ohio, High School, will arrive in Cumberland on May 21, and will stay overnight.

Anthony Saeli, manager of the Chamber of Commerce, declared that educational institutions are showing renewed interest in Cumberland as a result of the Chamber's promotional efforts.

Many schools organize pilgrimages or tours to the nation's capital, Saeli said, and like to visit places of historical interest either on the way to or back from Washington.

Cumberland's historical attractions, Saeli said, are a "natural tie-in" with those of Washington and the city can be conveniently reached by many groups.

Pollack's Trial Gets Three Days In Court Term

Case Scheduled To Start April 26

Three days starting Monday, April 26, have been set aside in Allegany County Circuit Court for the trial of James H. (Jack) Pollack, Baltimore's Fourth District Democratic political leader, charged with attempt to obstruct justice.

Associate Judges George Henderson and Morgan C. Harris are expected to preside jointly at the Pollack trial which a jury undoubtedly will hear.

Pollack was indicted in Baltimore Criminal Court on a charge of attempting to obstruct justice, allegedly by persuading several witnesses not to testify in the morals trial of Franklin Roosevelt D'Alesandro, 20-year-old son of Baltimore's mayor.

D'Alesandro Acquitted

The younger D'Alesandro subsequently was acquitted, the only one freed among 16 defendants charged in a series of morals cases. He later was indicted for perjury on a charge that he lied under oath at his trial.

Pollack's trial was moved here in March after his attorneys argued that he could not get a fair trial in Baltimore. The prosecution will be handled by Baltimore State's Attorney Anselm Sodaro and Allegany County State's Attorney Paul M. Fletcher. The defendant will be represented by G. C. A. Anderson and James S. Morrow Jr., of Baltimore and William A. Gunter, this city.

Most of the criminal trials in the current term are docketed for next Monday, April 19, starting at 9:15 a. m. All 25 members of the petit jury panel have been summoned to appear in court at that time.

Jurors Called

Members of the jury panel are Mary L. Powers, Florietta Gales, Humphrey E. Johnston, Martin B. Sharp, Edgar A. Dashiell, James W. Morris, Karl W. Bachman, Ruth B. Lester, Mina A. Ayers, Martin A. Wise and Allen L. Brotemarkle, all of this city; Gertrude Cave, Robert S. Hamilton and Andrew S. Dick, all of Lonaconing; Harry R. Freeman, Margaret P. Long, Harry Simpson, William H. Wiegand and Flossie L. Alexander, all of LaVale; Robert C. Barclay, William B. Prichard and Patrick A. O'Rourke, all of Frostburg; John W. Ridenbaugh, Oldtown; Charles Meese, Nikep, and Victor Trimble, Mt. Savage.

One charge that has been carried on the Circuit Court docket ever since last April is scheduled for trial Tuesday. It involves Heinz A. Schroder, alias Johannes Albert Schroter, charged with bigamy. He is accused of marrying Betty Jane Wilson in Allegany County May 30, 1952, without first obtaining a divorce from Elsie Walther, whom he is supposed to have married in Hudson County, N. Y., December 13, 1947.

Civil trials now are scheduled to begin Friday, April 23. After the Pollack trial they are to be resumed April 29 and 30, May 3, 4, 5, 6, 7, 10, 11, 12, 13 and 17, the last date on which a trial is now set.

W&L Professor Will Address College Alumni

Dr. Walter A. Flick, head of the Psychology and Education Department at Washington and Lee University, Lexington, Va., will be guest speaker at the spring dinner meeting of the Upper Potomac Chapter of Washington and Lee Alumni at the Fort Cumberland Hotel at 7 p. m. Saturday, April 24.

J. Goodloe Jackson, president of the chapter, also disclosed that Carl Wise, W&L football coach, and a few members of the coaching staff also will attend. A number of area high school coaches and some boys interested in attending W&L will be dinner guests. A movie of the W&L-Virginia game will be shown.

Guest of honor for the occasion will be Wesley Abrams, former Allegany High School athlete who later was a football star at Washington and Lee.

Klosterman Bid $176.02

Francis Klosterman has reported that he submitted a bid of $176.02 for the old Dutch Hollow School, not $76.02, as reported yesterday. Harry R. Kirby was the successful bidder with a figure of $350.

Westernport Registration Gives Edge To Democrats

Westernport held true to its tradition as a Democratic stronghold yesterday as 17 Democrats and only 11 Republicans were registered there by the touring substitute registrars of the County Board of Election Supervisors.

Today Mrs. Zena J. Davis, Republican substitute, and John R. Kelly, Democrat substitute, will sit at the McCoole Fire Hall from 1 until 4 p.m. and at the Devon Club library in Luke from 6 until 9 p.m.

They will resume their tour Easter Monday, sitting at the Barton City Hall from 1 until 4 p.m. and at the Midland Fire Hall from 6 until 9 p.m.

Meanwhile, the regular registrars, Irvin J. Neat, Republican, and C. William McDermott, Democrat, added six more voters at the board's office in the Court House basement. Five were Republicans and only one Democrat.

They sit regularly from 9 a.m. until noon and from 1 until 4 p.m. Monday through Friday and from 9 a.m. until noon on Saturdays.

Newcomers to the county who will have lived here one year before November 2, 1954, may register now so they can vote in the June 28 primary. Anyone reaching the age of 21 before November 2, 1954, also may register now. Persons who have not voted since the November, 1948, election must re-register because their names were stricken from the books.

Bridge Demolition Begins

Workers of the S. T. Brotemarkle Construction Company are making progress in demolishing the old Valley Street Bridge, which is to be replaced this year with a modern steel span in connection with the flood control project. The firm received the go-ahead this Monday on the $280,777.65 contract and has already removed temporary structures erected after the bridge was damaged by an explosion about a decade ago. Cost of the bridge, with real estate and engineering, is expected to be about a third of a million dollars.

Area Ministers To Cooperate In 3-Hour Good Friday Service

A three-hour service, "The Words From The Cross" will be held tomorrow from noon until 3 p. m. at First Methodist Church with clergymen from a number of congregations participating.

The seven steps of the cross, "Forgiveness," "Authority," "Remembrance," "Submission," "Suffering," "Victory," and "Confidence," will be marked in this community service.

Rev. D. E. Makell and Rev. S. R. Neel will offer the Scripture, meditation and prayer for the first words of Christ from the Cross, "Father, forgive them for they know not what they do."

Mrs. Sidney Aldrich will offer a solo after Rev. J. B. Heavner reads the Scripture, which will include the second words, "Verily I say unto thee, today shalt thou be with Me in Paradise". Lt. H. L. May will speak the meditation.

"Woman, Behold thy Son. Behold they mother," were the third words and Lt. H. L. May will read this scripture with the message by Rev. William L. Stroup.

Rev. Stroup will read the Scripture for the fourth utterance, "My God, my God, why hast Thou foresaken Me?" Rev. Sidney Aldrich will offer the meditation.

Special music will be presented by officers of the Salvation Army after Lt. James Pappas reads the Scripture telling of Christ's suffering. The meditation will be offered by Rev. Jack Waite.

Lt. James Pappas will offer the meditation message on the sixth step, "Victory," after Rev. Waite reads the Scripture.

The final message, "Father, into Thy hands I commend my Spirit." will be included in the Scripture read by Rev. Sidney Aldrich and Capt. Daniel Biggs will deliver the meditation message. A choral number will be sung by the First Church Choir.

An invitation is extended by the pastor and congregation of the First Methodist Church to all persons in the community to attend this Good Friday worship service.

Osgood Buses To Change Terminals On April 28

A notice has been posted on the George Street Bus Depot that beginning Wednesday, April 28, Osgood buses coming here from Keyser, W. Va., and more distant points will begin using the Blue Ridge terminal on North Mechanic Street.

City officials have been negotiating for some time to get buses to stop using the George Street terminal because the vehicles are required to stop on the streets, hindering the flow of traffic.

Ryan Considers Entering Race For Congress

Edward J. Ryan, prominent Frostburg and Cumberland attorney, acknowledged last night that he is giving serious thought to running for Congress from the Sixth Congressional District subject to the June 28 Democratic primary election.

The attorney explained that in the past month many friends and acquaintances have contacted him urging him to seek the Democratic nomination. Because of these conversations, Ryan said, he is thinking seriously about becoming a candidate.

Ryan has conferred with party political leaders in Washington and Frederick counties about entering the race. The Sixth Congressional District embraces Garrett, Allegany, Washington, Frederick and Montgomery counties.

The present Congressman, Republican DeWitt S. Hyde, is from Montgomery County. He was elected in 1952 when J. Glenn Beall of Frostburg moved up to the U. S. Senate after 10 years in the lower house.

Only once before has Ryan campaigned for a major public office. That was in 1950 when he sought election as an associate judge of the Fourth Judicial Circuit, but was defeated by Morgan C. Harris in a close contest.

Ryan is a member of the Allegany County Board of Education and is the city attorney for Frostburg, where he makes his home.

Association Meets Tonight

U. S. Route 40 Association will meet at 7:30 tonight at the Cumberland Brewing Company's recreation room to elect officers and discuss the 1954 publicity program.

Inquiries have been received from Brownsville, Pa., Uniontown, Pa., Hancock, and Hagerstown about the association's efforts to publicize Route 40 as a tourist attraction. Officers said last night that 20 interested people from Hagerstown have indicated they will attend tonight's meeting.

The association is having 20,000 road maps and folders printed for distribution throughout the area to encourage tourists to travel over U. S. 40 when going to or from the Nation's capital. Last year 50,000 were distributed and a number of signboards were erected.

State Senator Robert B. Kimble and other officials have been invited to attend tonight's session to discuss plans for improving Route 40 and to hear the association's views on this proposal.

Storage Space Will Result In Clean-Up

Annual Program Set Next Month

Any housewife who is looking for space to store things should take time out now and look around the house for places cluttered up with items which could easily be thrown out during the annual clean-up week May 8 through May 15.

Plenty of space is the housewife's dream and no matter how many closets she has or how roomy an attic or cellar, she never seems satisfied.

But maybe your home provides more storage space than you think and spring clean-up time is a good time to find out. Here's how you can do it.

As you clean each room, look for piles of old boxes, hats or shoes that are no longer wearable, broken furniture, magazines and newspapers from bygone years—in other words, all useless objects which may have accumulated in closets or corner, attic or cellar.

As you come across them, be honest with yourself: if you haven't used them during the past year, you won't use them this year, either. Don't continue to hang on to them "just in case"—throw them out.

Better still, you will also have made your home safer from fire, because combustible rubbish is a serious fire hazard.

No doubt about it, the time it takes you will be time well spent. Clean-Up Week is sponsored by the Chamber of Commerce.

Rubber Workers Plan Wage Talks

Local 26, Rubber Workers Union (CIO), will nominate and elect a wage negotiation committee at its meeting Saturday at 7:30 p. m. in the union hall.

William G. Rice, president, said the committee will open wage negotiations with the Kelly-Springfield Tire Company on May 3.

The union, he said, has informed the company of its desire to reopen wage negotiations, in accordance with a two-year pact signed March 24, 1953, which gives both the union and the company the right to reopen negotiations on the wage scale upon 30-day notice.

Other union meetings planned this week include an Executive Board session tonight at 7 o'clock at the union hall, and a meeting of Department 51-D, the curing room, Saturday at 6:30 p. m. The latter meeting will include a general discussion on the department chairman election, and the possibility of another election, Rice said.

Two Men Paroled In Theft Of Chickens

Suspended sentences of six months in the Maryland House of Correction were handed out yesterday to Clarence D. Sarver, 18, Bowman's Addition, and George W. Morris, 24, Bedford Road, on a charge of taking three chickens from an area home.

Troopers Robert Wolford and John Browning told Magistrate Donald W. Mason the chickens, valued at $6, were taken from the property of Wilbur W. Smith last December 21. Both were also placed on probation for two years.

Equity Suits Filed

Two equity suits were filed this week in Allegany County Circuit Court. The bills of complaint were titled Lionel J. Moreland vs. Georgie Virginia Moreland and Russell R. Brown vs. Helen Brwon.

Easter Season Services Open At St. Mary's

Special Holy Week services began last night at St. Mary's Catholic Church with the opening of the three-day Tenebrae service.

Communion will be distributed at 7:45 a.m. today before the 8 a.m. Holy Thursday mass.

Veneration of the Cross will take place at noon tomorrow, Good Friday, followed by the Mass of the Presanctified and the Three Hours' Agony.

The blessing of the new fire and of the Paschal candle will take place at 7:30 a.m. Holy Saturday, with a high mass at 8 a.m. Confessions will be heard from 4 to 6 p.m. and from 7 to 8:30 p.m. Saturday.

Easter Sunday low masses will be celebrated at 5:30, 7 and 9 a.m. A solemn mass will be sung at 11 a.m., followed by Benediction of the Blessed Sacrament.

Tenebrae services will continue tonight and tomorrow night at 7:30, with music by the Men's Choir.

Baptist Mission Plans Special Easter Service

A special program featuring the Easter story will be presented at the Baptist Mission, Valley Road, at the regular Sunday School hour of 2 p. m.

Following the Sunday School program and lesson J. H. Judy, chairman of deacons of the First Baptist Church, will be the principal speaker.

State Income Tax Returns Due Today

Local Office Open 9 A. M. To 5 P. M.

In case you may have forgotten, today is the deadline for filing your 1953 state income tax return.

During the past few weeks, numerous local residents have been treking to the Comptroller's office, 9 Market Street, to get assistance in filing their returns.

The office, according to Edward V. Welsh, manager, will be open today from 9 a.m. to 5 p.m. to accommodate the late comers.

Individuals who must file include those who lived in the state in 1953, even if they moved in New Year's Eve.

Those who earned at least $1,000 last year and are single, or married and living apart from their husband or wife; earned $2,000 as husband and wife; grossed at least $5,000 from their business also must file.

You may use either of two returns. Both are found on Form 502, available at the local Comptroller's office.

Anyone can use the regular (long) form, and persons who made less than $10,000 can file the optional (short) form, providing no more than $500 of it was investment income.

Failure to file on time incurs a penalty of 6 per cent annually, plus a possible fine.

Two Candidates Submit Papers To Co. Board

Two more candidates, both of them from LaVale, filed their official papers yesterday with the Allegany County Board of Election Supervisors.

One of them, Thomas Wright Williams, RFD 1, LaVale, assured a contest for Republican State Central Committee when he became the eighth candidate for seven positions.

Williams has been an active member of the County Young Republican Club and attended the state convention of young Republicans in Annapolis last summer. In 1950 he was a county delegate to the State Convention which formally nominated Theodore R. McKeldin for governor.

A native of Grahamtown, Williams is a past officer of Knights of Malta, is a member of East Gate Lodge 216, A.F. & A.M., this city; belongs to the Eastern Star and Dames of Malta, is a member of the Ali Ghan Shrine and belongs to the Baptist Church. He has been employed at the Celanese plant 21 years.

The other candidate, Charles G. Genevie, also of RFD 1, LaVale, seeks election as a Democrat delegate to the State Convention to nominate formally the party's candidate for governor. Genevie is the first delegate candidate. Each party is entitled to seven, one for each of the county's representatives in the General Assembly.

Genevie owns the Hy-Burger Restaurant on National Highway near the intersection with Braddock Road. He has been active in politics for some years but never as a candidate before. He is 51 years old and has lived here the past 28 years. He formerly belonged to both the Eagles and Moose.

Meanwhile, William A. Wilson, chairman of the Board of Election Supervisors, announced that he had talked by phone with John R. Reeves, Secretary of State, in Annapolis and has been assured that papers filed by candidates Monday, April 19, will be accepted. Some question had been raised as to whether that date, being Easter Monday, might be a legal holiday. Reeves said he will send Wilson a telegram verifying the conversation for the assurance of uncertain candidates.

The Weather

Yesterday was Cumberland's second hottest day of the year as the thermometer at Constitution Park rushed to a high of 83, just one degree below the April 7 high for the year. The day's low was 40 and at 7:30 the reading was 70 degrees. Today's prediction is for partly cloudy and warm with a chance for scattered showers this evening. Residents are looking for the April showers. In the first two weeks of the month only one-fifth inch of rain has been measured.

Conference Set Next Week On Frederick Street Job

City Engineer C. R. Nuzum will go to Baltimore late next week to confer with State Roads Commission officials on final details necessary for the completion of plans for the improvement of Frederick Street, Mayor Roy W. Eves announced last night.

The conference will be held April 22 and 23 with the design engineer of the SRC.

Complete agreement on the plans by the city, the SRC and the Bureau of Public Roads will pave the way for the construction job which is estimated to cost about $480,000, half of which will be furnished by the federal government.

Funds for the work will be available soon, since the $650,000 bond issue sold by the city recently included $350,000 for urban improvement projects.

The Frederick Street work was originally estimated to cost about $500,000, but agreement was reached recently on a plan to shunt a small run in the area through an enlarged storm sewer and save $20,000.

Fire Damages Tiger Tractor Co. Building

Two Companies Fight Blaze In Keyser

Heavy damage was caused by fire and water last night at the old silk mill building on East Street, Keyser, as volunteer firemen from that community and McCoole fought a stubborn blaze for several hours.

The building, occupied by the Tiger Tractor Company and operated by John F. Somerville Jr., is located along the main line of the Baltimore and Ohio Railroad.

The alarm came in at 8:10 p. m., and the blaze, which was confined to the southeast end of the building, was under control last night at 10:30 o'clock.

Machinery Damaged

Somerville said the amount of damage caused to the tractor company's machinery and other equipment was estimated at approximately $15,000 but an estimate of damages to the building could not be learned.

Firemen trained 12 lines of hose on the building as the fire rapidly spread from the first floor of the southeast end of the building to the second floor and roof.

Machinery and paint stored in the first floor section were damaged and household furnishings stored on the second floor were damaged heavily by the fire and water.

Firm Plans Move

The Tiger Tractor Company has occupied the two-story brick building for the past three years. The firm had planned to move into a new building now under construction in the West End of Keyser off Piedmont Street.

Cause of the blaze was not known last night.

The structure was built approximately 40 or 50 years ago and for a number of years was occupied by the Klotts Knitting Mill Company.

Celanese Notes Slight Loss In First Quarter

NEW YORK, April 14 (AP)—Celanese Corp., big producer of acetate yarns for the textile industry, was "a little bit in the red" in the first quarter of 1954, President Harold Blancke told the annual meeting today.

Blancke estimated sales for the period at about 29 million dollars—a decline of 3 million dollars from the last quarter of 1953.

Noting that the company's fortunes are geared largely to the textile industry, he said:

"I'm sorry I can't say we're over the hump. The industry is not in particularly good shape at this time."

But, he added, Celanese officials are greatly encouraged by "the realistic approach which now is being made by textile weavers toward trying to make a profit rather than going ahead producing at losses."

The textile industry has been in a slump "longer than we anticipated," Blancke went on, but the company has made great progress in strengthening its sales effort and "bringing back the market for acetate fabrics." These efforts "are definitely paying off," he said, "and we are not pessimistic" about the future.

Red Cross Plans Victory Dinner

A "dutch treat" victory dinner will be held Monday in the Fort Cumberland Hotel ballroom for all volunteers who worked on the 1954 Red Cross campaign.

C. Walter Haschert Jr., general chairman who suggested that a "get-together" be held, has issued invitations to all those who had part in the campaign effort. He said that a final report and breakdown of the drive will be made at the dinner.

Allegany County, Haschert pointed out, has never failed to support the Red Cross drives and has always met its quota, although this year the drive was extended a couple days for a final clean-up effort. The goal was finally reached and passed.

The cost of the dinner will be $1.50 per person and workers invited may bring guests if they wish. Reservations are to be made at the Red Cross office by noon tomorrow.

Labor Political Group Meets Friday

The Western Maryland Political Coordinating Committee will meet Friday at 8 p. m. in Rubber Workers Hall.

William G. Rice, president of Local 26, Rubber Workers Union (CIO), has been named chairman of the committee, which will include board members representing AFL, CIO and Independent Unions of Allegany County.
